Ottawa Austerity Hits Ruthlessly

Six City Scientists Ruled 'Surplus'

By DIANE JANOWSKI

The federal government wrote an obituary Friday on more than 68 years of service when it told six research scientists at the Forest Research Laboratory here their services now were considered "surplus."

"I would have been retiring a year from today," said 64-year old Vernon Phelps, a research director who has been with the department of fisheries and forestry since 1936.

"Now, not only am I going to have a pension that's 21 per cent smaller than I'd been counting on, but I'll have almost a year's less wages."

Dr. Joe Baker lost his right eye, most of the sight in his left and most of the hearing in his left ear when an experiment at the lab blew up two years ago and the emergency shower that might have saved his left eye didn't work. He thought then things were as bad as they could ever be.

"This is as bad as the people who fought in the war and got all broken up and then came home and everyone told them they didn't want anything to do with them," he said.

Dr. G. P. Thomas, director of the B.C. Forestry Region, said he sympathized with those who had been declared "surplus," but stressed they had not actually been laid off yet.

"Their names will now be put on a public service list and and if any vacancies occur in the next two months for which they are qualified, they'll have first chance at them," he said. "If they haven't been placed at the end of that time, they'll be given 30 day's notice."

Dr. Thomas admitted there were few opportunities for forestry professionals, especially at this time of year, but still noted that "an awful lot can happen in 90 days."

Knowing that his name will be kept on a list that might find him another position isn't cheering Joe Baker very much, but it means even less to Dr. Phelps.

Forest Lab Largest In Canada

A national revamping of the Canadian Forestry Service will turn the Forest Research Laboratory on West Burnside Road into the largest in Canada within three months, it was announced Friday.

"The Victoria laboratory has been allocated the largest manpower in Canada," said Dr. G. P. Thomas, director of the British Columbia region of the Canadian Forestry Service.

"If you add the staff from the forest products research lab in Vancouver to the Victoria manpower, it means that 20 per cent of the total in federal forestry will be in B.C. now."

OF TOTAL

Eleven professionals and 11 non-professionals currently employed in other Canadian forestry regions will be moved to the Burnside lab, beginning early next month when the first scientist arrives here.

"Some will, of course, be coming from the Winnipeg lab whose staff is being cut to six," Dr. Thomas said, "but the rest will be coming from elsewhere in the country.

"Quite a few of these are very well-qualified, productive, young scientists, among the best in the country, and they'll just be transferring their energies to British Columbia."

NEW WING

A new wing on the existing main building which was to have been built in the 1970-71 fiscal year but was postponed indefinitely when a federal curb on capital expenses was announced in September, will still not go ahead, but Dr. Thomas said he felt the present facilities would be adequate for now.

"We'll be bulging at the seams, but we can make immediate arrangements to accommodate everyone," he said. "We'll have to make more provision for expansion, maybe

Big Tanker Torn Open By Blast

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The 207,000-ton Dutch Shell super-tanker Marpessa was torn by an explosion and swept by fire Friday in the Atlantic on her maiden voyage.

Capt. E. J. Stapper ordered his crew to abandon ship shortly after the decks were torn open by the explosion as the Marpessa sailed about 170 miles northwest of Dakar, Senegal.

TWO MISSING

The captain and six officers stayed aboard but two Chinese officers were missing, messages reaching here said.

Those who abandoned ship were taken aboard the 42,082-ton British Shell tanker Serenia and the tug Alcyon.

A spokesman said the tanker later signalled that the fire had died down, but the deck was split in several places.

The Marpessa, one of the latest additions to the Shell Oil fleet, was sailing in ballast from Rotterdam to the Persian Gulf. She was built in Japan only three months ago and had a crew of 42.

Five Children Die in Blaze

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Five children, four of them from the same family, died in a fire which swept a third floor tenement in the city's Fairmount section.

Air Controllers Seek A Mandate to Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — The national council of the 1,000-member Canadian Air Traffic Control Association has unanimously rejected a conciliation board report and is seeking a strike mandate from the membership.

William Hill, association first vice-president, announced the decision in an interview Friday.

"The board's recommendations have been unanimously rejected by the national council and we are now going to the membership requesting a strike mandate."

NOON MONDAY

Details of the board report will not be made public until noon Monday. However, it is known there were about 50 outstanding items left with the board.

Hill referred to "eight or 10 gut issues" separating union and government treasury board negotiators. The strike recommendation means union officials feel the issues were not resolved by the conciliation report.

Hill said that, despite the council bid for strike authorization, the membership could choose to accept the board report.

The 11 national councillors would be spreading out across Canada almost at once to call meetings of the association's 22 branches, he said.

The board report, other items on which tentative agreement had been reached and the council recommendation would be presented to the membership. Votes would then be taken.

Hill estimated results would be returned here by late Monday or Tuesday at the latest.

STILL POSSIBLE

Should the membership reject the report and grant strike authority, national officers would be under no obligation to call a strike. However, they would be in a legal position to do so as of next Friday afternoon, Dec. 19.

There remains a possibility that the disputants or Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board which oversees federal-employee bargaining, might seek post-conciliation mediation.

Spokesmen for the treasury board and transport department declined to comment on either the conciliation report or the association's rejection of it. Both said the noon Monday embargo had been accepted by government negotiators and comment might infringe this.

High-Flying Snooper Nets Two

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Two men were arrested after a truck firm operator spotted a strange car on one of his work sites from the air.

Peter Heppner of Chilliwack, checking work sites, turned his plane around, landed at Chilliwack airport, drove to the police station, then accompanied a policeman to the scene.

Benjamin James, 38, of Chilliwack, and his brother Richard, 24, Friday pleaded guilty in Provincial Court to theft.

Admiration Shown In Glance

Damages: $1,000

Detective Invaded Privacy

By NANCY BROWN

Possession of a private investigators' licence does not make the invasion of a person's property lawful, nor does it make invasion of a person's privacy justifiable, according to a precedent-setting judgment handed down Friday in B.C. Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice P. D. Seaton awarded $1,000 damages to school custodian John George Davis, 1138 Oxford, who had filed suit under the new provincial Privacy Act against John M. McArthur of Can-Am Investigations, a private detective agency at 483 Burnside.

It was the first action taken under the act.

DIVORCE EVIDENCE

Mr. McArthur had been hired by Mrs. Davis to investigate the conduct of her husband in the hope of obtaining divorce evidence.

The case was heard Nov. 20 in Victoria and judgment was reserved at that time.

Defence counsel Edmund Jorre de St. Jorre said Friday an appeal is being considered.

PRIVACY ACT

The Privacy Act was introduced into the B.C. Legislature in January, 1968, by former attorney-general Robert Bonner who at that time said the act represented a first in Canada, and perhaps a first in the Western world. The act was passed later in the session.

Mr. Justice Seaton dismissed a claim by J. S. deVilliers, counsel for Mr. Davis, that a "bumber beeper" attached to the car Davis was driving constituted eavesdropping.

BY PERSON

"If the device transmitted or recorded voices so that they could have been heard by the person alleged to be invading privacy, I have no doubt that would come within the term 'eavesdropping.'

"This device merely identified the location of the car, and I

Hijackers Killed By Guards

ATHENS (Reuters) — Airline security guards early today shot and killed two young men who tried to hijack an Ethiopian Boeing 707 jetliner while it was flying to Addis Ababa from Madrid.

A Greek police spokesman in Athens said the two were a 19-year-old student from Yemen and a 24-year-old businessman from Senegal. He did not name them.

First reports said the men were slain before entering the cockpit after they said they wanted the pilot to take them to Aden.

BODIES ABOARD

When the plane landed at Athens Airport, the remaining 15 passengers were taken to a hotel. Besides the passengers, there were three security men and seven crew aboard the Boeing.

The bodies of the two hijackers were still aboard the aircraft.

"The airline refuses permission to the police to take the bodies," the police spokesmn said.

It was believed to be the first time hijackers had been killed while attempting to seize an airliner in mid-flight.

HEARD TWO SHOTS

The pilot of the plane said he heard two pistol shots and was told by a stewardess that two men had attempted to hijack the plane but the security guards aboard had killed them.

Airline officials told police they wanted to continue the flight to Addis Ababa with the bodies on the grounds that Greek authorities have no jurisdiction in the case.

KILLED ON SPOT

He said the plane's security men saw the two would-be hijackers standing up and trying to make their way to the cockpit.

"They attacked them and killed them on the spot," he added.

Only the Angels Know If Santa Will Pay Visit

SCENE: A shabby midtown flat; a tiny boy in patched coveralls plays with a broken top as his mother leafs through some unpaid bills.

Boy: "Mama . . . how come the angels do that?"

Mother: "Do what, dear?"

Boy: "Take my daddy away like that."

★ ★ ★

Mother (trying to hide her feelings): "I don't know, dear. It is something only the angels can answer. There is supposed to be an answer for everything."

Boy: "The angels won't take Santa Claus away, will they?"

(The mother remains silent. This might be the time to say maybe the angels would do that. It would be a way of explaining things if Santa didn't show up. Trying to provide for herself and her son since the death of her husband had proved difficult. But she knew her son would see the Christmas presents of other children.)

● Today's donations are listed on Page 2

The "500" Fund

Mother: "I think Santa will come, all right. But don't expect him to bring too much. There isn't so much to go around to all the little children this year."

At this time of year Santa gets a little help for cases like this from the Colonist 500 Fund. This is the 13th year Colonist readers have contributed through the fund to brighten the Christmas of 500 Greater Victoria families selected by the Christmas Bureau, a Community Chest agency.

Four Bombs Explode in Milan, Rome

'Horrendous Massacre' Shocks Italy

By CHARLES W. BELL

ROME (UPI) — Four bombs exploded in central areas of Milan and Rome at the height of the evening rush hour Friday, killing 13 persons and injuring 108 others in Italy's worst terrorist attack since the Second World War.

The most devastating blast occurred in a crowded, third-floor waiting room of Milan's national bank of agriculture, where the 13 were killed and 90 others injured. A bomb in a bank in Rome injured 14 persons, and two bombs that exploded almost simultaneously at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Rome injured four persons.

Police said another bomb was discovered before it exploded in a second bank in Milan. It was in a handbag left near an elevator.

There was no indication of the motive for the bombings or of the persons or groups responsible, but Italy has been shaken for months by labor strikes and violence. Police in Milan reported rounding up 150 persons for questioning. A police spokesman said they were extremists of all ideologies."

Shortly after the series of blasts, which were almost simultaneous, Premier Mariano Rumor appeared on television to appeal for calm and order. Pope Paul issued a statement describing the explosion in Milan as a "horrendous massacre."

Police said the Milan explosion was caused by a bomb of approximately 13 pounds of explosives that had been placed under a table in a waiting room of the bank.

In Milan, people thought the

Taste on Ice

I RESPECTFULLY SUGGEST that for longevity in variety entertainment, Ed Sullivan is a piker in comparison to Ice Capades. I further suggest that any show plays the same cities for 30 consecutive years must have fantastic appeal and that such basic, family-style entertainment obviously can hold its own with the skin shows that seem to make up 75 per cent of our movie fare these days.

There's not a bare bosom in the whole show and it's not because the gal entertainers are lacking in that department. They've got everything in spades, but the producers prefer to offer sex appeal with enough mystery to titillate rather than to bowl over.

★ ★ ★

SOME of the more blase would have you believe that if you've seen one edition of Ice Capades, you've seen them all. I refuse to buy this on the grounds I've been thoroughly entertained by such productions for more years than I care to remember. The themes are usually fresh and exciting and certainly, as always, the skating superb.

The other night I grabbed a different view of the show — from the wings, or backstage. And quite a different picture you get. The work of the lighting technicians, of the console operator and the tremendous amount of synchronization he's faced with.

Sitting directly behind the orchestra and discovering that only three men — the musical director, the accordionist and the percussionist — are travelling members of the show, the rest being local musicians. And yet, with very little rehearsal time, the scores are usually bang on.

★ ★ ★

THE CHANCE to chat with some of the long-time stars of the show like John LaBrecque (who would rather talk about the fortunes of the Montreal Canadiens and Alouettes than about ice shows) and Freddie Trenkler, "the bouncing ball of the ice" who has been in the dodge for 33 years starting with the old Sonja Henie revue.

The chance to talk with the pretty young things in the chorus and finding they get paid a minimum of $135 a week (increased to $155 the second season) but that just like hockey players, they must conform to weight rules. They're weighed in every week and excess suet brings about violation points and too many of these (three to be exact) and they lose a day's pay. Nine violations and they're out of the show.

I was amazed at the equipment necessary — 11 trailer cars that take up three freight cars of space. Amazed at the almost complete lack of opening night jitters and impressed with the figure that shows the costumes for this year's production came to a smooth half million bucks.

Actually, a body shouldn't be at all surprised about anything connected with this show. Any outfit that's been doing business at the same stand for 30 years must have a pretty good feel of the public pulse. They entertain and that's the name of the game.

□

THERE'S a little squib appears in column one of the classified pages every edition, goes like this: "Advertising must comply with the British Columbia Human Rights act which prohibits any advertising that discriminates against any person because of his race, religion, sex, colour, nationality, ancestry or place of origin."

Well now, that's a mouthful of loophole covering isn't it?

And yet, three columns over in a recent edition, a pair of advertisements inserted by our government: "The Province of British Columbia has openings for a draughtsman and for an air survey photographic technician — applicants must be Canadian citizens or British subjects."

Mr. Attorney-General Les Peterson, I ask you if you are not violating your own Human Rights act? Discrimination, no other word for it. Physician, heal thyself.

□

THE Narcotics Addiction Foundation of B.C. released some statistics the other day gleaned from a study of students and drugs. It said that 55.3 per cent of students have access to marijuana, 31.2 per cent have access to LSD and 22 per cent have access to methedrine. All neatly packaged, but rose-colored glasses thinking, if you'll pardon my cheek. I've checked with youngsters who are at the very heart of the drug scene and they'll laugh at these figures. Their estimate on marijuana availability? At least 80 per cent of the student population could get the stuff if so desired. I'll take their figure.

Your Good Health

Eye Specialist First

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In grade school I began having trouble with my right eye. The doctor said it was a drooped lid and nothing could be done. I am now 20, have perfect vision in my left eye and can see a little out of the right one. Can you give me any information on my problem? — E. B.

Not a great deal, but a little. One drooping lid (as opposed to both) usually implies a defect in the nerve supply to the lid or muscles of the lid. You could have been born with it, or it may have resulted from injury or infection.

I think your only wise course is to see an eye specialist, mainly to find out whether the vision in the right eye can be corrected. Perhaps something can be done about the drooping lid, but that can be decided only after careful examination.

★ ★ ★

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does it mean when an ear specialist puts ice water in your ear? (I am deaf in one ear.) Sometimes I become very dizzy. — E. F. B.

This is called a caloric test. Your reaction to the cold is significant in helping to determine whether nerve damage is present.

★ ★ ★

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it all right to do sit-up exercises during pregnancy? If not, what exercises are best? — Mrs. C. B.

If there is no history of miscarriage, any reasonable exercise is good during pregnancy. As to sit-ups, you'll know when to stop — they'll become uncomfortable and awkward.

In later pregnancy, walking is the best all-round exercise.

★ ★ ★

Note to Mrs. J. M.: "Petit mal" is a form of epilepsy, but the attacks are brief (and often numerous) rather than being the massive convulsions of "grand mal epilepsy." If you are in doubt about the diagnosis, an electroencephalogram (brain wave test) would be in order.

planning in 1970 and then perhaps some action in 1971."

The areas currently of major interest to the lab will not be altered by the additional staff or internal changes caused by a re-evaluation of priorities, Dr. Thomas said.

"There are four very important areas we're interested in," he said. "They are, in order of priority, forest regeneration, forest growth and yield, forest protection and forest economic problems.

"We've always been concerned with these four, but the type of progress that could be made before was inadequate. We're now increasing our ability to deal with them."

B.C. REGION

The director, who assumed control of the B.C. region during the summer, stressed that while individual projects might be dropped or altered, nothing of any major importance was being changed.

"We're just putting things into priorities," he said. "We have protected the over-all."

Conditions at the lab's subsidiary Forest Insect and Disease Survey Centre at Vernon will remain unchanged for "the near future" Dr. Thomas said, explaining that although the national juggling has taken place, internal rearranging has not yet been completed.

FIRST BUDGET

Details of the enlarged lab's first budget have not been worked out yet, but he said the figure would have to be indicative of its new size and importance.

Not all parts of the country fared as well as the British Columbia Forestry region in the national realignment: a laboratory in Calgary was closed and one in Winnipeg was almost closed.

Dr. Thomas said it was not at all surprising that British Columbia had been chosen as the major area for forest development.

'BEST OUTPUT'

"The value of our forest resources is self-evident to the Canadian government. They want to put their research dollars where they're going to get the best output and they know the chance of success is very high here."

He said all external staff changes must be completed by March 31 when the present fiscal year ends.

Benson Tells Provinces:

Tax Reform Plan Open to Changes

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson told provincial treasurers Friday he will consider seriously their main objections to his proposed income tax changes.

"We'll change anything in that white paper if we can be convinced it should be changed," he told reporters after a long closed meeting with the provincial ministers.

Ontario Treasurer Charles MacNaughton presented a lengthy brief criticizing many of the tax plan's basic features and the government's estimates of the revenue it will produce.

He said the federal government grossly underestimates what extra money it will collect in taxes. He asked that half the excess be turned over to the provinces.

MacNaughton also urged that capital assets be evaluated for tax purposes every 15 years, instead of every five years as Benson proposes. The Ontario minister said taxpayers should be given 10 years to pay off high tax bills based on capital gains.

Dave Steuart, Saskatchewan's provincial treasurer, apparently led the Western fight against the government's proposal to withdraw special concessions now given mining and other resource-developing companies.

He also said the tax white paper "tends to forget the need to give incentives to productivity."

Benson said the federal-provincial finance ministers conference will meet again Feb. 2-3 in Quebec City. One day will be devoted to tax reform, the other to the present federal-provincial tax structure.

At a dinner party Thursday night, the ministers agreed they should meet four times a year, in different parts of the country.

"The big problem is that we never have enough time to discuss all the things that ministers of finance want to discuss," Benson said.

Homeward for Holiday

Kimberly Ann O'Neill will be home for Christmas for first time this year with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Neill, in Grand Falls, Nfld. Nurse Jane Jackson holds Kimberly as she waits to leave Toronto's Sick Children's Hospital after extensive surgery. Baby was born Jan. 12, 1968, with hole in heart, other heart defects, cleft palate and no lip. Mrs. O'Neill is with her.—(CP)

Hospital Workers Return

Saskatchewan Order Forces Strike End

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Non-professional employees at Victoria Union Hospital in Prince Albert voted Friday night to obey a government return-to-work order and end their strike, which began Nov. 16.

"We voted reluctantly . . . to stay on the job to comply with the Saskatchewan cabinet order," said Doug Lavallie, president of Canadian Union Public Employees, Local 84, representing 180 workers.

The first shift of 50 workers had returned at 5:30 a.m. PST Friday after the cabinet approved a request Thursday from hospital officials to invoke the Essential Services Act to end the strike.

Mr. Lavallie said the vote "was by a 75 per cent margin in favor of staying on the job."

Failure to comply with the Essential Services Act could mean maximum fines for each person of $1,000 a day and possible decertification of the union.

Still on strike but not directly affected by the government order are 97 employees at St. Joseph's Hospital in Estevan. That strike began Oct. 23.

Sister Mary Fitzgerald, administrator of the hospital, said "We hadn't considered a similar move. We're just hoping for negotiations to settle it." The administrator said about 60 of the 118 beds in the hospital were in use. Normally, there are 70 to 80 patients.

★ ★ ★

Workers have voted for strike action without setting a date at Humboldt, North Battleford, Yorkton and Weyburn. Talks are underway at Canora, Holy Family Hospital in Prince Albert, Kamsack and Melville and at sanatoriums in Qu'Appelle and Saskatoon.

The strike at Victoria Union Hospital was called in support of demands for wage increases.

Apollo Trio:

Anything Possible For Moon Explorers

HOUSTON (AP) — Man can do almost any work assigned him on the moon, the Apollo 12 lunar voyagers said Friday.

"We've proven that man can do just about any job you give him out there," said Apollo 12 commander Charles Conrad Jr.

Conrad and fellow moon-walker Alan L. Bean said they worked hard hour after hour without getting tired and were doing jobs about twice as fast as they could do them on earth.

Conrad, Bean and the third Apollo 12 crew member, Richard F. Gordon Jr., discussed their 10-day flight to the moon during a 90-minute news conference.

All said they are eager to go back into space and to revisit the moon.

Conrad said future moon crews may be able to work on the lunar surface for "a full work day," taking only occasional breaks to rest and eat. He visualized future moon crews staying on the lunar surface up to nine hours with only one break.

Bean and Conrad had two moon walks of four hours each. The walks were separated, however, by a sleep period inside the lunar lander.

"You can work as hard as you can, but you just don't seem to get tired," said Bean. "We were able to move a lot farther than we imagined."

★ ★ ★

Conrad said the moon landing was hazardous but he said that with only slight changes in the automatic pilot the lunar module can make a pinpoint landing completely on instruments.

Conrad and Bean apologized for the loss of live television of their moon walks.

Conrad showed a picture of what he called "that ding-a-ling TV camera" and Bean explained that it was apparently "sunburned."

Bean said he apparently pointed it at the sun or at a bright surface on the lunar lander as he was moving the camera.

"Just that few seconds was enough to sunburn the camera," he said.

He said the top half of the television tube was permanently burned.

Air Attacks Kill 170 Reds

SAIGON (AP) — American air cavalrymen and air men operating along a 100-mile stretch of the Cambodian border north of Saigon reported killing 170 North Vietnamese troops in a dozen clashes.

Much of the attacking was done by U.S. helicopter gunships, dive bombers and artillery.

Time to Straighten Priorities

NOW THAT FINANCE MINISTER Edgar Benson has finally confessed that inflation continues to be one of Canada's major worries and has admitted that his program of spending restraints and high tax policies has failed to solve the problem he might be well advised to find out why and then get his priorities straightened out.

In seeking an answer to this he couldn't do better than start his investigation right in Ottawa where the federal government still continues to spend the taxpayers' money on unnecessary things and developments as if the national treasury was its own personal bank account.

The rapid increase in personnel on ministerial staffs, the ever-growing establishment of new departments, sub-departments and divisions, the continued planning and construction of costly new government buildings and the persistent habit of throwing good money after bad—such as the Bonaventure misadventure—does little to strengthen Mr. Benson's credibility or sincerity in the eyes of Canadian taxpayers.

Surely the time has come for the national government to set an example for the people it rules, for until it does it can expect little co-operation or understanding from them.

Mr. Benson, of course, can't say he wasn't warned. For months past — and in some cases, years—the federal finance department has been receiving reports cautioning the government on the dangers of inflation and urging action on the matter. One of the most important of these, and one which Mr. Benson should have read, was the result of a questionnaire issued by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting last September.

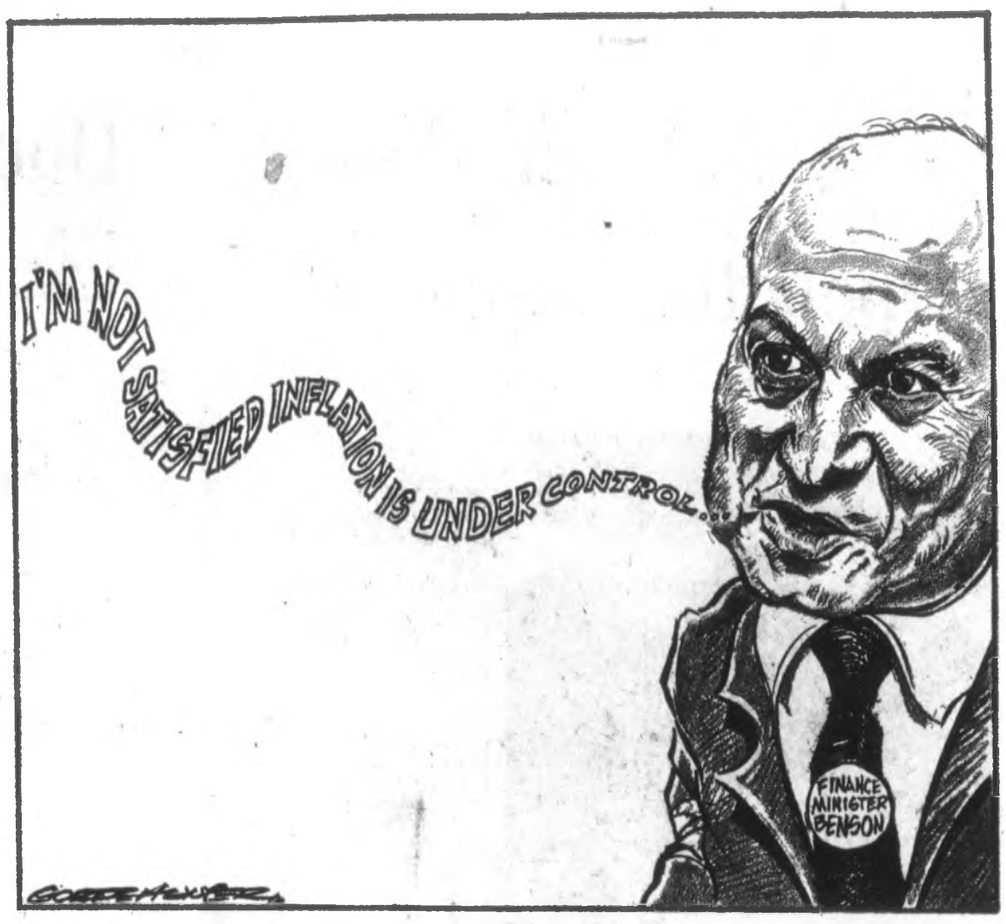

The report was not only important because it came from a body representative of Canadian business and industry on a nation-wide basis, but because of its findings.

The questionnaire sought the views of the delegates as to the priorities which should be accorded various subjects or potential activities of the Chamber movement. Of the 233 delegates who completed the questionnaire, 146 named the control of inflation as their first or second choice, 62 named tax reform and 41 chose housing.

From this it is clearly evident that this very important and responsible segment of the Canadian community could see—three months ago—that inflation was the most important problem facing Canada and should be given top priority by the government.

This has not been the case and Canadians will now have to suffer the consequences of Ottawa's head-in-the-sand attitude. Premier Thatcher of Saskatchewan recently had cause to request that Mr. Benson pay attention to what was going on.

Canadians from coast to coast now have ample reason for telling Mr. Benson precisely the same thing.

Finally wormed it out of him . . .

New Role for Resurgent Japan

THE JAPANESE ARE A PROUD and courageous people in the tradition of the samurai warrior caste. They are also an eminently practical race, which accounts for their acceptance with commendable patience and fortitude of the conditions of the victors of 1945. They channeled their enormous energy into rebuilding their war-shattered economy. And the result has been spectacular. They are the greatest industrial and trading nation in Asia, one of the fastest developing economies in the world.

This accomplishment, like West Germany's, was certainly due in part to the restriction against rearmament. Japan's gross national product in 1969 is expected to exceed $160 billion, compared with West Germany's $145 billion.

There is no question that Japan is in a position to afford a military establishment as well as any other nation and, like West Germany, it is likely she will be encouraged to rebuild her sea and air power by the very people who heretofore forbade it—in particular the United States.

The situation may be clarified after the Dec. 27 election, when the pro-western government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato is expected to be returned with a substantial majority. But even if it were not, the Leftist opposition is already asking how long Japan must accept a subordinate place. And throughout all sections of the society there is a growing determination to insist on a more independent role.

Resentment of the charge by both the Soviet Union and China that Japan, part of an American defence system, is no more than a puppet of Washington has undoubtedly caused some restiveness in Tokyo.

The United States would probably be compliant, if not out-right enthusiastic, about Japan's fuller independence, accompanied as it would be by greater military strength.

With Washington anxious to relinquish responsibilities that have been assumed in Asia, hoping to disengage to some extent at least, and with Britain in the process of withdrawing, Russia is moving to establish its influence in the area. China's ambitions are well known. Japan is seen as a satisfactory counter-balance. And the United States, in the circumstances, would infinitely prefer her as a powerful ally rather than a dependant.

The Japanese undoubtedly would be happier in such a role, even if it meant sacrifices that the acceptance of wider responsibility entails.

It can be expected that, following his recent discussions with President Nixon in Washington and after the December election is behind him, Prime Minister Sato will have something to say on policy which may alter very materially the Far East political picture within the next decade.

Change in Prospect — By ALAN TRENGOVE from Melbourne

Labor Could Upset Australia's Coalition With Drastic Foreign Policy Results

THE John Gorton government, which was narrowly returned to power in the recent election, will be lucky to survive the full three years of office to which it is constitutionally entitled.

Most observers believe that internal strains in the coalition Liberal and Country parties will sooner or later bring about a collapse.

Then, it is expected, the Labor Party will return to power after 20 years in opposition.

Such a change would have a significant effect on Australia's foreign policy.

A Labor government would withdraw all Australian forces from Vietnam, Singapore and Malaysia immediately. It would pursue a Fortress Australia policy in defence, formally recognize Red China and ratify the nuclear nonproliferation treaty (which the Gorton government refuses to do).

★ ★ ★

It also would demand greater influence over U.S. space-communications bases in Australia.

In the October election the Gorton government had its huge record majority slashed to a lead of seven seats over the Labor Party. Labor, in fact, gathered more primary votes over the whole nation, but was denied office because of Australia's preferential voting system.

Under this system the second preferences of those voters who supported the Democratic Labor Party mostly went to the coalition parties.

The Democratic Labor Party is strongly opposed to the Liberal Party mainly on foreign policy and defence issues.

Many theories have been advanced as to why Australia seems to be veering sharply to the left.

One is that Gorton has been personally responsible for a decline in the government's popularity.

Gorton has had a difficult time since he succeeded Harold Holt, who drowned while swimming in the surf in December, 1967. Because he was originally elected on the votes of parliamentary back-benchers and lacked support from senior colleagues and the Liberal Party machine, he has had to contend with continual resistance to his policies from the senior men he beat for the leadership.

A strong-willed and unconventional man, he also has made many enemies in the press, the public service and big business.

Early this year he was the central figure in alleged scandals.

One story that was circulated in Parliament suggested that he had acted improperly toward the American singer, Liza Minelli, in a Sydney nightclub. This was shown to be groundless.

Then one of Gorton's own party members, Edward St. John, alleged that after attending a Press Club banquet Gorton had taken a young woman journalist to the U.S. embassy in Canberra in the early hours of the morning.

Gorton admitted that this was correct, but claimed the incident had been "slimed over."

The girl concerned, Geraldine Willesee, was the daughter of a friendly political opponent, and they were accompanied by Gorton's press secretary, Tony Eggleton. At the embassy they had a few drinks and chatted, and then dropped Miss Willesee off at her flat.

Although no charges of impropriety were proved, the allegations certainly didn't help Gorton and his government. By the time of the election he had become the most controversial prime minister in Australia's short history, and few people knew quite what to make of him.

But it seems unlikely that Gorton's personality was a major cause for the massive swing against the government.

More plausible factors were the natural swing of the political pendulum, a newfound unity in the Labor Party, and some attractive social welfare policies advanced by Labor's Gough Whitlam, a suave and persuasive lawyer.

Although Australia is enjoying unprecedented prosperity — partly caused by the minerals boom and sound government management of the economy — 50 per cent of Australians think it's time for a change of government.

The Liberal-Country government has grown complacent, they seem to think, and would benefit from a spell in opposition.

Moreover, prosperity has not removed some pockets of poverty and feelings of insecurity among average families worried by the prospect of crippling medical and hospital bills.

The Labor Party proposed sweeping changes that would have provided a virtually free health service, a national superannuation scheme, the removal of the means test for all pensions and a vastly improved free education system.

Australia, says Labor, could afford these reforms.

It was only because Gorton in the last days of the campaign stressed that Labor would "cut and run" from Vietnam and jeopardize the American alliance that his government scraped back into power.

But no sooner were the votes counted than he faced a personal challenge from his minister for national development, David Fairbairn, and his treasurer, William McMahon. These men from the conservative old guard of the Liberal Party stood against him for the leadership.

In a tense battle Gorton beat off their challenges, then announced sweeping ministerial changes, including the shifting of McMahon from treasurer to the post of minister for external affairs.

This, it was felt, would stop McMahon from thwarting Gorton's attempts to change the government's approach to social welfare.

There is no doubt now that Gorton will himself take Australia to the left, thus trying to counter Labor's appeal to the electorate. There will be less emphasis on overseas commitments and more thought put into removing insecurity and improving the quality of life in Australia.

But Gorton has a large number of enemies among his own parliamentary colleagues, and they could wreck him on any issue with which they disagree.

Already there has been unfavorable publicity brought about by one of the ministers he sacked, Dudley Erwin, the former minister for air.

★ ★ ★

Embittered by his dismissal, Erwin blamed Gorton's pretty and shapely private secretary, Ainsley Gotto, for his plight. He claimed that the 23-year-old Miss Gotto had prevented him from seeing the prime minister as much as he wanted to. He had been outmanoeuvered by "a wiggle," he said.

"It is like a medieval court — the king is in the centre, the courtiers are around. But there is only one person who can really get the king's ear," said Erwin.

"In this case it is Ainsley Gotto . . ."

Gorton refuted the charge through Press Secretary Eggleton, and most observers thought Erwin was being ludicrous. It was generally agreed he had deserved to be fired.

After all his troubles, however, Gorton must be wondering when his luck is going to change.

Minority's Plight Canada's Shame

The Toronto Telegram

THE Happy Valleys of mid and northern Canada are the saddest places of all, the ramshackle homes, the destitute communities where many of our Indian and Eskimo citizens try to survive.

It's the Happy Valleys which create many of the statistics of desperation:

Higher Indian death rates than in the white population, an unbelievable 22 per cent increase in the death rate among Indian pre-school children matched by equally grim figures about adult death rates among our Indian people.

Not only the Opposition but the government must be disturbed about Indian problems which seem to continue unsolved, from government to government. Pick any mid- or northern Canadian town, Fort McMurray, Churchill, Hay River, Whitehorse and, of course, Inuvik where the disparity between native and white is so shockingly evident and the Indian is "at the end of the line," living in a squalor paralleled only in Latin America.

Our governments and ourselves lay claim to a sense of concern about the Indian and the Eskimo, that we are not as other countries who shun the welfare and the potential for integration of their founding peoples. This continues to be a holier-than-thou attitude reflected in our determination to criticize the United States for not solving their own problems with race and alienation when we have scarcely begun to cope with our own.

In fact, one of the bitter ironies of the Canadian North is the amount of government existing there, the proliferating and bungling agencies representing local, territorial and federal bureaucracies through which decisions have to be filtered.

To be blunt, the Indian in Canada suffers from shortage of numbers. A minority of less than 400,000 in a population of 21 million with no effective voice, no people of real strength in the places of power, is bound to be ignored. If one of every five Canadians were Indian, problems would be put before legislators and governments with the consistency and determination they already require. In Mexico, where most Mexicans have Indian blood, including the president of the republic, Indians are redeemed, given respectability, integrated into national society.

Our North is our shame where our Indians are concerned. And most Canadians couldn't care less.

Unwarranted Raise

The Ottawa Journal

MEMBERS of the Ontario Legislature had some kind of pay raise coming to them. Who doesn't? But the 50 per cent boost (to $18,000 a year for an ordinary MLA) they now are going to give themselves is too much.

After an increase of that magnitude who can believe that they really mean to control government spending? How can they cluck away at inflationary wage settlements in industry or at the higher prices of houses, cars or food and expect to be taken seriously? The credibility of politicians among the public is dangerously fragile these days.

MLAs and provincial cabinet ministers do not have the same degree of responsibility or as many demands on their time as their federal counterparts. They should not receive the same pay.

Premier Robarts' salary is going up from $30,000 to $40,000, an increase which is at least defensible and certainly more acceptable than the MLA's 50 per cent hike. The premier of Ontario deserves to be paid more than, for example, some directors of education around the province who are now making $35,000.

But the whole thing is a vicious circle. When the top brass in education or one legislature (Quebec) pushes salaries out of line, others feel sorry for themselves and do the same thing. Thus higher taxes and inflation and the understandably angry phone calls the MLAs have reported from constituents.

Few Privates

The Edmonton Journal

At last count the Canadian armed forces had 16,000 commissioned officers, 58,000 non-commissioned officers and only 24,000 privates. The taxpayers will hope that the defence department stops short of the example of the legendary Mexican army where every man was a general.

Rebellions

The Albertan, Calgary

Iroquois on the Six Nation's Reserve in Ontario have rebelled against Ottawa's authority and other Indians across the country are threatening to go on the warpath against government policy proposals. At their policy conference at Harrison Hot Springs, the Liberals were warned by a Toronto social worker that the poor will rebel if anti-poverty action isn't soon taken and by a student leader that there will be "hell to pay" on our campuses unless our universities are de-Americanized.

There's not much for the rest of us to look forward to except, maybe, a rebellion against rebellions.

The Chatham News

A THEATRE-GOER has no trouble finding a seat at the family movie, but it's a full house whenever a show depicting sex and violence comes to town.

Happily, there are exceptions to this rule, but not enough of them. "The Sound of Music" was a show for the entire family and it ran for more than a year in London, Ontario, and for many weeks in Chatham.

Only when people start staying away from the morally less movies will the movie-makers stop producing them.

So let's put the blame where it belongs—on the people themselves. No one is forcing them to attend degrading pictures. But if they patronize dirt, that's what they'll continue to get.

False Colors

The Winnipeg Free Press

If a newspaperman should seek to pass himself off as a Mountie, he could be charged under the section of the Criminal Code that says "Everyone who . . . not being a peace officer or public officer uses a badge or article of uniform or equipment in a manner that is likely to cause persons to believe that he is a peace officer or a public officer, as the case may be, is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction."

On the other hand, if a Mountie should seek to pass himself off as a newspaperman he can expect to have his conduct explained and excused in the Commons by the solicitor-general.

Too Far Too Soon — By LUBOR J. ZINK

U.S. May Have Overstepped the Line

EARLIER this year President Richard Nixon spoke of the willingness of his administration to "take risks for peace — but calculated risks, not foolish risks."

The risk-taking policy, which is wedded to Mr. Nixon's belief that "after a period of confrontation we are entering an era of negotiation," started taking shape with the decision to reduce U.S. military spending by about $4 billion and initiate unilateral troop cuts abroad and at home.

Now the president has taken another calculated risk by pulling the U.S. out of the biological warfare field.

Of these three unilateral steps the most spectacular is the decision to destroy the existing U.S. stocks of bacteriological weapons and the pledge not to engage offensively in germ warfare under any circumstances. At the same time it is probably the least risky of Mr. Nixon's disarmament initiatives.

While all the major military powers have been experimenting with biological warfare weapons, they have all come to the conclusion that no one would dare to unleash uncontrollable epidemics even in an extreme military emergency. Yet none of them dared to renounce and destroy these weapons while the others continued to develop and stockpile the deadly stuff.

This situation was analogous to the development and stockpiling of poison gas weapons before the world war. These weapons, as we know, were never used in the 1939-1945 conflagration.

In retrospect some people assume that timely initiative a generation ago might have removed the dread of poison gas warfare, although no one can be absolutely sure that Hitler would not have been tempted to misuse a certainty of freedom from retaliation.

This element of doubt can probably be disregarded in the case of germ warfare preparations, because biological weapons are much more of a two-edged sword than poison gases. And since Mr. Nixon's initiative in this field retains the safety measure of continued defensive biological research, there is a good chance that a general agreement on "germ disarmament" along the lines proposed by Britain could be reached. If so, the dread of biological warfare, which is no less oppressive for being, in all probability, largely imaginary, will be eliminated.

Even if this American move were to fail to produce the hoped for result, the risk Mr. Nixon is taking is marginal in terms of strategic balance of power considerations.

The same, in my opinion, cannot be said of the Nixon administration's decision to reduce the over-all strength of American armed forces, and particularly of the navy,

At a time when the Soviet Union is reaching nuclear parity with the U.S. and continues enlarging its land and naval forces, Washington's tiptoeing in the opposite direction under domestic political pressures is in danger of overstepping the line between calculated and foolish risks.

For more than two decades the safety of the Western democracies has rested squarely on American nuclear superiority.

Outnumbered from the start in conventional forces, it was this strategic backbone of NATO which checked the initial post-war Soviet expansion westward and stabilized the dividing line in Europe. There can also be no doubt that it was American nuclear superiority which forced the Kremlin to back down from the brink of war in the Berlin and Cuban crises in precipitated.

These probing ventures convinced Soviet leaders that utilization of their advantage in conventional forces depended on overtaking, or at least matching and thereby checkmating American nuclear capability. They also realized, particularly after Korea and the Cuban confrontation, the importance of seapower.

Hence the strenuous buildup in recent years of the Soviet nuclear arsenal and the Soviet navy.

Having now reached a rough nuclear parity with the U.S. and fearful of their disarrayed and faultering economy's ability to sustain a new round in the big league arms race, Soviet strategists are apparently willing to consider some form of strategic arms freeze, because a stabilized nuclear standoff would enable them to bring into play their superiority in conventional forces.

★ ★ ★

The Americans, who are anxious to avoid the expense of perfecting and deploying the already blueprinted new generation of nuclear weapons, should realize that without a parity in conventional forces the eagerly sought stalemate in strategic arms would pose a grave danger to Western, and therefore their own, security.

Seen in this perspective, the U.S. unilaterial scaling down of armed forces, mothballing of ships and closing down some of the strategic bases could already denote a drift from calculated to foolish risks.

Their Way of Life Her Way of Death

EWING TOWNSHIP, N.J. (UPI) — A 44-year-old truck driver who shot and killed his wife told police her death was accidental.

Cyril Gryskiewicz said neither he nor his wife Cecelia knew there were any bullets in the .44-calibre magnum revolver with which she was killed.

Gryskiewicz said he and his wife would take turns "every couple of weeks" pointing the big unloaded revolver at each other and snapping the hammer.

"That's our way of life," he said.

$20,000,000,000 a Year

Price of Domestic Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Domestic violence so threatens the United States that the nation must switch from a war-defence-space economy to spend an extra $20,000,000,000 a year on homes, jobs, education and general welfare, the National Violence Commission said Friday.

In its final report to President Nixon, the national commission on the causes and prevention of violence said once U.S. gets out of the Vietnam war annual general welfare spending should be hiked by about $20,000,000,000, as an initial goal.

"As the gross national product and tax revenues continue to rise we should strive to keep military expenditures level, while general welfare expenditures continue to increase until essential social goals are achieved," the 13-member commission said.

"While serious external dangers remain, the graver threats today are internal: haphazard urbanization, racial discrimination, disfiguring of the environment, unprecedented interdependence, the dislocation of human identity and motivation created by an affluent society — all resulting in a rising tide of individual and group violence."

Chairman Milton Eisenhower, brother of Dwight Eisenhower, released the report at a news conference.

The commission was appointed 18 months ago by president Johnson following the assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King April 4, 1968, and senator Robert Kennedy on June 6, 1968.

Senate Approves TV Smokes Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Friday night approved a bill banning cigarette ads on radio and television after Jan. 1, 1971.

The measure, which breezed through on a vote of 70 to 7, also requires a new warning on cigarette packages, but bars further government regulation of cigarette advertising until July, 1971.

He's Innocent Says Widow

TORONTO (CP) — The widow of C. Powell Morgan, late president of Atlantic Acceptance Corp. Ltd., said Thursday night her husband was innocent and bitterly criticized Mr. Justice Samuel Hughes.

Mr. Justice Hughes labelled Morgan "one of the world's notorious swindlers" in his royal commission report into the collapse of Atlantic which was released earlier Thursday.

"The commission's attack on my husband was a cowardly act since he isn't alive to defend himself," Mrs. Morgan said in an interview.

"I'm shocked beyond words by the report. Atlantic's collapse was a tragedy that cost my husband his life.

"The report is disgusting. I can assure you my husband was not a villain in any way. Why the report would say such things is beyond words. My husband was honorable in every respect."

Mrs. Morgan said she knew little of her husband's business dealings, but that her marriage was a happy one.

"No one could ever convince me he was in the wrong."

She said the report told "a downright lie" when it said her husband intended to flee from Canada.

Small Boat Doom Seen

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Federal government revision of salmon boat licensing procedures "sounds the death knell to Indian fishermen in the small boat class," village representatives said Friday night.

The protest said the changes favor Vancouver fishermen, who generally operate seine boats, over north coast and Indian fishermen, who usually operate gillnetters.

Ottawa Report:

Millimetre Longer Packs More Danger

OTTAWA (CP) — Premium length cigarettes and king-size non-filter cigarettes have been singled out by a government report as having the highest tar and nicotine content among Canadian brands.

In releasing the third such government report, Health and Welfare Minister John Munro said Friday:

★ ★ ★

"As groups, these long cigarettes have the highest levels of all. If one does smoke them, he should never try to get his money's worth by consuming them to the average butt length."

The minister encouraged smokers to throw away an extra long butt and reduce extra doses of tar and nicotine.

Munro said regular-size plain-end cigarettes tend to have high tar and nicotine content. He said only two of the 16 regular plain-end, or non-filter, brands had tar levels below 20 milligrams and only three had nicotine counts below one milligram.

The study was conducted by Dr. W. F. Forbes and Dr. J. C. Robinson of the University of Waterloo. It based its findings on samples collected during May and June, although cigarettes were not rated until October.

★ ★ ★

Munro said there is an effort being made by cigarette manufacturers to reduce the levels of tar and nicotine and added: "Changes are being made fairly quickly and there is a delay between sampling and reporting. As a result, in some cases, cigarettes being produced may have lower tar and nicotine levels than is indicated by the report."

Latest Tar, Nicotine Ratings

OTTAWA (CP) — Here are the health department's latest ratings of tar and nicotine content of 91 cigarette brands sold in Canada.

Trust Bill Scored

OTTAWA (CP) — A government bill to amend the Trust Companies Act was called "a band-aid on a wooden leg" in the Commons Friday as opposition members united in terming it inadequate.

The amendments would expand the lending and investment powers of federally-incorporated trust companies.

Herb Gray, minister without portfolio, said the bill will give the trust companies more flexibility in supplying mortgage funds for the housing market.

The bill, in second reading which will resume later, would also provide a means of incorporating trust companies by letters patent instead of using the present system of special acts of parliament in each case.

Henri Latulippe (Creditiste—Compton) said it would hurt the credit situation.

The government was going to allow trust companies to increase their loans and interest rates to exaggerate the problem instead of instituting strong control over lending.

The proposed amendments, Latulippe said, were "like putting a band-aid on a wooden leg."

Clear Sailing

Colonial Los Angeles Times Service

HELSINKI — Two of the five U.S. delegates to the strategic arms limitation talks here left for home Friday as Communist diplomats indicated privately that Russia was "extremely satisfied" with the discussions, now fast winding up.

The departure of Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, key political member of the American group, and of Dr. Harold Brown, its scientist member, came after the official delegation had met only once this week.

'Palace' Paper Draws Frown

LONDON (UPI) — Police Tuesday asked a chain of Carnaby Street shops to stop selling notepaper labeled Buckingham Palace. John Paul, owner of the shops, said police told him the paper "could cause a certain amount of embarrassment and inconvenience to the royal family."

Schools Close

ROME (UPI) — Strikes shut down schools for the second day running in Italy Wednesday and closed government offices that deal with such matters as tax collections and pension payments.

Scientists 'Surplus'

"There wouldn't be any point in my even filing a grievance with the union," he said. "I'd have to retire at 65 anyway. My wife and I will just have to do with less than we'd planned. We'll get by.

OLDER PEOPLE

"I don't think they should have done this, though. It's not right to let off the older people who've given satisfactory service all their lives."

The notice was an inescapable disappointment to Ms. Phelps, but for 46-year old Dr. Baker, his wife and two-year-old daughter, it was much worse than a disappointment.

"Certainly the scope or variety of employment has been greatly reduced for me," he said. "I'm already finding a rather difficult situation when I have to tell them I have only one eye and any extended field work is out because of the nature of the care a false eye needs.

SIMILAR WORK

"EVen if I can manage to find a job, I haven't a hope of getting work at a comparable salary."

The knowledge that federal Fisheries Minister Davis told the House of Commons that Mr. Ajai Mansingh was very competent somehow doesn't seem quite enough for the young scientist, who turned down two attractive offers to join the forestry service in 1967.

A serious complaint among all those declared "surplus" is the timing of the announcement.

BACK IN AUGUST

"They said there would be layoffs back in August, but here it is in the middle of December, now when it's too late to get academic appointments and the labor market is tight," said Dr. Baker. "They couldn't have made it any worse if they'd planned it."

Dr. Thomas said it was "unfortunate" there had been such a delay in advising people concerned, but said it had been caused by the treasury board's desire to be "absolutely fair" to everyone.

COULD BE FILED

Joe Clare, local representative of the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada, said grievances could be filed, but it was ulikely the claimants would get any satisfaction from the government.

"I think everyone should start to ask themselves what responsibility an employer does bear towards his employees. Dr. Baker has suffered a great deal and there is real hardship here," he said.

The sudden notice is not much easier on the other three scientists involved.

TWELVE YEARS

Tree biologist Dr. Lorne Ebell has spent 12 years with the department, with no expectation that he would be rewarded with his walking papers.

Zoologist Donald Edwards who has also spent 12 years with the department had been assigned to a project that didn't need someone of his qualifications.

Seven non-professional staff members were also advised they now were considered surplus. Their cases were, like those of the professionals, despite seniority.

IN KEEPING

The staff cutbacks are in keeping with the federal government's austerity program which will affect the forest lab in a backhand way, by increasing its original staff with persons transferred here from other centres across Canada.

Dr. Baker spoke for all those affected when he summed up the government program with: "It took 150 years to get into this mess. Why does it have to be cleaned up all at once?"

By coincidence, Friday in Ottawa, Victoria MP David Groos was asking Prime Minister Trudeau whether he would "invite the president of the treasury board" to relax austerity staff reductions where war amputees are concerned.

Any $7,000 car looks good in a glittering showroom. The Mercedes-Benz 280S shines in a tight spot on the highway.

Look underneath, and you'll begin to see why.

Of all cars in the "luxury class" field, the Mercedes-Benz 280S is rated the safest, most roadworthy. Read why.

The Mercedes-Benz 280S does not have pin striping, a wall-to-wall grille, or a hood two feet longer than anything it pretends to enclose.

But its classic lines, free of faddish touches, will grace any driveway—and will still be pleasing long after newer styling furbelows have rendered this year's crop of "dreamboats" obsolete.

The real beauty of the 280S, though, lies not so much in how the car looks, as in what it does.

Endowed by Mercedes-Benz engineers with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field, the 280S steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it.

This is one reason why Car and Driver magazine, with a world of cars to choose from, concludes that the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Racing car suspension

For a clue to the almost uncanny handling and evasive ability of the 280S, scrunch down and look beneath the rear bumper—at the axle. It's not the rigid "beam" axle of most domestic cars. It is articulated.

This Mercedes-Benz low-pivot swing axle permits each rear wheel to move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do. The result is leech-like roadability.

If you know what you're looking for, you can also spot heavy-duty thrust arms, individual coil springs and shocks, and a horizontal hydro-pneumatic load-leveling device.

All in all, suspension ideas more common on 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars than 5-passenger sedans.

Engineering extravagance?

A passenger car doesn't need a suspension fit for a racer, argue some critics. True, reply Mercedes-Benz engineers. For everyday city driving, this is sheer engineering extravagance.

But some day you might have to get off the pavement, onto a stretch of potholed back road. You might have to enter a sharp curve or a turn-off faster than you intended. You might have to jockey out of a tight spot while cruising at 65 mph on a busy highway.

And, suddenly, you realize that this engineering extravagance is no extravagance at all.

Sharp reflexes

Occasionally, it is also necessary for a 3,400-pound automobile hurtling along at high speed to stop abruptly.

Once more, Mercedes-Benz engineers draw on their experience with World Champion racing machinery. They employ the more expensive, but clearly superior, type of brakes used almost universally on today's professional racing circuits.

Disc brakes.

The engineers don't stint, either—by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They insist on attaching a massive disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

Accurate steering is vital for maximum control, too. In an emergency, you don't have time for a sweeping twirl of the wheel.

The ingenious Mercedes-Benz recirculating-ball-type steering system of the 280S eliminates sloppy play in the wheel—and blesses you with the "feel" of the road. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

If trouble comes

The responsiveness which makes the 280S such a joy to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But Mercedes-Benz safety goes beyond the letter of these laws.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

"A fellow hit me when I stopped at a toll booth," reports one Mercedes-Benz owner. "People in his car were hospitalized. But I just opened my door and stepped out."

Showroom experiments

The 280S is as habitable as it is roadworthy and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, hour after hour. It should: it was designed with help from orthopedic physicians.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dashboard. There's no spaghetti tangle of wires. It's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim—real walnut, not plastic.

Many cars are designed to win admiration for their owners. Mercedes-Benz cars are designed to win admiration from their owners. Quite a distinction.

No shortcuts

Your 280S is built with uncompromising care, to make it a lasting investment, too.

Every 280S begins life in a shower of sparks. It is not bolted into being, like a conventional car, but solidified by thousands of welds. After 50,000 miles or so, you may start to wonder if it will ever rattle.

More than four coats and 44 pounds of paint and primer rust protection are lavished on each car. Even the insides of the hubcaps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, the 280S gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

Unconventional? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not build conventional cars—and never will.

Fuel injection available

Machined to racing tolerances, the 2.8 liter, overhead cam, six-cylinder engine of the 280S is built to run flat-out on Germany's autobahns for hours on end (it often does)—and can cruise at any posted speeds in America, with energy in reserve.

However, if you'd like even more power, you may choose the 280SE. The "E"—for Einspritzmotor—gives you a Bosch 6-plunger fuel-injection system that boosts horsepower by nearly 15 percent, at virtually no sacrifice in gas mileage.

NOTE: Another variation, the 280SEL, affords a wheelbase 4 inches longer, and with four inches additional legroom in the rear compartment. Maneuverability is unimpaired.

16-page brochure

To learn more details of the remarkable 280S—. $7,856 complete with automatic shift, power steering and power brakes $7,181 without frills)—mail the coupon for a color brochure.

Better still, drop by the showroom and arrange to test the car. Driving is believing.

Other models to ponder:

280SL Roadster—a sports car for grown-ups, combines soul-stirring performance with comfort, $8,896

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $5,352

600 Grand Mercedes—the ultimate motor car, $27,200

Kiernan Asks Federal Help

Pilotage Extension Could Cut Ship Pollution

Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan has called on the federal government to extend pilotage services to ships plying waters off the rugged west coast of Vancouver Island as a pollution preventive measure.

He said in an interview Friday he is concerned about the threat to marine life posed by oil leaking from the ruptured bunkers of the wrecked Greek freighter Treis Ierarchai hard aground on Ferrer Point north of Tofino.

Of even more concern was the frequency with which such shipwrecks are occurring on the west coast of the Island, he said.

It raises the serious question of whether or not pilotage regulations should be extended so that ships receive greater benefit from pilots with "intimate local knowledge," he added.

If more wrecks could be averted with the danger they bring of oil pollution, the added costs of more pilotage service would be preferable to attempting to clean up pollution after it happens, Mr. Kiernan said.

He added that this wreck, which spilled a total of 260 gallons of bunker oil into the ocean forming a slick covering several square miles, appears to pose no special hazard to the colony of rare sea otters established July 21 some 35 miles north of the spot where the ship foundered.

Federal fisheries officers reported Friday the oil slick appears to be dissipating, and if the wind and currents continue to be favorable it will be carried out to sea with little serious damage.

Privacy Invasion Found

think that not to be within the term 'eavesdropping', the essence of which is the overhearing of private conversation," said the judgment.

"It is clear that there was no trespass within the meaning of that subsection, but there was surveillance, and the act provides that privacy may be violated by surveillance whether or not accomplished by trespass," said Mr. Justice Seaton, in his written judgment.

On Nov. 20, counsel for Mr. McArthur had submitted the detective was an agent of and acting for Mrs. Davis and was carrying out a bona fide investigation.

COURT OF LAW

"He was a licensed private detective carrying on an investigation for the purpose of obtaining evidence to be presented in a court of law," he had said.

Mr. St. Jorre had said he was relying on Mr. McArthur's private detective's licence as a defence and had added that a narrow interpretation of the Privacy Act could put private detectives out of business.

In his judgment, Mr. Justice Seaton said if it were once concluded that there had been an invasion of privacy under the act, then it could not be said that there was claim of right unless a private investigator has the right to violate the privacy of another.

'NO RIGHT'

"He does not have that right," said the judgment.

"I conclude that the violation of the plaintiff's privacy was committed 'wilfully and without claim of right'," Mr. Justice Seaton continued.

"After reviewing the Private Investigators' Licensing Act I would conclude that it is a regulatory measure not making lawful that which would otherwise be unlawful," he said.

THE PURPOSE

"The purpose, that is the investigation of the conduct of the plaintiff, was lawful, but it does not follow that everything done in carrying out that purpose was lawful.

"It does not make the invasion of a person's property lawful, nor does it make the invasion of a person's privacy justifiable."

Mr. Justice Seaton agreed with defence counsel Mr. St. Jorre that the possession of the licence was relevant in the case.

"The scandal seeker might violate one's privacy, while an investigator doing the same thing but with his legitimate purpose might be held not to be invading privacy," he said.

The degree of privacy to which a person was entitled varied with circumstances, he said.

Mr. Justice Seaton said that other activity caused great apprehension in the plaintiff at a time of his marriage breakup when he would have been distraught in any event.

"He did not know why he was being followed, even worrying that his life might be in danger.

"He became upset and nervous as a result of the continued surveillance under which he existed, and had to consult a doctor.

"During the surveillance of May, 1968, which the defendant knew was added to other surveillance, the defendant knew, or ought to have known, that the plaintiff's privacy was being so thoroughly invaded as to cause a reasonable man to be worried, apprehensive and emotionally upset.

"When the conduct of a private investigator reaches that point I have no hesitation in saying that he is violating the privacy of the person he is investigating."

Mr. McArthur, continued the judgment, had known that an enquiry had been going on for years and that others continued that enquiry when he started work.

"He continued his investigation in complete disregard of the rights of the plaintiff, thinking, mistakenly, that the plaintiff had no right to privacy.

BROAD, CLEAR

"The Legislature has seen fit to give him that right in terms that are broad but clear," said Mr. Justice Seaton.

Assessing damages, the judgment pointed out that while Mr. McArthur was not liable for the conduct of others, he was liable for injury caused to a man already emotionally upset as a result of continued surveillance.

'HIS VICTIM'

"The defendant must take his victim as he finds him where he knows of the prior and continuing investigations," continued the judgment.

Setting damages at $1,000 Mr. Justice Seaton said he felt the position was probably comparable to that in defamation and false imprisonment actions.

Italy Shocked

bombing signalled a general campaign of sabotage. Scores of Christmas shoppers panicked and ran screaming through the streets.

Cardinal Archbishop Giovanni Colombo prayed amid the rubble of the bank and said the bombing was "an act of hate against humanity."

Rev. Corrado Fiorvanti, who was inside the Milan bank, staggered through the smoke and dust. He was covered with blood.

"I did what I could," he said. "I gave the last rites to about 15 people who looked dead or dying. There was nothing else I could do."

Pietro Benzi, a farmer, described the scene.

"I saw a child flying through the air," he said. "I was in shock. It seemed like the Apocalypse."

Windows were smashed. Slivers of glass knifed through crowds on the busy sidewalks. Employees and customers on the first and second floors heard the blast, then were caught as the ceiling collapsed.

"It was unthinkable horror," said Vittor Locatelli, a 57-year-old farmer. "It was there we met to talk, to trade, to pay our bills to one another. And now . . ." He waved his hand toward the stream of stretcher bearers from ambulances that inched toward the bank in a giant traffic jam.

"This attack, in its cold and evil fashion, shows that there exists among us elements pursuing objectives dragging this country toward disorder," Rumor said in his television statement.

★ ★ ★

The Italian Communist party, the biggest in the West with an estimated 1,000,000 members, was quick to denounce the bombings as "bloody and beastly violence."

Witnesses said the scene in Milan was something out of a war movie.

"I heard an incredible explosion," said Daniele Vaghi, a customer at the Milan bank. "Then I saw people all around me flying and falling." Miss Vaghi suffered a cut arm.

★ ★ ★

Slivers of glass from the windows of the big building, located directly behind the Milan cathedral and a few yards from the La Scala opera house, knifed through crowds outside.

A cloud of smoke and dust hung over the bank as ambulances inched through traffic jams to reach victims. Police ordered all traffic stopped to make way for the ambulances.

The explosion at the National Bank of Labor in Rome, located three blocks from the U.S. Embassy, was caused by what police described as a bomb ignited by nearly two pounds of explosives. It shattered windows, started a fire and smashed water pipes.

The explosion in Piazza Venezia — the centre of Rome since the time of the Caesars — could be heard for several blocks around. Those injured there were hit by flying masonry.

Worker Dies After Fall

VANCOUVER (CP) — Arthur Thompson, 58, of Vancouver, died after a five-storey fall from a window ledge of a Vancouver office building. Police said the self-employed window cleaner was apparently moving from one window to another when he fell

Patrons Perish In Hotel Blaze

SEATTLE (AP) — Two downtown hotel residents, the older of them confined to a wheelchair, died in a fire at the Corona Hotel. The dead were identified as Calvin George, about 25, and Gaspar Barraga, 70.

Quads Born But All Die

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Quadruplets were born to a South African woman but all babies died by nightfall. The three girls and a boy, all weighing under two pounds, were three months premature.

'Las Vegas' Unlikely In Legalized Lottery

Legalized lottery provisions of the amended Criminal Code, which come into effect Jan. 1, are unlikely to bring any quick major change in gambling practices in B.C., Attorney-General Leslie Peterson said Friday.

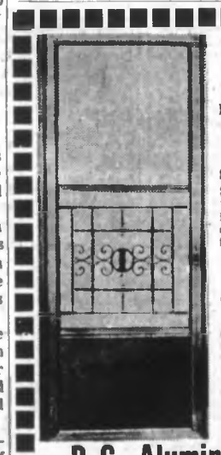

"I do not expect there will be any major change by the first of the year," Mr. Peterson said

Meanwhile, his department has a committee at work studying new machinery and licencing regulations that will be required provincially on the whole subject of gambling that has been assigned to the provincial jurisdiction under the new amendments.

Mr. Peterson said B.C. has also initiated discussions with attorneys-general in other provinces about the degree of uniformity desirable in new gambling controls.

Asked if the new provincial regulations would permit lotteries in B.C., the attorney-general said he was referring primarily to bingo and gambling in private clubs.

"The blue lines have to be set," Mr. Peterson said. "But I can assure you I don't anticipate B.C. becoming the Las Vegas of Canada."

Vancouver Mines Make Best Gains

VANCOUVER—Mining stocks returned to favor with Casino up .60 at 4.70; Valley Copper up .75 at 17½ and Granduc up .35 at 9:75. Also strong were Early Bird, up .20, Highmont and Magnum, each up .20 and Sileurian up .09.

Neonex, Balco, Kaiser, Weldwood and Magadyne were strong spots among industrials while Doman, Gill, Fields and Gill were lower.

Falconbridge Up

TORONTO (CP)—The market advanced sharply in light trading for its second successive upward session.

Industrial mining and construction and material stocks led the advance. Beverage, communication, general manufacturing, oil refining and trust and loan issues were slightly lower.

Among industrial mines, Falconbridge rose 3¼ to 167, Mattagami 2⅛ to 29 and Inco ⅞ to 46⅝.

McIntyre, which owns about 37 per cent of Falconbridge, rose 3 to 152.

In construction and material issues, Canada Cement gained ⅛ to 30 and Dominion Bridge ⅛ to 14⅛.

Utilities Lead

MONTREAL (CP) — The market moved higher in all sectors but banks during light trading. Utilities led gains at the close as advances outnumbered declines on the day's trading.

Among industrials, Falconbridge added 5 cents to 168½, International Nickel ⅝ to 46⅝ and Superior Electronics ⅛ to 6⅝.

Abitibi gained ⅛ to 12⅛.

Best Gain of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The market stood on slightly higher ground after losing about half of its early gains.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 3.16 to 786.69, its only solid gain of the week. Before noon it had been up more than 6 points.

The moderate rise failed to spark optimism among market analysts. Declining prices have dragged the Dow down almost 80 points in the last month.

The move upward was along a rather narrow front.

Among glamor stocks, Control Data gained 1¼ to 117¼, Xerox was off ¼ at 107¼ and Polaroid sagged 1 to 125, Eastman Kodak gained ⅞ to 75⅝ and Sperry Rand dipped 3⅜ to 38.

Kaiser Digs for Coal Route

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

Having got its toe in the door by agreeing to use Canadian rail transportation in the shipment of its coal from the Kootenays to Roberts Bank, Kaiser Resources now is making it clear it won't be happy until it no longer has to depend on Canadian Pacific Railway as the sole provider of its transportation facilities.

Earlier this week, the U.S.-controlled coal company said it was formally supporting an application by Kootenay and Elk Railway to provide its mine at Sparwood with a rail link into the Great Northern mainline in Montana.

It claimed that if this was allowed Kaiser would have a competitive and alternative route to the coast instead of having to deal with a CPR monopoly.

A simultaneous announcement by CPR that it was considering the possibility of moving coking coal from the Kootenays to the B.C. coast by a "solids" pipeline, does not appear to have impressed Kaiser.

In a rejoiner to the Canadian company proposal, Kaiser's general manager Gerald Balsley said Kaiser was also contemplating a slurry pipeline to the coast as an alternative to rail.

PAST YEAR

During the past year it, too had investigated the complex problems involved and had recently signed a joint venture research agreement with Consolidation Coal Co. of Pittsburgh, which already operates such a pipeline and is regarded as one of the world's experts in the matter.

If the results are favorable, Balsley said it would take another two years of research followed by preparation for construction before the physical laying of the line could be tackled.

LONG JOB

He said this would be such a long drawn out job, that a quicker alternative was desirable, and that was why Kaiser was supporting the Kootenay and Elk Railway application.

He believed the movement of coal from the district might in time be of sufficient volume to support both railway systems, as well as a slurry pipeline.

CAs DISCUSS TAX

A full-day session dealing with the White Paper on tax reform is being held Monday at the Imperial Inn by the B.C. Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Two Vancouver tax experts, Dave Lindsay and Derek Parkinson, are in charge of the $40 course. During the 9-to-5 session, participants will see film interviews with leading government tax officials, and partake in panel discussions in which questions on aspects of the reform will be tackled.

Local CA Gordon Hutchison expects a heavy attendance.

"The White Paper is a very serious document, and it affects not only accountants, but everyone who pays taxes," he said. "There are many aspects of the proposals which have come under heavy fire in the past week or two."

One of these, he added, was the dubious wisdom of a capital gains tax that would be imposed on unrealized profits.

THICK PAY ZONE

The natural gas well that excited the stock exchange oil market this week was one drilled by Banff Oil Ltd. in the Strachan-Ricinus natural gas field in the foothills area of Alberta.

It looks like a good well with 780 feet of porous Leduc reef being penetrated to date.

Banff et al Ricinus 5M is an exploratory well seven miles southwest of the Strachan gas field.

A previous test recovered sour gas from an interval 150 feet below the reef top. Since that time a partial logging program suggests hydrocarbons extending to 580 feet. The content of the basal 200 feet of porosity is not known, but drilling and logging operations will continue.

The well is on a 640-acre tract owned 25 per cent each by Pacific Petroleums and Amoco Canada Petroeum; 20 per cent by Uno-Tex Petroleum, and 15 per cent each by Aquitaine and Banff.

An offsetting 55,360 acres is held 90 per cent by Aquitaine and 10 per cent by Banff.

SHIPMENT FOR JAPAN

A gross value of $753,503 (U.S.) in nickel copper concentrates was shipped from Vancouver No. 29 by Giant Mascot Mines to Japan.

It was the 96th shipment since May, 1960, and during that time Giant has shipped 203,638 tons of a gross value of $25,804,546. (U.S.).

Finance Laws Probed

The B.C. attorney-general's department is considering tightening provincial securities legislation in light of the results of an Ontario inquiry into the collapse of the Atlantic Acceptance Corporation.

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson said Friday: "We are studying the report to see what, if any changes should be made in our own legislation."

He noted there isn't much difference in security and other corporate and trading legislation between Ontario and other provinces. It could be assumed that if there are gaps in Ontario laws, "there may be in our own," he said.

LAW EVADERS

But no matter how tough laws may be on inside trading and other security dealings, there will always be people who attempt to evade them for their own illegal enrichment, Mr Peterson said.

Nevertheless, the attorney-general added, cases such as the Atlantic Acceptance collapse in Ontario and the proceedings in B.C. toward liquidation of the Commonwealth Trust Co. underline the need for constant effort to strengthen laws in the finance field.

Mr. Peterson would not say if amendments might be proposed at the legislative session that opens here Jan. 22.

Production Slip Persists

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Friday its index of industrial production, measuring about a third of the country's total output, slipped again in October.

The index, based on 100 for the 1961 output of mining, manufacturing and electric power, gas and water utilities, declined to 165.8 from 166.0 in September.

The index in September recovered somewhat from a declining trend earlier in the year. Its peak was 171.3 in March.

Latest figures showed small but widespread declines in output of non-durable manufactures, only partly offset by gains in iron and steel.

Biggest gains were mineral fuels, rubber, wood manufactures, and machinery, with primary metals bouncing up after strike settlements. Biggest losses in production were in petroleum and coal, mineral fuels, and paper and allied industries.

B.C. Human Rights and Negro Syndrome

Tonto, Lone Ranger in Middle

The U.S. Negro is being cast in the role of the "good guy" with such regularity the white man may soon be looking upon himself as the victim of racial discrimination.

This was one of the thoughts offered Thursday night by Jack Sherlock, director of human rights for the B.C. Labor Department, when he addressed the Victoria branch of the United Nations Association.

Before he was through outlining the functions of the B.C. Human Rights Commission, Mr. Sherlock had brought the Lone Ranger, Tonto, a Negro TV district attorney and an irate 21-year-old Kamloops man into the picture.

He said he had received a letter from a Vancouver Island woman who complained that the Indian Tonto was being cast in the master-servant role with the Lone Ranger in a current TV commercial.

Mr. Sherlock said he didn't feel this was discrimination since others, including a well-known British actor, are always cast as servants.

"I always thought Tonto was displayed in the role of the hero," he said. "He was the real nice guy who was always getting the Lone Ranger out of some tough type of situation."

He said he had replied to the woman's letter Thursday, pointing out that U.S. television appeared to "be going overboard" in showing the Negro as the "good guy."

"I said I wondered if the white group is not now going to start charging discrimination."

There have been 400 complaints concerning human rights investigated in B.C. this year, but no charges have had to be laid, Mr. Sherlock said.

He said the matters were usually settled in a manner that satisfied those laying complaints, and which proved educational to those who had allegedly committed a wrong.

Beatles Refuse U.S. Offer Of $4,000,000 Stage Tour

LONDON (Reuters)—The Beatles have turned down an offer of a £1,700,000 ($4,420,000) tour of 12 major United States cities, their manager, Allen Klein, announced Friday.

The offer came from American promoter Mike Belkin. The pop-music foursome have not appeared on stage together since 1966.

Names in the News

Famed Virginia in Hospital

HUDSON, N.Y. — Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, whose questions about Santa Claus 72 years ago brought her fame, was admitted to hospital suffering from a heart ailment. She is 80.

The widowed Mrs. Douglas, a retired school teacher in nearby North Chatham, wrote a New York newspaper to ask whether there was a Santa Claus and got an editorial reply that has been widely reprinted each Christmas season since.

LAS VEGAS Nev. — For the second time in 20 years, singer Dean Martin is planning to marry a beauty contest winner. His latest flame was identified as Gail Renshaw, 22-year-old blonde recently named Miss World-USA. Martin's present wife, Jeanne, was Queen of the Orange Bowl parade in Miami in 1949 when Martin, a celebrity guest in the parade, asked her for a date. A whirlwind romance followed and the couple was married in September 1949.

□

WASHINGTON — The state department has reported that three alleged airplane hijackers showed up at a U.S. diplomatic office in Algiers with Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver and asked for passports to return to the United States. State department press officer Robert McCloskey identified the three as Byron Vaughn Booth, Clinton Orbert Smith and James Joseph Patterson.

□

LONDON — Brigitte Bardot was once called a "sex kitten." Now she is 36 and still sexy, but, the British Broadcasting Corporation has decided, no longer a kitten. BBC's publicity department said the director of a Bardot spectacular will "exploit every possible facet of the French sex-cat's personality."

□

NEW YORK — Roy M. Cohn, counsel for the late Senator Joseph McCarthy, with Cohn's former law partner, John A. Kiser and John Curtin, a Philadelphia engineer, were found innocent in their trial on charges of bribery, extortion and conspiracy.

□

FORT HOOD, Tex. — S. Sgt. David Mitchell, accused of assault with intent to murder in the alleged My Lai massacre said, "In my opinion, what they said happened, didn't happen". And in Fort Dix, Sgt. Michael Bernhardt, member of the army company involved at My Lai, denied he was ever a disciplinary problem.

□

TORONTO — Consumer Affairs Minister Ron Basford said Canada should waste no time in converting to the metric system of weights and measures employed throughout most of the world. The current mixed system of avoirdupois pounds, troy pounds, Canadian gallons, and all their confusing submultiples has turned wise consumer buying into an "exercise in higher mathematics" and hinders international commerce, Basford complained.

□

MONTREAL — Sessions Judge Maurice Fauteux dismissed a sedition charge against Michel Chartrand, president of the Montreal central council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions. Chartrand was charged after an address during a demonstration Oct. 29 in Quebec City against the provincial government's controversial language bill.

□

VISALIA, Calif. — Superior Court Judge John Locke has sentenced Mrs. Anita Springer to jail for one year and ordered her to read and report on The Art of Loving, a book on human relationships. Mrs. Springer, 39, struck a deputy sheriff.

□

GOTEBORG, Sweden — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Ingemar Johansson was fined 3,000 crowns (about $600) for assault. The prosecution said that in July, 1968, Johansson struck a man outside a night club. Johansson admitted aiming a kick at the man, but denied he had struck him with his fist.

□

MONTREAL — After swimming 40 miles in the freezing St. Lawrence River and fighting high winds and eight-foot waves, oceanographer Louis Lourmais decided to give up the rest of his planned 180-mile swim to Quebec City. Exhausted, the 49-year-old native of Brest, Brittany, returned to Montreal Friday.

□

BONN — Chancellor Willy Brandt has promised that West Germany — engaged in a drive for better relations with Eastern Europe — would one day try to settle differences with Czechoslovakia arising from the Nazi past.

□

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has asked Congress for $4,750,000 to begin a program to more than triple the size of the White House police force. The extra men would be used largely to protect foreign diplomatic missions. Nixon said he was requesting the expansion because of an "inordinate number" of crimes and disturbances against foreign missions and diplomatic personnel in the U.S.

□

BOSTON BAR — A verdict of accidental death was returned by a corner's jury at an inquest here into the death of Michael Cahill Hogan, 14, of Vancouver. The youngster fell into the Fraser Canyon from a lookout point at Hell's Gate last Aug. 5.

□

TORONTO — Metro Toronto police cadet Keith Kindy, 19, is recovering from injuries received when he pushed two 10-year-old school boys from the path of a careering car. Kindy suffered severe bruises.

□

MOSCOW — Retired Maj.-Gen. Pyotr Grigorenko, 63, a leading Soviet dissident arrested earlier this year, has been officially declared insane, family sources said. The general, arrested in the central Asian city of Tashkent in May on charges of anti-Soviet fabrications and slander, was reported in October to be undergoing treatment in a Moscow psychiatric institute.

□

MONTREAL — Montreal industrialist H. L. Blachford has decided to move his chemical manufacturing company to Toronto because he feels the province of Quebec has become "too racist."

□

National Newspaper Suggested at Hearing

OTTAWA (CP) — An international affairs expert Friday suggested the press could pool resources to form a national Canadian newspaper with emphasis on international affairs.

In an appearance before the special Senate committee on mass media, John Holmes, director-general of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, recognized there are "all sorts of difficulties" to such a project. One was the cost.

"But if somebody could find a way it would serve certain needs," he said.

It would have only limited circulation, having most interest for scholars, librarians and specialists in international affairs and related subjects.

It would have particular use abroad where it was difficult for anybody to find out about Canadian foreign policy. It would be "nice to think" of the proposed paper as bilingual, both French and English.

In any case, it would be of "enormous help" to researchers and others with complete coverage of international affairs.

Holmes thought a "good model" for a Canadian national newspaper would be France's Le Monde. The New York Times is another, he said, but it is highly over-rated and "one of the dullest newspapers in the world."

As it stands now in Canada, it is a real problem for the minority in places outside major centres to keep in touch with world affairs, he added.

Your Postman and your Post Office do quite a bit for the price of a stamp.
Since most of the mail is sent at the end of the day, most of the sorting is done at night.
So many of the sorters work at night, through the night, to make sure that your mail gets to the right destination. And when you bundle your mail, it helps us speed up the sorting process. The sorters don't get home any earlier, but it moves your mail a lot faster.
Once the sorters have sorted your mail, it's put on the fastest available means of transportation to wherever it's going.
And it's sorted again by more sorters when it arrives.
And it's sorted again. By your postman. At 7:00 in the morning which is pretty early to get to the office by anyone's standards. But we want to get it to your home or office as early as possible in the day.

Jerry Quarry reels across ring from force of Chuvalo blow

Chuvalo Topples Quarry

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Chuvalo, his right eye grotesquely closed for most of the fight and blood streaming down his body, unleashed a desperation punch in the seventh round to knock out Jerry Quarry Friday night when the unsteady Californian was unable to hear the count.

The doctor was ready to stop the bout at the end of the round but Chuvalo, 32, fighting strictly on courage after being blinded in one eye in the fourth round, threw the punch that knocked Quarry across the ring and to the canvas.

Zach Clayton started the count, and Quarry squatted ready to arise on any signal from the referee. But the count reached nine and then 10 with Quarry still on one knee, and Clayton waved that it was a knockout.

The ending of the scheduled 10-rounder was one of the most dramatic and confused in years at Madison Square Garden, and the crowd surged to ringside to cheer, jeer and try to find out what had happened.

★ ★ ★

Quarry stormed around in protest, and Garden officials said they would try to rematch the two as early as possible with all thoughts of a title bout with Joe Frazier wiped out by the drama.

It was the 48th knockout of Chuvalo's career and ran his record to 56-15-2 over a 13-year career. Quarry, 24, had his record drop to 33-4-4. Chuvalo weighed 217 pounds compared to 201½ for Quarry.

The fight was brutal and bloody until the knockout with a second left in round seven with Chuvalo and Quarry both using street tactics, butting, hitting on the break, using elbows and low blows.

Several times Clayton warned them, and Chuvalo once clutched his groin after a low punch. But no points were deducted.

Quarry got a slight nick by his right eye in the second round, but he opened a bloody gash under Chuvalo's right eye at the bell in the fourth round and went to work on the wound to close it early in the fifth.

★ ★ ★

It became obvious that it was only a matter of time before the bout would be stopped after Dr. Harry Kleiman conferred with Clayton at the end of the sixth round.

With blood streaming, Chuvalo did a weird dance at the finish while his manager, Irving Ungerman, hugged him. Quarry's cornermen stormed into the ring to protest.

Next games: Tonight — VICTORIA at Kelowna; Kamloops at Penticton.

PENTICTON—A strategic move by coach Doug Anderson in the second period paid off later in the winning goal as Victoria Cougars took a hard-fought 7-6 victory from Penticton Broncos to open a B.C. Junior Hockey League road trip.

The win enabled Cougars to hold their five-point edge over second-place Vancouver Centennials, who scored a 5-1 decision over Vernon Essos at Vancouver.

At the seven-minute mark of the second period, Anderson benched defencemen Laurie Moore and Dale Pennock because of inadequate play. He went the rest of the game with three defencemen — regulars Randy Bock and Gerry Bond, plus Murray Kennett, moved back from a forward spot.

BOCK GETS WINNER

And each of the three scored a goal while playing extra time, Bock getting the winner at 17:35 of the third period to cap an exciting seesaw contest.

Anderson had to go with 16 players. Pat Askew was forced to stay in Victoria due to university exams and Ted Plowe worked all day. Plowe flew to Penticton, reaching the arena at 9 p.m., but Anderson had to go without him because he wasn't sure the plane would be on time.

TOPS IN LEAGUE

Penticton got the first goal but Victoria led 3-1 after the first period thanks to Bruce Cowick, Moore and Scott Munro. The third goal came on a power play and was Munro's 18th, high in the league.

In the six-goal second period, Penticton tied it at 3-3 before Kennett got his goal at 7:22, after the double benching. Broncos got two more and Cougars one, by Lon Miles, making it 5-5 going into the final period.

ON POWER PLAY

Bond scored unassisted at 2:04 on a power play before Kerry Moss of Penticton got his second goal of the night while Cougars were short a man. Victoria killed a two-man-short situation later, and then came the winner.

Bond and Chris Riddell brought the puck up the ice, Riddell passing to Bock as the latter burst through a hole in the Bronco defence. Bock got around the last defenceman and hit the lower left-hand corner from close in. Penticton outshot Victoria, 43-27.

In Vancouver, Ray Todd had two goals and two assists for Centennials. Other Vancouver scorers were Larry Simons, Neil Murphy and Alex Dick while Wayne Dye replied for Vernon.

Decision on Protests Promised by Dec. 20

PENTICTON (CP) — The president of the British Columbia Junior Hockey League will announce a decision Dec. 20 concerning four games involving Kamloops Rockets protested by different league clubs.

Rockets won games with Victoria Cougars, Vancouver Centennials, Vernon Essos and tied with Kelowna Buckaroos from Nov. 1 to 11. Each club protested that Kamloops used ineligible players.

League president Howie Hamilton said delay in announcing a decision was "mostly my fault."

"I've been busy but we'll clear the whole thing up at a league meeting here Dec. 20."

Players considered ineligible were Wayne Gibbs, Ernie Wurmlinger and Andy Laramie, who joined Rockets from Calgary Centennials of the outlaw Canadian Hockey Association. Opposing clubs contended they were not duly registered for Kamloops at the time the four games were played.

The three were later registered and have continued to play for Kamloops.

Next games: Friday at Esquimalt Sports Centre — Stockers vs. Rifles at 8 p.m.; Butlers vs. Vikings at 9:15.

University of Victoria Vikings, held to a 3-3 tie by Queen's Own Rifles Wednesday at Esquimalt Sports Centre, moved into first place in the Vancouver Island Hockey League, one point ahead of idle Butler Bros.

George Ede's second goal of the game, with four minutes and 25 seconds left, earned Rifles the tie after Dave Cousins and Bob Buie scored a minute and 55 seconds apart late in the second period to give Vikings a 3-2 lead.

Vikings' Larry Hackman and Rifles' Ede scored in the first period and Ross Millward put Rifles ahead at 17:05 of the second before the quick outburst by Vikings started with Buie's scoring shot at 17:45.

Stockers North Americans defeated Chemainus Blues, 5-1, in an exhibition game.

Next game: Thursday at 4 p.m. — Oak Bay at Reynolds.

Accurate foul-shooting and the outstanding performance of Walt Burrows guided Oak Bay to the top of the Inter-High School Boys Basketball League Friday as the Bay stopped Victoria Totems, 64-53, at Victoria High.

Bays sank 26 of 34 foul shots for a 76.5 percent average and Burrows scored 14 of his 24 points from the free-throw line.

Doug Walton added 18 points to the total for Bays, who took a 29-16 first-half lead. Pete Grabowski topped the Totems with 14 points, four more than Jim Nemec.

Life No Cherry Bowl — Rarely Injury-Free

Star Smiles Through Pain

Jean Beliveau

MONTREAL (CP) — To the average fan or young hockey hopeful, life has been a bowl of cherries for big Jean Beliveau.

Beliveau himself, now 38 and in his 17th season with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, has helped create that image with a fluid style of play and an easy off-ice affability.

A casual check of NHL records shows the many honors he has won over the years.

CRACKED BONE

But look again. The games-played column also shows that pro hockey can be an injury-filled career.

Beliveau found out Thursday that what was first diagnosed as a sprain was in fact a cracked ankle bone—an injury that will force him out of action for nearly three weeks.

The Canadiens' captain was injured last Saturday night when Barry Gibbs, Minnesota North Stars defenceman, fell on Beliveau's left leg after a routine collision along the boards. Beliveau was rushed to hospital for x-rays, but was released when no bone break showed.

He missed Sunday and Wednesday games, tried to practise Thursday and could not skate. Then he went back to hospital for more x-rays. The second trip showed the break and he now has the ankle in a cast.

SET PATTERN

Beliveau broke into the league in the 1953-54 season as one of the most heralded rookies of all time. He had become a legend in Quebec amateur hockey circles before the Canadiens finally lured him to the pro fold.

In his first season with the NHL club he suffered a broken leg and a broken jaw that forced him to sit out 26 games. The first season apparently set a pattern.

Only twice since then has he played a full season free of serious injury: in the 1954-55 season and again the next year when the full schedule was 70 games.

ASSORTED ILLS

In 1956-57, Beliveau missed one game, but the next year he sat out 15 with fractured ribs. He missed six games with assorted ailments in 1958-59 and then for the 1959-60 season was on the sidelines for 10 more with pulled groin and stomach muscles.

The 1960-61 schedule saw the 10-time all-star miss one game, but he was off to a bad start the next season when he injured his knee in training camp and missed 27 games.

BRUISED BONE

He missed one game the next season and two in 1963-64 when he again won the Hart Trophy.

A knee injury knocked the six-foot, three-inch centre out for 12 games in 1964-65. He missed three the next year, and then the 1966-67 schedule saw him displaced for 13 games by an eye injury and four more by a groin pull.

During regular 1967-68 play a knee injury knocked him out for 15 games and in the Stanley Cup against St. Louis Blues he suffered the same kind of ankle problem he is nursing today.

Last season Beliveau sat out one game with a bruised bone in the hand and six more with a groin injury.

This season he has been well below par—although he missed only one game prior to the ankle injury—with a condition which was described as weariness.

He played only briefly in several games on the way to working back into a fairly full measure of health before the latest mishap.

Campbell Decrees Auditorium

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Friday night the new Buffalo entry must play in Memorial Auditorium.

Campbell ruled out Erie County's proposed new domed stadium as a playing site for the team.

Increased attendance capacity, better lighting and other improvements in the Auditorium were among the conditions on which award of an NHL franchise to Buffalo were hinged.

Summonses Issued Now

OTTAWA (CP) — Summonses have been issued by provincial court for hockey players Ted Green and Wayne Maki to appear Dec. 18 to answer charges of assault causing bodily harm, court clerk Dal Dupuis said Friday.

The two National Hockey League players were charged after a Sept. 21 exhibition game here between Boston and St. Louis in which Green of Boston Bruins suffered a depressed skull fracture requiring emergency surgery. Green is still recuperating.

Dupuis said the summonses have been sent to U.S. police agencies but he could not say whether they have been served on the two players.

Oakland Seals defenceman Carol Vadnais, whose 115 penalty minutes are far ahead of his nearest competitor in the National Hockey League this season, drew a major and a minor Friday — plus two goals and one assist.

His three points led Seals to a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh Penguins at Oakland in the league's only Friday game. Vadnais scored in the first and third periods, and kept busy in the second by getting into a fight with Pittsburgh's Tracy Pratt as the period ended.

Gary Jarrett, on a power play, and Billy Hicke also scored for Seals as they won the game with three first-period goals. The result put Oakland only two points behind fourth-place Philadelphia.

Olivares Retains Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World bantamweight champion Ruben Olivares of Mexico City blasted Alan Rudkin, the British Empire champion from England, into submission in two minutes, 30 seconds of the second round Friday night to retain the crown of the 118-pound division.

The sensational 21-year-old titleholder, who weighed 117½, signaled the quick end when he floored the 28-year-old challenger for the first time in his seven-year career in the first round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

Olivares, scoring his 28th straight knockout and 52nd in 54 fights, polished off the game Briton with a succession of lethal lefts and rights, starting the bombardment almost as soon as the second round began.

Defensive Star for Texas Loses Leg Week After Game

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fred Steinmark, a punt return specialist who helped lead Texas to its epic 15-14 win over Arkansas a week ago, lost his left leg Friday in a battle to save his life threatened by cancer.

Doctors said the cancer in Steinmark's ailing leg was a socoma tumor, the fastest spreading type, and the defensive back had no chance to live without the amputation.

A spokesman for the hospital said there was no guarantee that all the cancerous tissue was removed, but that doctors were hopeful.

"The boy is in great spirits," the spokesman said. "He is a fine boy — real inspiration."

Steinmark's teammates sent carnations in the form of "No. 1."

"It is a shock to all of us," said Coach Darrell Royal. "It's just hard to believe that it happened but it is one of those things that you have to accept, that you have to try to understand.

"It is unbelievable that a boy who played starting safety last week could have this happen to him so soon," Royal said.

The Texas coach was at the hospital with Steinmark's parents during the operation. He said Steinmark would remain in the recovery room until today.

DISCOVERED MONDAY

Steinmark complained of pain in his leg after the Arkansas game and the tumor was discovered Monday when an x-ray of his leg was taken at the school clinic in Austin.

The doctors told the 20-year-old junior his leg might be amputated if a malignant tumor was found.

Steinmark came to Texas from Denver, and started last year in the Longhorn defensive backfield. He picked off five passes during the season.

He also was a punt return specialist and last year led the Southwest Conference in punt returns, bringing back 25 punts for 177 yards.

Comox Players Capture Titles

Canadian Forces Base Comox players took the open titles and CFB Esquimalt players won the veterans championships in the two-day Canadian Armed Forces Zone 1 badminton championships completed Friday at CFB Esquimalt.

Tom Barnes defeated Al Simmons of CFB Holberg, 18-15, 15-13, to take the open singles title and combined with Wayne Green to win the doubles title over Bill King and Norm Lucas of CFB Chilliwack, 18-15, 17-16.

Merv Hunter of Esquimalt took the veterans singles championship, defeating CFB Comox's Bob Greenlaw, 15-1, 15-6. The veterans doubles title was won by Esquimalt's Ken Mitchell and Jack Strachan, who downed Carl Hiesinger and Bill Branch of Chilliwack, 15-10, 15-13.

Representing Zone 1 (British Columbia) at the national finals at CFB Shearwater, Nova Scotia, January 29 to 31, are the five champions, King, Simmons, Branch and George Seakins of Chilliwack.

Opening Descent Clinches Victory

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — Michele Jacot of France made two almost flawless descents down the tricky slopes Friday and beat out America's Barbara Cochran for the women's special slalom title in the Criterium of the First Snow ski competition.

The event counts in the Alpine World Cup standings.

The 17-year-old French girl clinched the victory with her brilliant opening run, clocking 33.58 seconds. Her combined time was 1 minute, 12.80 seconds.

Miss Cochran, from Richmond, Vt., clocked 1:13.10 for second place with Florence Steurer of France third in 1:13.25.

That performance placed the American girl in a tie with Miss Jacot in the individual ladies' World Cup standings, each with 40 points. Miss Cochran had finished third in the ladies' giant slalom Wednesday.

Betsy Clifford of Canada placed ninth in 1:16.84.

RED SMITH

The burning question is: will Richard Anthony Allen change his pants in the Cardinals's clubhouse right along with ordinary people like Lou Brock, Bob Gibson and Mike Shannon? In Connie Mack Stadium, the celebrated recluse has his own dressing room.

In most baseball circles, the first reaction to the seven-man trade sending Richie Allen to St. Louis was a wave of compassion for Red Schoendienst. The manager of the Cardinals has already had turberculosis. What does he need with Richie Allen?

For Red Schoendienst, the little world of baseball has always been the best of all possible worlds. He loved it when he played in cow pastures around Germantown, Ill. In Albany and Lynchburg and Rochester, in St. Louis, New York, and Milwaukee, the game was pure fun. He even enjoyed those hit-and-run exhibition tours coming north from spring training when a fellow lived out of a suitcase for two weeks and everybody around him was griping.

Except for the year of his illness when he must have despaired sometimes of ever returning to the game that was his life, this summer must have been the most difficult he ever experienced. This summer he had to stand by helpless and watch the best team in baseball grow fat and sloppy. And then they give him Richie Allen.

When Richie Allen hits a baseball, it leaves the neighborhood. He isn't remarkably good at catching a ball or throwing it, and words like "dedication," "unselfish," and "team player" do not automatically bring his image to mind. He is the sort that ball players used to describe as "all wood."

Yet because he can break up the furniture, seven clubs made offers for him. The Phillies' John Quinn says the one he accepted was the best — Curt Flood, who says he won't play, Tim McCarver, who used to be the best catcher in baseball, Joe Hoerner, a good relief pitcher, and Byron Browne, a young outfielder, for Allen, the extraordinary handy Cookie Rojas, and Jerry Johnson, a pitcher.

Chances are the seven clubs that made offers did so with the approval of their managers, even though the managers were aware that run-ins with Allen had cost both Gene Mauch and Bob Skinner their jobs in Philadelphia.

Managers tell themselves: "Maybe those guys didn't know how to handle him. Maybe my office will back me up where theirs didn't. Anyway I can't pass up a chance to get his bat in my lineup." Probably Schoendienst did.

With the Cardinals, everybody knew a housecleaning was in order. After two pennants and one world championship, Schoendienst found himself managing a band of fat cats who had lost the incentive to win. Their salaries were well above the major league standard and many had outside sources of income.

Whether this change will be beneficial remains to be seen. Cookie Rojas is a remarkable individual, indefatigable, willing and able to play any position on the field. Eight times — one with the Reds and seven times with Philadelphia — he went to training camp without a job and it was a poor year when he didn't get to play around 150 games. He is the compleatest utility man, and he can bunt or hit to any field.

Johnson, 26, is a skindiver from Miami with size and youth on his side. He never made a great record in the minors, has now served a season and a half upstairs.

★ ★ ★

However, you don't trade players with the stature of McCarver, Flood, and Hoerner for a good utility man and a pitcher of unfulfilled promise. The Cardinals must get a ton of baseball out of Allen to break even.

Ironicall, Allen seems to be susceptible to the very same ills that did the Cardinals in. Since the Phillies lured him out of Wampum, Pa., with a $60,000 bonus in 1960, he has been able to indulge himself freely. He lives it up, he finds many distractions outside baseball, and he has never been conditioned by harsh need to obey the rules.

With McCarver gone, chances are Joe Torre will be asked to put the mask and pads back on, though he isn't fond of the tools of ignorance. That would leave first base open for Richie, except that the Cardinals have a young power hitter named Joe Hague who may be just about ready.

Hague is a first baseman who has also played in the outfield. Allen is a batter who has played third base and in the outfield. He hurts the team least when he is on first base. No doubt Schoendienst will find a place for him.

Governor Turns Against 'Muhammed Blah'

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida reversed himself Friday and said he opposes a proposed heavyweight fight between Cassius Clay and Joe Frazier which promoters say they are trying to schedule in Florida.

Clay—Muhammad Ali—the former champion, was stripped of his title after refusing induction into the armed services.

Kirk, referring to Clay as "Muhammad Blah", said he could do nothing to prevent the fight but does not want to see it take place in Florida.

"I see no reason why an alleged draft-dodger should be in a position to lay claim to any title," he said.

Frazier is recognized as champion in seven states.

Tuesday, speculating publicly about the possibility of the fight, Kirk said: "If we can promote a good sporting event I am for it—I would like to see it accomplished in Florida."

He predicted that in such a fight Frazier "could easily beat Clay."

Friday, he said that "it comes as a surprise to me that a man who lacks the courage to fight for his country could have the guts to get into the ring."

Kirk said that any claim Clay might have "should be taken away from him in the ring by someone worthy to wear the title."

Asked why he had not opposed the fight while discussing it Tuesday, Kirk answered: "I assume that everybody wanted to see Mr. Cassius Clay fall to the mat. I personally would like to see him get whipped."

Florida has no state agency to regulate boxing, but agencies exist at the local level in some cases. The Tampa Boxing Commission refused to allow the fight to be held in Tampa.

Promoter Ron Gorton of the American Leisure Corp. said in Tampa that he and Pete Ashlock plan to hold the fight Feb. 16 or 17 in Ashlock's 9,000-seat domed stadium near Orlando.

Toronto Gardens Available

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations have been started to stage the heavyweight fight between Cassius Clay and heavyweight champion Joe Frazier at Maple Leaf Gardens in February.

Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, is negotiating with Clay's lawyers.

Frazier is generally recognized as world champion, although Jimmy Ellis holds the World Boxing Association's version of the title.

Clay fought here in 1966 and defended his title with a 15-round decision over George Chuvalo of Toronto.

World Soccer Federation Rebuffs Brundage's Stand

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Canada received unexpected support Friday in its bid to reinforce its national hockey team with professionals.

The powerful International Soccer Federation (FIFA) gave a rebuff to IOC president Avery Brundage's declaration that all players competing in an open world tournament would lose their amateur status.

This is an interpretation some members of the International Olympic Committee would like to bring about, but it rests on wrong conclusions, FIFA secretary-general Helmut Kaeser said.

"There is no such thing as collective professionalism," he said. "It is possible for a 100 per cent amateur to play with a professional team. You have to look at the individual to decide if he is an amateur."

In soccer, players certified as amateurs can participate in open world championships as well as in the Olympics. For the 1964 Olympics only, a rule was applied to ban all World Cup players from Olympics. This rule was made by the FIFA— and not by the IOC — to make it more difficult for so-called state amateurs from communist countries to participate in the Olympics. It has been set aside since.

"Our policy now is that anybody is an amateur who has been certified as such by both his national federation and the national Olympic committee, regardless if he played with or against pros," Kaeser said.

TRAVEL TIPS from Stan Delaplane

Your Own Pool and a Pink Jeep

"You made Acapulco sound expensive . . ."

There seems to be a big division: very low and very high. We had dinner at the posh Las Brisas. (They issue you a pink jeep and your own swimming pool at each cottage.) The nudge was $35. Next night I had dinner at a beach front Mexican place: $4.80 for two. And that included drinks and tip. A 25-cent tip to the doorman put me in The Last of the Big-Time spenders league.

"My husband will take us to Europe but insists it be where he can play golf . . ."

So many of these golf swingers, the airlines have special tours from the U.S. Jumping them from hole to hole and course to course. Mainly England, Ireland and Scotland. A good all-inclusive price. And courses are near where you'd like to go. Folders are free from Irish International Airlines, Pan American, BOAC. Maybe others.

"Do you advise packing light?"

I do but seldom follow what I tell other people. (And if you are trying to win an argument with your wife with this letter, forget it, Max. This is one you lose.)

I always take a dark suit to Hawaii. Never wear it. I am always two shirts over what I need. I'm Spartan about not taking slippers and robe, then wish I had. You always have breakfast in your room in Europe.

"What kind of luggage do you think is best?"

I buy fabric foldovers. Pay about $40. They last two to three years. (There may be some brands that are best buys, but I couldn't check it out that far.) I get a bag that will hang. Has three hangers. Two inside and two outside pockets. I can stuff this and get along for two months.

A flight bag to carry on is a must. (You can buy them from the airline. First-class passengers get them free. I pack this with a sweater — more comfortable and your jacket doesn't get wrinkled. Slippers — more comfortable than shoes. A shoe horn — your feet swell.

I put in a razor and toothbrush. A paperback — get a long dull one. Something you should read but keep putting it off. It may put you to sleep. I keep this flight bag light. Then the children stuff their toys on top so that I can't get to anything below. A born loser.

Corner the stewardess immediately. Ask her for games for the moppets. Airlines have splendid stuff for them. Keeps them quiet. (They will then pack the giveaway games on top of everything else in the flight bag. But toujours gai.)

If the airplane has movies, the earphones switch to different sound programs. One of them is for children. Plug them in instantly. Order a martini and relax. (I just write this way. I can't do it.)

★ ★ ★

"What should we pay for a watch in Switzerland?"

You'll pay about half what it costs you at home. Advertised name brands are more than house names. (Best house is Gubelin; branches in all big Swiss cities.) If it's cased in gold, the price goes way up. A good man's watch in stainless steel will be about $60. Same watch in gold, $200.

Best women's watches in gold with a gold bracelet run somewhere around $500. Probably $1000 at home. But duty may nick you.

U.K. Minitrains On Right Track

By GORDON IRVING

LONDON (CNS) — The minitrains of England and Wales, chugging through green fields and valleys, are a growing attraction for the tourist.

The traveler can find them in the quiet meadows of Kent, in southeast England, or in the mountain valleys of Welsh Wales.

★ ★ ★

One of the most intriguing is the miniline that passes through the misty Merionethshire countryside in Wales. This is the Ffestiniog Railway, which runs through the Vale of Ffestiniog on its route between Portmadoc and Tan-y-bwich.

"It is the oldest surviving narrow-gauge railroad in the world," an official of the Ffestiniog Railway said. "It was opened in 1836. For more than 20 years horses used to draw the coaches."

★ ★ ★

Another Welsh mini-railroad is the Vale of Rheidol Railway, the only narrow-gauge line still run by British Rail. The other three narrow-gauge lines in the United Kingdom continue to flourish thanks to the work of enthusiasts.

The Rheidol railroad runs for a dozen miles through he Welsh valley.

★ ★ ★

At New Romney in Kent, the headquarters of the Romney, Hythe and Dymchurch line, drivers were checking their steam locomotives with intense care and love.

This is claimed to be the smallest public railroad in the world. Each year it carries about 350,000 passengers.

Each summer this railway has 10 trains a day moving in each direction along the 14-mile route that crosses Romney Marsh.

A perfectly proportioned locomotive, just five feet high and weighing five tons, pulls a dozen coaches over the meadowland and shingle waste of Kent, moving at 20 miles an hour on a 70-minute journey.

★ ★ ★

The Romney railway line was started in 1927 by the late Capt. Jack Howey, a motor-racing enthusiast. Now it has nine locomotives, all replicas of steam engines which ran on the main lines of Britain until the diesel and electric services took over recently. One is proudly named "Winston Churchill."

During the war against Hitler, the railway line was taken over by the army, and an antiaircraft train patrolled it.

Your travel agent can save you a lot more than money. Maybe even your whole vacation.
Part of the fun of a holiday is going somewhere new. But how can you plan a vacation in a place you've never seen before?
We suggest that before you spend any of your holiday money, you spend a little time with your travel agent.
It will rarely cost you a penny more and your travel agent could save your whole vacation.
And your travel agent can tell you what different hotels, resorts and restaurants have to offer. And what they charge for what they offer. Then you can choose what's right for you and your budget.
They can help you rent a car or find a guided tour that goes where you want to go. They can even advise you on which clothes to take along, where to write for a passport and a hundred other details.
We at CP Air can fly you almost anywhere in the world. And we want you to have a good time when you get where you're going.
If you're like most of us, you don't get more than one holiday a year. So before you go, talk to your CP Air travel agent. It costs nothing more to get more for your memories.

Romeo Just a Drunk In Capulet Country

By NINO LO BELLO

VERONA, Italy — "But soft! What light through yonder window breaks? It is the East and Juliet is the sun."

A latter-day Freud would say this Shakespeare-conscious city is suffering from a "matriarch complex" because venerable Verona plays up Juliet and gives Romeo what amounts to the bum's rush. I kid you not!

For the thousands of tourists who come to this beautiful old town at the foot of the Lesini and Baldo mountains, the principal attractions are Juliet's tomb, Juliet's balcony and the house Juliet lived in, the former residence of the Capulet family. And almost anywhere you go, there are postcards of the sweet damsel, souvenirs of Shakespeare's teenage heroine, and love-charms with motifs about you-know-who.

So what about Romeo? Who he?

You have to hunt high and you have to hunt low, and even then you'll not find anything about Romeo. You can't even buy a postcard with his picture on it, not to mention the fact that you'll ne'er even find a Romeo souvenir in the shops. As for Romeo's home, the House of Montague, you will have to work very hard at tracking it down because there are no signs to show you the way.

Curious Thing

A curious thing about the residents of Verona is that they don't think much of Romeo one bit. In point of fact, Shakespeare's play which made the two teen lovers immortal is called "Romeo and Juliet," but in Italian, Shakespeare's masterpiece is entitled, "Juliet and Romeo." Like the man said, Juliet is "In."

Several years ago a local club presented Verona with a statue of Juliet. Some American soldiers stationed nearby with the U.S. Southern European Task Force wrote a letter to the daily paper here asking why not also put up statue to Romeo. The hue and cry raised by the people of this pro-Capulet town forced the U.S. army to a strategic withdrawal and an admissible defeat. Romeo still has no statute.

"Romeo was a rotter!"

"Romeo was a good-for-nothing drunkard and juvenile delinquent. He was always getting into fights just to show off his swordsmanship."

"Romeo was not what Shakespeare made him."

Juliet Prevails

Thus went the theme in the outpour of letters-to-the-editor. The Juliet cult here had prevailed once more. Indeed, as far as the passing centuries are concerned, it is apparent the feud between the Capulets and "that other family" was eventually lost on the P. R. battlefield by the Montagues.

There is never any question as to what slant the visiting thousands of tourists will get when they come here. They are taken by the guides for a look at Juliet's balcony in the courtyard of the Capulet House on Via Capello. After that it's a walk to outside the Old City walls to the Church of San Francesco where one is shown the marble tomb of Juliet.

Reflecting the tragedy of the unlucky lovers, the setting is superb. The crypt is cold, the willows weep, a supreme quiet reigns, all is tranquility. Nearby there is a bust of Shakespeare watching the whole scene an offering silent approval.

Romeo Ignored

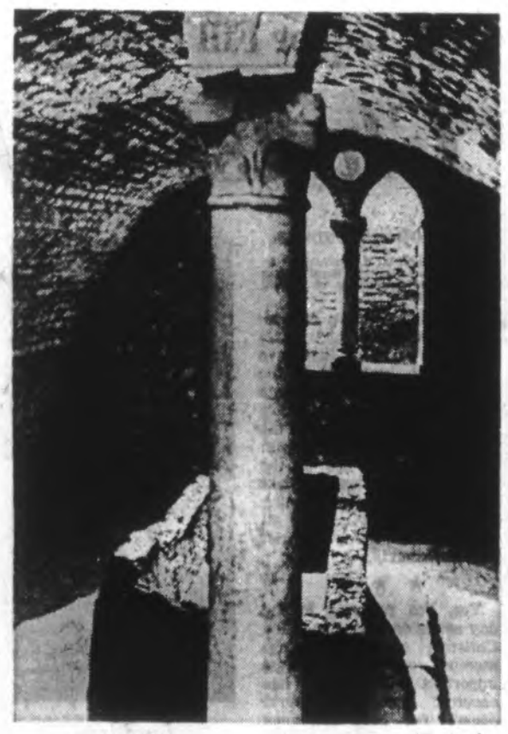

Down the tree-lined lane of this cloister in the chapel, where Juliet and her boy friend are said to have been wed, is a mailbox where thousands of letters to Juliet (never any to Romeo) are dropped each year. The missives usually ask Juliet advice on matters of the heart.

Although no one can make a substantial historical case for the existence of the two lovebirds (which is an unmentionable subject in Verona), there is also no evidence at all to indicate that Shakespeare himself might possibly have visited Verona before writing "Romeo and Juliet."

Several scholars have spent their professional lives wrestling with the qustions of the legend, yet there is very little fact to back up any stories about the existence of either Romeo or Juliet.

"What does history really matter?" spouted one Verona official when the inevitable subject came up. "For us Juliet lives. She lives in our hearts!"

Or as Shakespeare would have put it: "Romeo, wherefore art thou?"

Bus Routes Change On Monday

Changes in two greater Victoria bus routes will go into effect Monday, a spokesman for B.C. Hydro said Friday.

The Haultain route will extend via Shelbourne and North Dairy Road and terminate in the Hillside Shopping Centre.

The one daily Gordon Head round trip will leave the city at 8:45 a.m., rather than the previously scheduled 9 a.m. The returning bus will leave Tyndall and Barrie at 9:15 a.m., instead of 9:30 a.m.

Shaw Festival Picks B.C. Architect's Work

NIAGARA - ON - THE - LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Ronald Thom of Toronto has been selected from a group of 31 architects to design the $2,000,000 Shaw Festival Theatre, Calvin Rand, president of the festival, said in an interview.

The theatre will be erected either behind the town courthouse or on land near the centre of town made available by the federal government.

Thom favors the courthouse site which would be incorporated into the theatre, but a decision regarding the site must be made by a new municipal government. An announcement is expected in three weeks.

Thom, born in Penticton, B.C. and raised in Vancouver, moved to Toronto when he was selected to design Massey College at the University of Toronto and Trent University at Peterborough, Ont.

Thom's Vancouver firm has received 18 Massey Medals for its work. Seven were for Thom designs.

Cantata Carries Glad Tidings

As in many Victoria churches, Glad Tidings Pentecostal Church, 842 North Park Street, has a full schedule of Christmas activities.

Among the Yuletide events are a cantata, a cadlelight service and a children's program.

Here is the list:

● 7 p.m. Sunday — Choir of 40 voices will perform Born a King, a cantata by John Peterson. The cantata opens with several prophetic messages concerning the birth of Christ and proceeds through the main events of the night of His birth. While the cantata is being sung, a pantomime in full costume will take place. Pastor David Argue directs the choir.

● 7:30 p.m. Monday — Annual Sunday school Christmas program featuring children portraying various aspects of the birth of Christ. The Junior Brass Band will play for 15 minutes before the hour and a teenage choir will sing several selections.

● 8 p.m. Friday — Youth candlelight service. Mrs. Paul Hawkes, wife of the pastor, will speak.

● 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 21 — Christmas Family Night. A group of carolers and a brass quartet will sing carols to those coming to the service and to those passing by on the street.

The senior band will play Christmas music and the film based on The Story of the Other Wise Man by Henry Van Dyke will be shown.

Next Wednesday there will be a banquet for senior citizens under the auspices of the Dorcas Ladies.

Debt, Liquor Fill Holiday

Christ Left Out of 'Spree'

By THOMAS JAUNDREW

Mr. Jaundrew, a psychiatric orderly at Ray Pavilion, Royal Jubilee Hospital, is a member of Central Baptist Church.)

Jaundrew

Through the media of modern advertising and man-made theories that have thoroughly brainwashed the bulk of mankind in a large section of the world, we are fast approaching a time of the year that has grown slowly, but surely into one of the most hectic, worrysome, debt incurring, liquor consuming holidays of the year. And all this under the name of Christ and Christianity.

★ ★ ★

Yes, I'm referring to the day set aside by the so-called Christian countries, to remember one of the most important events that has occurred since the world began. The first Christmas heralded the coming to the world of God's son, born of a virgin and born with one purpose and goal in life. That was to grow to manhood and become God's sacrifice for the sins of the world—a world that even in the day that Christ lived and died rejected Him and all that He represented.

★ ★ ★

When we analyze his whole business of Christmas as you and I know it today, with its many associated practices, we can't help but wonder what has happened to that original concept of Christmas as we read of it in God's holy word.

Christ was born in the little town of Bethlehem and laid in a manger because there was no room in the inn. Word of this wonderful event reached the ears of the shepherds in the fields. The angel of the Lord said unto them — "Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

Hearing this, they hurried to see this one who was destined to become so important in their lives. We also read that wise men came to Him, bearing gifts, not for each other, but for Him whose birthday it was.

From this simple beginning has grown this multimillion-dollar business of consuming vast quantities of liquor, of giving presents, of feasting and partying, of sending Christmas cards to people that a lot of times you never see or think of in all the intervening months.

When we meet our friends and acquaintances, we wish them a Merry Christmas, even though that person may be up to his ears in debt, incurred to a great extent because he has gone on a spending spree in the name of the spirit of Christmas. Or that same person may be in need of clothing or food, or any of the other necessities of life.

I personally am rebelling against this modern concept of Christmas and feel that it is about time people woke up to the fact that we have been brainwashed into this line of thinking.

I feel that one of the strongest points in this brainwashing technique has been the introduction of "good old St. Nick" with his bag of toys. At the earliest possible age we introduce our children to this jolly old gentleman whose only aim in life, apparently, is to spend the entire year making gifts to distribute at Christmas.

As we grow older and this gentleman finally becomes a pleasantly remembered myth, we are so ingrained with the idea of exchanging gifts, that it has become a way of life. Budgets are planned, and I might add, not too successfully, months in advance to be sure no one will be forgotten — except Christ. Somehow the guest of honor of our festivities, the one whose birthday we are celebrating, wasn't even invited to the party.

I believe we should all make a determined effort to return Christmas to Christ, recognize that it is His birthday and give Him the gifts and remembrances that are rightfully His. How can we do this? Christ said, "As much as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." This was in direct reference to the sick, poor and needy among us.

God 'Unemployed'

Member Decline Marked

TORONTO (CP) — A United Church minister here, who only wears clerical clothes on Sundays and special church occasions, says God is not dead — "it's just that He is unemployed."

Rev. Clarke MacDonald of St. Luke's United Church, said membership in his church — between 200 and 300 — has held steady throughout the 1960s.

★ ★ ★

In a recent report about the future of the 150 United Church congregations in Metropolitan Toronto, the church was warned that if the present decline in membership continues, it will have no downtown churches in 15 years.

Rev. MacDonald said: "If we can hold on, the church will be stronger than ever.

★ ★ ★

"But it will be wounded and it will be more humble."

Rev. MacDonald sometimes does away with sermons in his church and has a simple dialogue with the congregation.

Organist Plays Wednesday

Dietrich Buxtehude's Prelude and Fugue in G Minor will open the monthly organ recital by Herman Bergink in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Also on the program will be three organ chorales by Johann Pachelbel, the Pastorale in F Major by J. S. Bach and Suite No. 1 for Christmas by Jan Zwart.

Mr. Bergink will improvise variations on two hymns submitted by the audience at the recital.

The concert will end with Christmas music by Cor Kee and two organ chorales, one by Ernest Pepping and one by Flor Peeters.

Death Could Be Kindest Choice

TORONTO (CP) — A United Church minister told a seminar at Toronto's Scarborough General Hospital that saving life at all costs is not always a good thing.

Dr. Gordon Porter of St. Mark's Church said: "When people are worn out, to restore them, reluctant and weary, to life is not kind."

He said that in such cases, it is better not to use resuscitation and machines to maintain life.

Churches Tax In California Depends on Ifs

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California starts taxing some church businesses on Jan. 1 — but no one in the state government or the churches themselves seems to know exactly who will be taxed, where they are, or how much money will be raised.

A law passed by the 1969 legislature extends the state's corporation tax to businesses directly operated by religious organizations but unrelated to their spiritual function.

Church and state officials alike say they cannot at the moment think of a specific business which isn't taxed now but will be under the new law.

Such things as cemeteries, publications, old-age homes and other activities directly associated with church functioning won't be considered unrelated income. They will remain tax-free.

But if a church ran a movie house devoted to family type films, for instance, it would be taxed. The new law requires all churches to list types and sources of income. The amount need not be reported unless it comes from an unrelated business.

LAW SPONSOR

Sponsor of the law was Democratic Senator Anthony Beilenson, of Beverly Hills, who is Jewish. He says he was surprised at how easily the bill went through and became law. Most major denominations had endorsed some such form of legislation.

In the rest of the United States during the last few months many denominations have expressed an almost eager willingness, in the name of fairness, to lose their tax-exempt status when it comes to outside businesses they operate.

The National Council of Churches and the U.S. Catholic Conference issued a joint appeal last May to the U.S. Congress to eliminate special income tax immunity which the churches enjoy on unrelated business income.

SUCH BODIES

All such bodies make an important distinction, however, concerning tax exemptions on their houses of worship. A major suit is pending before the U.S. Supreme Court, brought by a citizen named Frederick Walz against the New York City tax commission. The Walz complaint alleges that tax exemptions for churches and synagogues violate the American constitution's church-state separation tradition.

TAX MONEY

William Burke, legislative counsel for the Roman Catholic bishops of California, said he would be surprised if "A great deal of tax money" resulted from the law.

The California corporation tax rate is 7 per cent of net income. Businesses run by churches get a special $1,000 deduction. Businesses in which a church holds a controlling interest, but which are actually run by lay management, are not affected because those already are taxed.

Thorndick

Jubilee Grad Speaker

A graduate of Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing will speak of her missionary work in Haiti at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Church of the Nazarene, Quadra and Kings.

Heather Thorndick, who is attending Canadian Nazarene College, was chosen to be one of 50 students to work as summer relief on mission fields in Central and South America and the West Indies.

Students conduct services and teach in the Bible and day schools.

Miss Thorndick assisted in the medical despensary and taught classes on hygeine and nutrition.

At the end of the summer relief program of the church, she remained in Haiti to work in the Albert Schweitzer Hospital to learn more about tropical diseases and their cures.

The student Missionary Program is sponsored by the Nazarene World Missionary Society. It is designed to give field experience to those students in Nazarene colleges who feel called to foreign missionary activities.

Miss Thorndick was one of only two chosen from Canada.

Initial Wedding Held At New Sikh Temple

The new Sikh Temple on Topaz Avenue is nearing completion.

Already services are being held and, within the past two weeks, the first wedding was celebrated there.

The $200,000 building is being constructed on the site of the original temple which for 57 years was used for religious ceremonies but was too small for the present congregation which numbers about 1,000.

The Sikhs recently celebrated the 500th anniversary of the birth of Nanak, contemporary of Martin Luther, who founded their religion. Ceremonies were held in Vancouver.

Sikhism originated in the Punjab and most of the disciples are still to be found there. Its first members were dissenters from Brahmanical Hinduism.

The Sikhs had various Gurus over a period of 200 years. The 10th and last was Guru Govind Singh who lived 300 years ago and founded the brotherhood of Khalsa, the pure ones, to which Victoria Sikhs belong.

One day last week, while workmen were still busy finishing the inside of the temple, a group of Sikh women was having an afternoon meeting in the community room.

Four young cousins, all named Johal, agreed to have their photos taken at the bottom of the long flight of steps on Blackwood where the new temple has its main entrance. The former temple had the entrance on Topaz.

Church Closing Approaching

KAMLOOPS (CP) — St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral in this interior city may be forced to close if a campaign for funds can't raise enough to pay expenses, says Bishop R. S. Dean of the diocese of Cariboo.

Church Chronicle

Vesper Sound Provided By Musicians

Let There Be Peace is the theme of a vesper service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday to be conducted by the CGIT of First United Church. The musical group The Connectors will play.

The congregation of Wilkinson Road United Church, which usually holds no Sunday evening service, will have a special White Gift service at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Children of the Sunday school will lead the congregation in singing Christmas carols.

The following Sunday the church will celebrate its 56th anniversary.

The congregation of First United Church has been invited to share communion with the congregation of St. John's Anglican Church at the midnight service at 11:30 p.m. Christmas Eve.

The Saanich Oratorio Choir will present Handel's Messiah at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the McPherson Playhouse. Helmut Janzen, a Victoria school teacher, is the conductor.

Soloists are Merna Dighton, soprano; Eleanor Duff, contralto; Robin Greenwood, tenor, and Walter Janzen, bass.

Robert Ferguson will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m. Sunday service in Victoria Truth Centre. His topic is Wishing Well. At 7:30 p.m. Dr. Emma Smiley will speak on the Sound of Christmas.

The Victoria local of the Christian Labor Association of Canada will present Gerald Vandezande of Richmond, the association's executive secretary, in a talk — titled Should Workers Have a Say? — at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Flamingo Room of the Crystal Garden, 701 Douglas.

Psalms Passage Included

"He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions."

This passage from Psalms is included in the Christian Science lesson-sermon titled God the Preserver of Man, to be read at 11 a.m. Sunday in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Chambers at Pandora.

One of the passages to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy is: "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering."

Four Clubs For Juniors

Four junior service clubs for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 12 are being formed at the YM-YWCA.

There are Tri-Gra-Y clubs for girls and Gra-Y clubs for boys in other cities in Canada but these will be the first for Victoria.

The induction service for the clubs will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium of the YM-YWCA, 880 Courtney, followed by tea in the lounge.

Harbor Light Full of Events For Pre-Christmas Season

The week before Christmas will be a busy one at the Salvation Army Harbor Light alcoholic rehabilitation centre at 516 Yates.

Starting Thursday, a different church group will provide Christmas music each night.

Leading off at 8 p.m. Thursday will be a group from the Christian Business Men's Committee. At 8 p.m. Friday a group from Glad Tidings Pentecostal Church will perform. At 8 p.m. Saturday, Capt. and Mrs. Albert Ferris and a group of Salvation Army young people will provide the music.

FAMILY SERVICE

Christmas Sunday, Dec. 21, at 11 a.m. the family worship service will be conducted by Brig. Robert Weddell of Matson Lodge. At 7 p.m. a colored film, Christmas in Hong Kong, will be shown. A carol fest and candlelight service will follow.

A special service will be held the evening of Dec. 22 for converts and their families. A Christmas party has been arranged with Santa Claus as a special visitor.

With the exception of this service, all will be open to the public. Following each service a hot meal is served.

At 8 p.m. Dec. 23 the Challengers quartet will sing carols. It consists of Don England, Ross Alton, Bob Gill and Gil Fletcher. Accompanist is Jim Biggs.

Christmas Eve will be taken up with an at-home carol service at 8 p.m. in the centre.

Christmas Day is going to be "a real happy occasion," Capt. Ferris, director of the centre, said this week.

There will be a short devotional period at 11 a.m. followed by turkey dinner and presents "for all our friends who attend Harbor Light."

The games room will be active during the afternoon with a giant smorgasbord scheduled for 4:45 p.m.

A film, Wild Country, will be shown at 7 p.m., followed by refreshments.

HARBOR LIGHT

"All those associated with the Harbor Light program are invited to share these special meetings with us," Capt. Ferris said.

"And for those who have no place to go on Christmas or before," he added, "there is a warm welcome waiting for them at Harbor Light."

More on Books

Every year in the pre-Christmas season I find myself devoting considerable time and column space to books on gardening, and I think perhaps this is a good thing. It isn't the easiest job in the world to find a Christmas gift for a green-thumbed relative or friend, but you are on pretty safe ground if you pick a book, particularly one slanted to his specialized interest.

One of these specialized interests is indoor gardening. With the trend today away from single-family dwellings and into apartment living, many of our would-be gardeners are satisfying their craving to grow something by turning to houseplants.

There is a wide range of books on houseplants. For the real buff who has graduated to a specialty, there are books devoted to the African violet, on gloxinias, on ferns, on bromeliads, miniature roses, foliage plants and cacti. And there are more generalized books suitable for beginners and for folks with a wider range of houseplant interests.

By far the best of the general houseplant books in my small garden library is The World Book of House Plants by Elvin McDonald, published in Canada by Nelson, Foster and Scott Ltd. I don't remember the price I paid for my copy but I think it would probably be around $8.

★ ★ ★

This is a big book of 318 pages, profusely illustrated although not in color. The first section is on indoor gardening generally, with instructions on how to start and grow houseplants. The middle section is an encyclopedia of houseplants giving the name, history and culture of over 700 plants, each one illustrated with an excellent line drawing of the plant.

At the back of the book is a miscellany containing a glossary, a list of books and magazines on houseplants, a list of dealers and suppliers, and an excellent index.

The "in" word in gardening nowadays is phytoilkumination, which means growing plants under artificial light. Many folks who can't afford or haven't the room for a greenhouse are constructing a garden room, or even a garden bench, in the basement and growing their plants under fluorescent lights. This system has many advantages, chiefly the freedom from heating costs; all you have to supply is light, and this is inexpensive with fluorescent fixtures.

The best book I have run across on this subject is Gardening Under Lights by Elvin McDonald, published by Doubleday. In it, Mr. McDonald describes in detail how anyone, even an apartment dweller with just a spare closet or bookshelf, can have a beautiful and healty indoor garden without ever having to rely upon natural sunlight.

★ ★ ★

He answers in detail the questions that come to mind in this sort of operation: How close to the lights should an African violet be grown? How many hours of light per day for gloxinias? How do you get short-stemmed chrysanthemums rather than tall, lanky ones?

In the back of the book Mr. McDonald lists the names of firms supplying the lights and accessories, plants, cuttings, fertilizers and the like. Unfortunately, only U.S. firms are listed.

Give Them Garbage!

With the American land mass in danger of vanishing beneath an ever-growing-mound of garbage, scientists have been working around the clock to meet he threat head-on.

At long last, it can now be reported, a brilliant technological breakthrough offers new hope of stemming the tide of swill.

The development is the work of a research team at the West Newton Institute of Technology, headed by Dr. Russell Zimmerman. It employs a freeze-dry technique similar to that now used to condense coffee and tea.

★ ★ ★

In laboratory experiments, Dr. Zimmerman was able to reduce 1.3 metric tons of garbage to a 16-ounce jar of shimmering crystals. He calls the resultant product, logically enough, "Instant Garbage."

At first glance, the demand for Instant Garbage would appear minimal. But a two-year study by the Passaic Centre for Peace and War Research forsees "unlimited possibilities in an everexpanding world market."

★ ★ ★

As the centre's report points out, "Americans today enjoy the highest per capita rate of garbage production (3285 pounds annually) of any nation on earth. Measured either by weight or by volume, the yearly U.S. production of garbage far exceeds that of automobiles, field crops and non-ferrous metals combined.

"Garbage," the report states flatly, "is by far and away the number one product of our free enterprise system. It must be shared with the less fortunate abroad.

"In country after country, we find a direct and unvarying correlation between the standard of living and the amount of garbage available — the less garbage, the lower the standard of living. From these statistics, it is obvious that only by increasing garbage production can the underprivileged nations ever hope to reach the economic takeoff point.

"What has prevented us in the past from sending this bountiful fruit from our horn of plenty to our needy friends overseas has been the high shipping costs. Instant Garbage," concludes the report, "provides the answer."

★ ★ ★

One-16-ounce jar of Instant Garbage, when mixed with water, the report notes, would supply the average Aisian or African peasant with enough top-quality American garbage to last him a year.

"Surely this is a more practical and humanitarian goal for our foreign aid program," says the report, "than sending him bullets and bombs."

While the report does not go into the military uses of Instant Garbage, it is known the Pentagon has the matter under study. Dropped in the enemy's rivers and streams, Instant Garbage would create instant pollution. Scattered on the enemy's land area prior to a rainfall, the crystals might well undermine his will to resist.

★ ★ ★

"There is every possibility," says one general hopefully, "that we may be able to stem the tide of world communism with 100-per-cent American garbage."

Experts have warned, however, that at present the U.S. lacks the garbage capacity for both military and peaceful uses. They estimate production would have to double before American could hope to cover the entire planet in even a minimum blanket of garbage.

But most observers feel that given American know-how and the ingrained American determination to scatter garbage, this is a feasible goal to include in the American dream of making the world more like America.

'Thing' Paid Off

"When that 'thing' came out, I sent Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton a cable," said Florinda Bolkan. The 'thing' was the story with photograph that Burton was having a romance with her and that she was stealing him from the invincible Miss Taylor, who has a reputation for doing that sort of thing herself.

I caught up with Florinda, an olive-skinned black-haired beauty from Brazil, on the set of A Last Valley—she is the leading lady opposite Michael Caine and Omar Sharif. She admitted freely that that "thing" was responsible for getting her into the movies. She hadn't done a thing before the story hit headlines all over the world. (Who said gossip was dead?)

★ ★ ★

"Of course, it wasn't true, unfortunately. I felt very sad for it not to be true," giggled Miss Bolkan. "Using the name of Richard Burton was not my nature. I love them. I even think that Elizabeth and I are friends. They said," she pouted, "That I got into Candy because of Richard (she played one of Ringo Starr's three sisters). But it was such a 'no' part, that I don't think Richard would have pushed me into this if I were his mistress."

In A Last Valley, Florinda plays what she calls "a mysterious type. I'm a normal woman and at the same time I'm a witch. It's a love story."

The actress was discovered two years ago, she told me, "by accident. I was in Rome—it's quite awful to tell the same story to the reporters. I met Visconti in Rome through friends. He asked me to take a screen test. He never ever does this. It took three days. It was very unusual. He rented a fantastic apartment for the test. He had the best make-up man and the hair by Alexandre. Clothes by St. Laurent (this, of course, was after the Burton publicity).

"Visconti wasn't interested in a film for me, he just wanted to make a test. I was very down at that time. I was looking for a job. I had a few years of doing nothing and I was very bored. Euro Films had paid for the test and they put me under contract."

The head of Euro Films, Contessa Marina Cicogna (she recently produced Media, with Maria Callas) believed in Florinda, who became her protogee. The countess is one of the richest women in Italy.

★ ★ ★

Twenty six and unmarried. "There are no men I can marry," said Florinda. "All the best have gone. The Aga Kahn has gone. Onnasis has gone.

"When I'm not working," she said, stretching like a long cat, "I don't think of work. When a picture is finished, I live. I go to nightclubs, I go to the sun. I love the sun. That's why I went to Italy to work."

★ ★ ★

Back to Burton. "I'll tell you how it happened. I was sitting at a table with Jane Fonda and Roger Vadim, Elizabeth and Richard. Richard stood up and said "Let's dance." I thought I was crazy because I was nobody. While we danced, he told me stories to make me laugh. And they were taking hundreds of photographs. When the stories and picture appeared, I sent them the cable. They replied that they understood. They are an unusually happy couple. They like the same things. Even if you have a flirt with him, you know it's nothing."

Thinking Aloud

In all the furor in the U.S. about "crimes of violence" today, we ought to remind ourselves that while crimes against the person have risen in recent years, the ultimate violence is murder — and the U.S. murder rate is lower in 1969 than it was in 1933.

What we call "destructiveness" comes from a suppressed love of life; we can see this clearly with children who are given no creative outlet for their energies — and destructiveness in a slum environment is always in inverse ratio to the number of outlets provided for their aggressive tendencies to be drained off pleasurably and harmlessly.

Courtroom Parade

Chances Muffed, Man Given Six Months

"You've had two chances; this time you're sentenced to six months in jail," Judge William Ostler told a 27 year-old Vancouver man Friday in Victoria Provincial Court.

John D. Vanier pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of theft over $50. Court was told he had registered Sunday at the Maple Leaf Motel, 120 Gorge Road East, and had left sometime that night taking with him a colored television set valued at more than $500.

Presecutor Cory Stolte told court Vanier had a criminal record, but had been placed on probation in two previous instances.

"You obviously must have thought it would go on this way," Judge Ostler said.

Vanier had had his chances, but he hadn't learned his lesson, the judge added.

□

Stephen Curila, 22, of 547 Niagara, who was to have been sentenced Friday was remanded for psychiatric examination until Dec. 19.

Curila pleaded guilty last week to a charge of using a firearm in a manner dangerous to the public.

The charge was laid after a shot was fired in the general direction of a "completely innocent bystander," court was told at the time.

□

Two Saanich youths, jointly charged with consuming liquor in a public place, were asked by Judge Ostler if they had "put aside $50" before they started drinking.

Christopher Morgan, 21, of 979 Abbey Road, said he had the money.

"You see, he is wise enough to put aside the money," Judge Ostler told the other youth, Garry L. Rogowski, 18, of 509 Springfield who had told court he wouldn't have any money until the end of December.

Judge Ostler said the fine was payable forthwith and in default there was a jail sentence of 30 days.

Morgan was fined $50 while Rogowski was remanded for sentence until Jan. 2.

Danny W. Crockett, 26, of 230 Gorge Road, was fined $200 after pleading guilty to a charge of driving with a blood alcohol content of .08 per cent.

Although compulsory breath tests have resulted in several convictions since the Dec. 1 Criminal Code amendments, it was the first time area police had laid a charge based directly on the new breath analysis requirements.

In previous cases the breath test readings were given as evidence in court but the defendants had been charged with impaired driving.

Victoria Home

Coburn Verdict Pending

County Court Judge Montague Drake reserved judgment Thursday on whether Victoria parks employee William Coburn should receive an additional $5,000 as part compensation for his house which was expropriated last February.

Lawyers, appraisers and a contractor appeared before Judge Drake to testify.

Judge Drake was asked to assess the amount of money the city of Victoria should pay to Mr. Coburn whose house was torn down to make way for the Rose-Blanshard urban renewal low rental development.

Estimates of the property placed before Judge Drake, ranged from $9,500 to $20,450. Victoria appraiser Edward Pope said the house had a market value of $9,500 while William Campbell, a local contractor, gave an estimate of $20,450.

The city made Mr. Coburn a final offer of $12,500 for the house on 2640 Blanshard, but he asked for an additional $5,000, totalling $17,500.

Mr. Coburn defied an eviction order in February by locking himself and his family into their house, and when city officials tried to smash their way into the premises, they were greeted by rifles brandished from an upstairs window and the front door.

Several days later, the Coburns left the house quietly.

New Park To Border Reservoir

An 888-acre provincial park will be established on the edge of an expanded reservoir used in the generation of electricity for Seattle City Light Co., Recreation Minister Ken Kiernan announced Thursday.

Mr. Kiernan said preliminary studies have been completed for the park that will be immediately north of the reservoir to be created by raising the level of Ross Lake, near the southwest corner of Manning Park, midway between Hope and Princeton.

Seattle City Light has the authority to increase the power output under an order of the International Joint Commission of 1941. An additional 6,300 acres will be flooded by the higher lake level.

Mr. Kiernan said the park could have been considerably larger had it not been for the IJC order.

The park will be a Class A provincial park.

Struck by Truck

Shopper Dies Of Injuries

A Saanich woman, struck by a truck while on her way home from a shopping trip at 3 p.m. Friday, died 25 minutes later in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police identified her as Mrs. Agnes Knowlton, 59, of 74 Crease.

Her death came two days before the start of Pedestrian Safety Week, scheduled by the Capital Region Safety Council for Sunday to Dec. 20.

SINGLE FILE

Police said Mrs. Knowlton was walking in single file between her sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Smith, when she was struck by the truck while crossing Douglas Street at the Town and Country shopping centre.

Police reported the light truck was driven by Frans Kars Winkel, 32, of 6505 Lochside Drive, Saanich.

A grocery cart being pulled across the street by Mrs. Smith was also struck, police said.

ARMED FORCES

Mrs. Knowlton is survived by a son, Neil, with the Armed Forces in Calgary, and her sister.

She was born in Merritt.

A widow, she worked in the Queen Charlotte Islands for 15 years as a nurse's assistant. Mrs. Knowlton came to Victoria three years ago to live with her sister and brother-in-law.

INQUEST SURE

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre has called an inquest but has not set a date. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

In announcing Pedestrian Safety week, the Capital Region Safety Council said Friday it wants to emphasize the important part pedestrians can play in the prevention of traffic accidents.

Chairman of the Council's education committee, John Ratel, said:

LIKE MOTORIST

"Pedestrians have rights on the road like the motorist, but they also have responsibilities.

"Careful attention should be paid to how and where you cross busy streets." At night wear something light, "be safe, be seen.

"Above all, don't expect a fast-moving automobile to stop on a moment's notice and within a short distance. Remember, too, that while jaywalking may save a little time, it loses a lot of lives."

Saanich Boy Injured In Accident

A six-year-old Saanich boy was in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph's Hospital being treated for a broken leg and cuts to his head following an accident Friday morning.

Ronald Hopkins of 4148 Wilkinson Road was on his way to school about 8:30 a.m. when he was hit by a car at the intersection of Dunsterville and Wilkinson Road, Saanich police said.

The car was driven by William M. Spotswood of 7464 Veyaness, Saanich, police said.

Import Duty

Travel Bite Eases

Tourists returning from trips to foreign countries will get a better shake next year in the way of duty payable, the district chief of port operations for the customs and excise department announced Friday.

District chief Don Smith explained tourists will have tariff exemptions of $200, under certain circumstances, instead of the present $100 when returning from outside continental North America and instead of $75 when returning from continental North America.

SIZE, WEIGHT

There are no longer restrictions on size and weight, Mr. Smith said. These restrictions were discontinued Oct. 1.

At the present time a person who has been absent from Canada for at least 48 hours will have a duty-free exemption up to $25, no oftener than four months from the date of the last exemption.

FROM CANADA

A person who had been absent from Canada for at least 14 days outside continental North America was allowed a duty-free exemption of $25 plus an additional exemption of $75 for goods acquired outside continental North America. But, when all or part of the $75 exemption was used, no further duty-free privileges were permitted for one year from the date of the exemption.

Starting Jan. 1, a duty free exemption of up to $25 will be allowed after an absence of 48 hours, no oftener than once each calendar quarter. This adds up to exemptions of $100 in one calendar year.

In addition, a duty-free exemption of up to $100 will be allowed after an absence of at least 12 days from Canada, no oftener than once in any calendar year.

ON JAN 1

This additional exemption applies to goods acquired in or out of continental North America, but tariff items may not be grouped to enjoy an exemption of $125 in one day.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the tariff changes which become effective on Jan. 1 refer to calendar quarters and calendar years.

"This means that all tourist exemptions made in the calendar year 1969 will be forgiven on Jan. 1, 1970," he said. "If a person files a tourist exemption on Dec. 17 he has only to wait until Jan. 1 to become eligible for the new exemption privileges, instead of four months or one year as previously."

Partly Because of a Mop

Jumbo get-well Christmas card received in Veterans' Hospital by Rod MacIntyre, 3801 Ascot, Saanich, is also command to hurry back to work. Mr. MacIntyre, who recently underwent surgery, is janitor at Fairburn elementary school. Pupils made card and signed 420 names to it. Pupil Robby Walker, 11, explained why they want him back on job: "He's kind. He lets us use the mop."—(Jim Ryan)

Hydro Lines Over Heads 'Pollution'

Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee fired the first shot Friday in what could become an area-wide war against B.C. Hydro's overhead power transmission lines.

At the instigation of Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis and his council, the committee decided to ask Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay to join with them in a strong protest against overhead wires and ask the utility to abandon its archaic outlook and go underground.

A letter to the committee from Mayor Curtis pointed out that Hydro was thinking in terms of overhead transmission for a number of major lines to be built up to 1980.

One of the first would be a connecting line between Goward and Horsey substations along Interurban Road.

The proposal was for 70-foot steel poles 300 feet apart. From Interurban the line would run along Burnside Road and into the city.

In 1968, the letter said, suggestions were made that Hydro proposed within the next 10 years to develop a substation on Kings Road in the Saanich Panhandle and another station on Gordon Head Road, adjacent to the university. Interconnecting overhead lines would be constructed between the George Tripp substation on Lochside Drive to Gordon Head, Kings and Horsey substations.

In support of his letter, Mayor Curtis said that the day was long past when municipalities should be forced to put up with overhead lines in urban and developing areas.

Burnside Road could in the next 20 years become a high-density apartment area, he said and then the cost of moving the lines would be fantastic.

Commenting that the 70-foot poles would be three times as high as a lamp standard, Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen said that when confronted with an overhead-underground choice, "the Hydro mind" just went higher.

City Manager Dennis Young observed the Ontario Hydro Commission had taken a whole new approach to the matter of power transmission.

★ ★ ★

The commission had evolved a new method of putting lines underground which cut down on the high cost.

B.C. Hydro knew of the Ontario development but contended that it was not proven.

"It seems to me," said Mayor Curtis, "that this is an issue which has to be carried into the public arena."

Mayor Stephen thought unsightly, unaesthetic power lines were as much a form of pollution as any of the others which occupied public attention.

Chamber Plans Annual Banquet

Saanich Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Christmas banquet at the Red Lion Inn at 7 p.m. Thursday. Jock Dunbar will provide entertainment accompanied by Jerry Bryant at the piano. A fashion show will be provided and the Kentones will supply dance music. Tickets are available from the directors or D. Hampton at 386-7032.

Area Cleanup Continues

New Gale Due Here Today

A new storm moving up the U.S. Pacific coast will hurl 45-mile-an-hour gusts across Juan de Fuca Strait today, hitting lower Vancouver Island early in the afternoon, the weather office said Friday night.

A full gale by normal standards, the fresh storm is not expected to reach the force that battered the Island Wednesday night and Thursday morning, flooding low areas and leaving long stretches of seawall and some housing in ruins.

That one has gone up north to batter the coast of Alaska, a weather office spokesman said.

Meanwhile, those hit hardest in the Greater Victoria area are still cleaning up the wreckage. The Ham family in Metchosin, who had invested their life's savings in a resort-camping ground only last September, had watched helplessly as the abnormally high tide accompanying the storm Thursday morning easily washed away or smashed more than half a dozen cabins.

Friends and other volunteers have been working to clean up the wreckage.

The weatherman said it should be raining steadily when Islanders rise for breakfast today, continuing all morning until the wind hits. Weather will remain unstable when the worst of it passes.

Easterly winds of 15 miles an hour will rise to 30 in places over the land, and on Juan de Fuca where a gale warning remains in effect, winds could reach 45 before noon.

Probers Praise Cool-Aid, Advocate Financial Help

A prominent Victoria doctor said in a report considered Friday by the Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee that a probe into the activities of Cool-Aid was "one of the most interesting and enjoyable pieces of work in which I have ever been involved."

Cool-Aid and the work it is doing in providing a haven for young people who have nowhere else to go has had its detractors in the municipal arena and has been subject to harsh criticism but Friday it got the unanimous support of intermunicipal representatives.

STRONG HOPE

The committee forwarded the "strong hope" that the 1970 intermunicipal council would continue to financially support Cool-Aid.

The lengthy evaluation of Cool Aid was made by Dr. R. J. Flanagan, Miss H. A. Ruckle and Mrs. Genieveve Ali.

The report described the Cool-Aid hostel on Balmoral Street and the Pacific Community Self-Development Society, the non-profit organization which receives and administers all the funds received for Cool-Aid, including the $3,000 intermunicipal grant and a matching amount from the provincial government.

Remainder of the report contained a condensation of interviews from many sources in the community.

SOME INCAPABLE

Continuing his report, Dr. Flanagan said that before undertaking the investigation he knew that there were some changes in the social attitudes of the community but was now aware of it and had a glimpse of their magnitude.

"I am also aware that our conventional methods and institutions, which some of us smugly say are all we need, are incapable of coping with some of these problems," the doctor said.

"These institutions are handicapped by their high degree of organization and red tape. Cool Aid's strength lies in being unstructured and its willingness to try to cope with any, and I do mean any, problems presented," he continued.

Dr. Flanagan said that he was pleasantly surprised to find that he could talk freely with young people who had different ideas than his and who dressed and lived differently. He did not feel that there was any generation gap.

The bulk of criticism of Cool-Aid came before July 17, 1969, the time a major upheaval in policy took place, the report continued. The issue seemed to be whether Cool-Aid would function within the law.

Dr. Flanagan did not think the organization was the whole answer to youth problems. There was a large sector as yet unreached. Included were those outside the law and hippie types who found even Cool-Aid too orthodox.

Some young people felt that Cool-Aid was abused and municipal police felt that Cool-Aid encouraged some young people to run away from home.

This view was attacked by Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen who said that it was not the presence of Cool-Aid which alienated young people from their homes but conditions in the homes.

He was, said the mayor, greatly encouraged by the report and especially by the observations of a responsible doctor.

If there was not an organization such as Cool-Aid, he continued, there would be no refuge at all for certain types of young people.

Cement Strike Called For Monday

BAMBERTON — Employees at the Bamberton plant of Ocean Cement Ltd. will join workers at a Burnaby cement plant in a strike on Monday.

The Burnaby plant is owned by Lafarge Canada Ltd. Alex Derry, vice-president and general manager of the company's western region, said strike notice had been served on the company and Ocean Cement by the United Cement, Lime, and Gypsum Workers International Union.

About 223 employees are involved in both areas.

Mr. Derry said it was believed to be the first strike in the B.C cement industry since its inception in 1912.

★ ★ ★

The current contract between the union and the companies provides for advance notice of strike action in order that kilns and other equipment may be shut down in orderly fashion.

Mr. Derry said that in addition to the union members, another 1,000 employees of the two companies would be directly affected.

Officials in the construction industry and a labor spokesman said a prolonged strike would adversely affect the province's booming construction industry.

"It may cause a holdup in some jobs but it shouldn't be to widespread," one industry source reported.

The company had offered the workers an increase of 72 cents an hour, or 20 per cent, spread over two years. The union sought a 24-per-cent increase or 87 cents.

In a statement Friday, Bruno Schachel, president of Local 277, at Bamberton, said about 150 workers would go on strike there at 6:30 a.m. Monday.

★ ★ ★

Mr.. Schachel said the union had been negotiating for a new contract for some time prior to the expiry date of the old contract on Oct. 31. A company offer was rejected by the membership before that date.

Members had voted 70 per cent in favor of a strike.

Mr. Schachel said the offer on wages and fringe benefits made by the company was not satisfactory. Clauses for provision regarding working conditions were not resolved, to the point where "our members were not convinced that the company intended to live up to its declared intent."

Union demands besides wages and working conditions also concerned vacations and one additional statutory holiday, he said.

Pensioners Prefer Hollywood

Film Board Fees Hard on Some

On New Year's Day the National Film Board will begin to charge fees for the loan of its films, leaving some regular greater Victoria movie borrowers in the lurch and others indifferent.

School dropouts at Colquitz Jail, for example, use NFB films as their only source of education, says Sister Eileen King, an instructor. "I don't think (the jail's) budget would allow for the continuation of films."

There will probably be budget problems for private film borrowers, who in the past could take home an armful of films to show in their own studios. One woman has borrowed from the Victoria branch of the NFB regularly as a substitute for commercial films which she considers unsuitable for children.

★ ★ ★

Others don't care. The Silver Threads organization longtime user of the NFB library, has "pretty well exhausted the supply," says organizer Mrs. Catherine Horne.

The four Silver Threads branches in Greater Victoria used to look at films once a week. Now they borrow from 20th Century Fox, which rents old favorite feature films for $25.

Even if the NFB had a larger supply, said Mrs. Horne, "I wouldn't agree to pay." Charging fees by the NFB is a "tax on a tax," she said.

Mrs. Horne also thinks today's trend in film making by the NFB is not what pensioners want anyway. "They're contemporary and off-beat, but that's not what we want."

The Silver Threads moviegoers switched to once-a-month viewing from once a week when the NFB supply was exhausted in September.

The NFB film library at 511 Wharf has about 1,000 films.

Some employees of the NFB have privately expressed opposition to the charging of fees, but press releases from the head office in Montreal say the fees are not high in comparison with other film libraries.

★ ★ ★

The move is in line with the government's austerity program, say the releases, and in accord with the policy of charging those who use government services a larger share of the cost.

Rates will vary with the length of films and the length of borrowing time. A maximum of $12 a day will be charged for films one hour long or more.

Films less than 10 minutes long will cost $3 a day; less than 20 and over 10 minutes, $4; less than 30 and more than 20 minutes, $5; less than an hour and more than 30 minutes, $8; one hour or more, $12.

Use of a film for two days will cost 1½ times the one-day rate. Use for three days will cost twice the daily rate. One week's use will cost 2½ times the daily rate.

The announcements also say that rental of "feature films" will vary with each title. Delivery by parcel post is included in the rates.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife works in a fine candy shop whose confections are nationally known. When Lena went to work there last year, she was told the store had a policy — employees can eat all the candy they want in the shop, but they cannot take even one piece home. Lena has gained 30 pounds on this job and she wasn't skinny to begin with. Now she is out of sight. I think I know what is causing her pigishness. Lena feels she is underpaid and she is trying to get even with her boss by eating up the profits. Also, whenever she gets mad about something, she eats a few pounds of chocolates to make herself feel better.

I once had a fat aunt whom I couldn't stand. My wife is getting to look more like that aunt every day. It is ruining our marriage. What's your advice? — Barney.

Dear Barn: Lena should get a job in a fertilizer plant, a glue factory, or a hardware store — any place where she won't be tempted to eat up the profits. She could also use some counselling, since it is obvious she is a compulsive eater.

□

Dear Ann Landers: I am 27 years old, attractive, have a wonderful husband, and to look at me you'd think I was the happiest woman in the world. But I'm miserable. Please listen to my story. If you think I am crazy, say so.

I married at 16 to get away from the home and hands of a filthy stepfather. I had seven babies in less than 11 years and they are all healthy and beautiful. My husband is the world's best. He comes straight home from work, helps with the children, doesn't drink or gamble and he never looks at other women. He is a good provider, very considerate and never lets a day go by without telling me he adores me.

My children keep me busy, but I still have time to dream. And what do I dream about? A real romance. I have never been in love and I resent being cheated out of life's most beautiful and exciting experience. At times I feel so guilty about not being in love with my husband that I become physically sick. Would I feel better if I confessed that I don't love him? I am — Depressed in Michigan.

Dear D.: I'm not sure you don't love him. Your adolescent fantasies have given you a false concept of love. You need to grow up, reshape your values and become aware of the good life you now have. Get some counselling.

Dear Ann Landers: To be perfectly honest, I doubted the value of your column till I read your advice on tranquilizers. I realized then how much good you do. I now know that your column can save lives.

I was given tranquilizers by my physician to get me through a marital disaster. Instead of going for periodic check-ups, I simply kept requesting refills on the telephone, which he granted. I didn't realize I was becoming hypersensitive, overemotional, argumentative, and unrealistic in my approach to everyday problems. Nor did I realize I was dangerously close to cracking up. A dear friend, during a bitter argument shouted, "For God's sake, those pills are making you a sick girl! See a doctor."

I did and it saved me. Please, Ann, tell your readers that a doctor can't watch every patient for personality changes. The patient and his family should be alert to behavioral changes and report them at the earliest moment. — Back To Reality.

Dear Real: Glad you're back. Thanks for the testimony.

Adultery Campaign Hint: 'Do It Without Hangups'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A group of young ladies who say they are "sex-starved" have protested on behalf of guilt-free adultery.

A half-dozen demonstrators held a bedsheet banner aloft calling for "successful adultery for the happily married man" during the unique demonstration Wednesday in the city's financial district.

★ ★ ★

"Married men should spread their favors around more evenly," Cecily Katz told the crowd that gathered around her.

"Admit it to yourself. You do commit adultery, anyway," she told the mostly married gentlemen in the audience. "Do it right. Do it without hangups."

★ ★ ★

The protesters were bombarded with requests for names and phone numbers, but Mrs. Katz, a beautiful Korean divorcee, told then, "I'm afraid you are not ready for a guilt-free affair. That's the whole point of our crusade."

Instead, the demonstrators sold copies of a paperback entitled "Successful Adultery for the Happily Married Man."

Mrs. Katz commented that she felt her own marriage would have been saved had both participants been able "to do away with selfish, possessive love."

She said that she wouldn't have felt jealous if her husband had strayed. "Why should I? As long as a wife gets her share of love, why should she begrudge her husband an extra measure of happiness?"

★ ★ ★

After all, she pointed out, two can play the game.

"Women are more romantic and just as erotic as men," she said. "They love being made love to on the grass on a sunny afternoon — when their husbands are at work and another eligible male could help out."

Sudden Death Softens Burglar's Conscience

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Mrs. Joanne Seipel's apartment was burglarized while she was away making funeral arrangements for her husband, killed in a car accident.

The next night, after news of her husband's death appeared in a newspaper, Mrs. Seipel received a telephone call from a man who said he was the burglar. He told her he was sorry to hear of her husband's death and would try to return everything he took.

Tuesday, Mrs. Seipel found a television set, some papers and jewelry behind her garage. Some valuables were gone, but she said the burglar had told her he sold some of the loot and it might take time to get it back.

Manpower Policy Criticized

VANCOUVER (CP) — For manpower, read male power.

That's the message delivered Friday to a Vancouver-area Manager's Conference of Canada Manpower, from the Vancouver women's caucus.

In a four-page brief, the caucus says Canada Manpower does not exist for the benefit of women and says women are discriminated against politically, socially and economically.

The brief asks:

- An immediate end to job classification by sex, with all jobs listed and offered on the basis of qualification only.
- All training courses to be open to women.
- The adoption of an educational program to erase prejudice against the hiring of women in all occupations.

DOROTHY WROTNOWSKI

It was a double celebration of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club Friday — the annual Christmas carol tea and the celebration of the club's 60th anniversary.

Mrs. Leslie Macdonell, president, gave an interesting resume of the club's history from 1909 until the present day.

Norma Selwood and Barbara Ebell delighted the audience by singing Christmas songs. They were accompanied by Frances Crampton, who later played a Chopin selection.

The ballroom looked very festive with a Christmas tree and huge red bells strung along the walls. The head table was decorated with gilded greenery, poinsettas, holly and a bowl of red carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Special guests were Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. Hugh Stephen, Mrs. G. R. Pearkes, Dr. Margaret Newton and Mrs. H. L. Smith.

Others at the head table were Mrs. W. Redford, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. R. R. Jeffels, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. P. J. Sinnott, Mrs. Fred M. Corbett, Mrs. Bruce Brown, Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. H. H. Youson, Mrs. W. G. Flett, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Mrs. T. C. Hamilton, Mrs. R. G. McKee and the guest artists.

It wasn't all carol singing and drinking tea — there was a lot of chit-chat, too. You would be surprised if I told you who told me that Lady Godiva put everything she had on a horse.

□

The Saanich Chamber of Commerce annual Christmas party at the Red Lion Thursday evening was a gay and fast-moving affair.

There wasn't much speech-making but what there was of it was good. Brian Roberts, introduced by president John Hicks, gave the Christmas message and I for one, wished he had talked a little longer. Can't say that too often.

Jock Dunbar, that incorrigible character, sang several selections as fashions from Woodward's were shown with Joan Fraser commentating.

Key Figures at Canadian Club Tea

Key figures at the 60th-anniversary Victoria Women's Canadian Club tea Friday at the Empress were Mrs. W. Davenport, left, first vice-president; Mrs. Leslie Macdonell, president, and Mrs. P. J. Sinnott, second vice-president. Mrs. Sinnott was in charge of the decorations and tea arrangements. See Dorothy Wrotnowski's column.

Husband Blames Fake Fingernails In Wife's Death

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A Wadsworth, Ohio, man has filed a $100,000 wrongful death suit in federal court, blaming the manufacturer of artificial fingernails for the death of his wife.

E. William Neiser charged his wife, Marjorie, became ill from using fingernails made by Bishop Industries Inc. of Union, N.J., in December, 1967.

According to the suit, Mrs. Neiser followed instructions for use of the fingernails, but suffered severe itching on her hands and fingers. She was a professional organist.

The suit said Mrs. Neiser's own fingernails became diseased and fell out. It added that she underwent treatment, but the artificial fingernails had "aggravated a pre-existing but dormant cancerous condition, finally causing her death."

Ald. Edith Gunning will open the Trinity Presbyterian Church bazaar today — the first event to be held in the new church hall at the corner of Tillicum and Walter.

Doors will open at 11 a.m. and lunch will be served at 11:30. A coffee bar will be open at the same time and will remain accessible during the afternoon.

A nursery will be operated from 11 in the morning until 3 p.m. and there will also be a nook for the children with hotdogs and a film showing.

There will also be home baking, good used clothing, Christmas and white elephant stalls.

Proceeds will go toward the $60,000 owing on the new hall. The guild has already raised $20,000 toward the cost.

Anne McLean is taking a pretty dim view of the way the TB Christmas Seal Campaign is being run. For years she has received the seals and has sent a donation to the TB Fund.

This year she received the seals as usual. Anne says she hadn't got round to sending her donation when she received a card in the mail asking for a donation and a request to disregard the notice if said donation was already in the mail.

'Most Stuck Together'

"Just like a bill," says Anne. "When you don't even ask for the seals. And this year most of them were stuck together and I couldn't use them.

The Victoria Musical Art Society is making a break from the usual this Christmas. The annual carol tea is being held in Craigdarroch Castle on Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 6 p.m.

This is the first time the Christmas tea has been held in the Castle and the board members are putting on the affair themselves.

Mrs. D. Thirlwall, Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. J. Durand, Mrs. D. Abbott, Mrs. Lily Wilson, Mrs. J. B. Clearihue, Mrs. David Groos, Mrs. Robin Wood and Mrs. M. Hendry will preside at the tea table.

The program will include songs by Norma Selwood, Barbara Ebell, First United junior choir, directed by Mrs. Florence Neederman, singing of carols and organ music.

There will be a silver collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Warren, Mrs. Marjorie Reynolds and Paul of Victoria and Mr. L. P. McLachlan of Shawnigan Lake have recently signed the register in British Columbia House in London.

British Board Ban Bewilders

Pill Callers Jam Phones

LONDON (AP) — Bewildered women swamped the switchboards of Britain's family planning clinics Friday, seeking advice about which contraceptive pills are safe to use.

Many were alarmed by Thursday's recommendation of the government's drug safety committee that doctors should in future prescribe only 11 of the 30 brands of pill now available. Some pills which have a high estrogen content could cause side effects such as blood-clotting, the committee said.

★ ★ ★

The confusion of women who wanted to change the pills they were using for others was made worse because the Family Planning Association, which alone has some 400,000 women taking the pills, advised against the use of two types of pill the committee had approved.

Caspar Brook, London director of the Family Planning Association, said he had made a rush print order of 500,000 leaflets to be distributed to worried women at 950 FPA clinics throughout the country.

An association spokesman said: "We accept the Drug Safety Committee's findings and we also accept that the 11 makes of the pill are less likely to cause blood clotting side effects than those with a high estrogen content. But this does not mean they are as effective."

Two kinds of pill marketed under the names of Normanton and Verton contained no estrogen at all but they were rejected after trials by the association's council for the investigation of fertility control.

A spokesman for the Oral Contraception Information Centre, which represents many pill manufacturers, said the findings of the drug safety committee should make for a safer pill.

Skimp on Lunch

By MARY SUE MILLER

What is a weight-watcher to do at this time of year? Turn away from tables laden with fantabulous party fare? Or go on a spree and gain back the weight it took so long to lose?

There just might be a middle ground. A would-be loser might hold the line by curtailing one meal a day. She might even lose a bit if, in addition, she enjoyed a feast without overindulging.

The logical meal to skimp on is luncheon. It must not be breakfast as you need sustenance to begin the day. On quiet nights at home, it could be the evening meal. Noon or night, menus must not exceed 300 calories. As ideas:

- Bowl of chicken noodle soup, 2 saltines, large apple.
- Fresh pear, stuffed with cottage cheese (4 tbsp.) on lettuce leaves; small slice angel cake.
- Cup clear beef bouillon; broiled mushrooms on thin slice toast; lemon jello.
- Poached egg with one slice bacon on ½ toasted hamburger roll; ½ grapefruit.
- Broiled ground beef pattie (¼ lb.) with broiled slices 1 small tomato; 2 melba longs; level scoop coffee ice cream.
- Tuna fish (½ cup) on lettuce dressed with capers, pimiento and dashes of lemon juice; 2 slices flat bread; Seckel pear.

Beverage? Coffee, tea or skim milk. Be sure to count the milk's 88 calories.

Gertrude E. Moore

Service Honors Camp Pioneer

Memorial services for Gertrude E. Moore, 75, of 1025 Linden — the founder of western Canada's first private camp for girls — will be held at 2:15 p.m. Monday at McCall Brothers family chapel.

Rev. Robert Moses will officiate at the service for Miss Moore, who died Tuesday in Victoria, and cremation will follow the ceremony.

Born in Toronto, Miss Moore served as recreation director for T. Eaton Company there until 1927 when she came west to become physical education director at the Vancouver YWCA. From 1935 until 1945 she was in charge of women's physical education at the University of British Columbia.

She opened her own camp for girls near Nanoose Bay on Vancouver Island in 1934. The camp was named Moorecroft, after her own family's homestead in Ontario.

In 1939 Miss Moore was instrumental in forming the B.C. Camping Association, a branch of the Canadian Association.

Moorecroft was sold to the United Church of Canada upon Miss Moore's retirement to Victoria in 1959.

Santa One-Sided For U.K. Girls

LONDON (UPI) — If a survey published Friday is correct, about 400,000 British girls are in for disappointment when they give their boyfriends Christmas presents this year.

The odds are they will get no presents in return.

The survey by a firm called Marketing Economics showed 71 per cent of British girls between ages 14 and 24 buy their boyfriends Christmas presents — but only 53 per cent of the males reciprocate.

When the boy does come through, he is a bit more generous, the report shows. It said the male buys a present worth an average of $5.76, whereas the girl limits her spending to an average of $5.40.

Drivers, Firm Pay For Rest-lessness

WARLEY, England (UPI)—Forty-three drivers for the Midland Red Bus firm chipped in to work overtime to keep buses running during a labor shortage last June. Thursday, they paid for it—to the tune of $2,064.

That was the amount of their fines when a court found them guilty of 353 charges of driving without 10 hours of continuous rest in every 24-hour period as required by law.

The company was fined $1,238 for letting them do it.

Move Avoids Ouster

Greece Quits Council

PARIS (UPI) — Greece withdrew under fire from the 18-nation Council of Europe Friday, heading off a threatened vote on suspension of its membership.

Greek Foreign Minister Panayotis Pipinelis said the pullout would have no effect on Greece's participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defence network.

"No, definitely not," replied Pipinelis when asked at a news conference if the withdrawal signalled a change in Greece's relations with NATO.

Pipinelis announced Greece's withdrawal to the council's committee of ministers after unsuccessfully appealing to the committee for "understanding" of the Greek military regime's efforts to overcome the nation's political difficulties. A motion before the committee, sponsored by 11 nations, called for the suspension of Greece from the council as a violator of basic human rights.

The Council of Europe is an advisory body created in 1949 in response to British wartime leader Sir Winston Churchill's call to war-Shattered Europe to unite and is dedicated to the safeguarding of human rights and improving co-operation among European governments and peoples.

Prior to the meeting of the committee of ministers, Greek officials had hinted Greece's ouster from the Council of Europe might rebound on Europe's overall defence strategy.

The United States has been criticized by some of its western allies for resuming arms supplies to Greece, a key part of the Mediterranean defence network, since the military-backed coup 30 months ago.

Ocean Smorgasbord: Slugs Are Delicacy

By NANCY BROWN

Open up a giant barnacle, scoop out the insides with a spoon, and eat raw.

"Quite messy but tasty," according to naturalist Wayne Campbell.

Boil young bracken fronds and use as asparagus.

"If you don't like them throw them away and use the solution to paint your roses and kill aphids," he told an audience of about 300 Friday night.

Dried yarrow leaves can be used to make tea. (yarrow is a herb of the aster family).

★ ★ ★

"Drink sparingly or you may end up confined to home for a while," he told an audience of Girl Guides, university students and adults, attracted to Newcombe Auditorium with the promise of a seashore smorgasbord.

Parts of starfish are edible.

"Cut off the ray, open it up and take out the eggs. Pick them up and down the hatch just like that — I never chew them," the recreation and conservation department naturalist confided.

"Seafood is rich in Vitamin C, Vitamin B1 and iodine," he consoled.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Campbell's slide show of gourmet life in forests and on seashores of the West Coast was punctuated by sample tasting sessions.

Kelp pickle, dried seaweed, and abalone hors d'oevres led up to the gustatory climax of raw oysters.

Two Girl Guides volunteered as oyster tasters, bribed by abalone shell gifts.

"Eat bivalves when there's an R in the month — or on the advice of parks or fisheries branch," warned Mr. Campbell. "Otherwise you could get a paralytic disease which would be disastrous."

★ ★ ★

All seaweeds are edible with the fronds usually eaten raw.

They must be picked fresh. "Check that they are securely anchored before picking — they decompose quickly," according to chief chef Campbell.

Slugs are a delicacy, even giant ones.

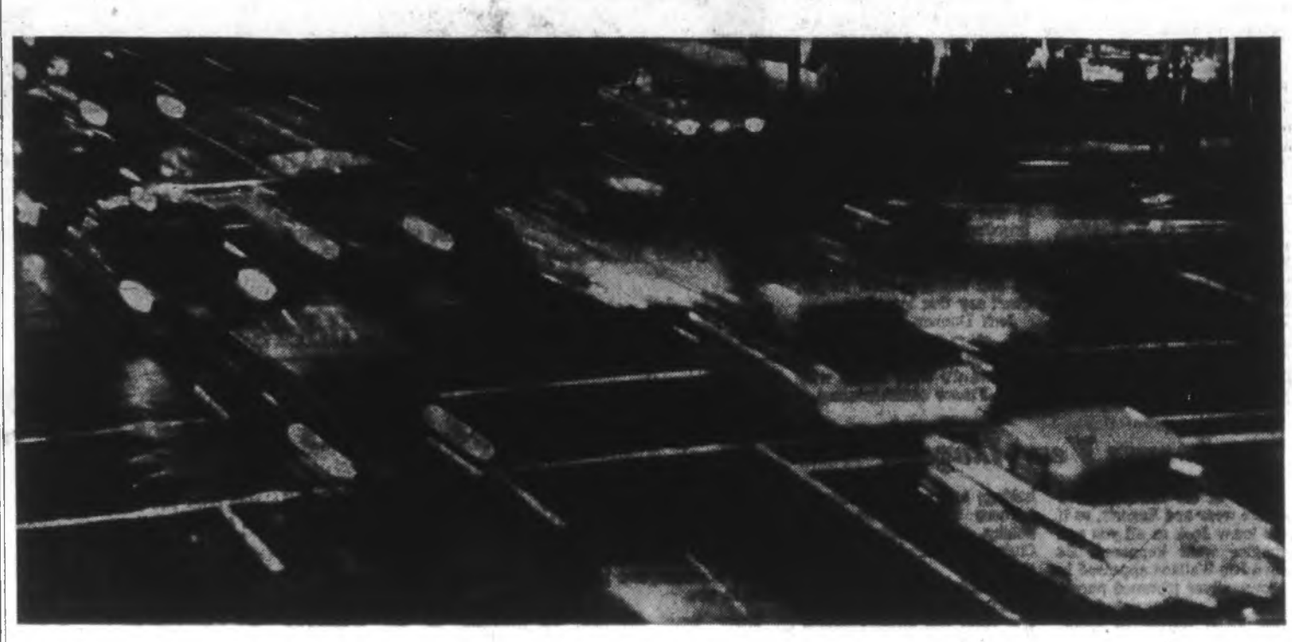

"Boil them for five minutes in sea water," Mr. Campbell advised.

All B.C. snails, both shore and ocean varieties are edible. Boil 10 minutes and twist out with a pin.

"Minced rock clams and bacon in pancake mix make fritters — the greatest treat there is."

Goose neck barnacles taste just like lobster.

"One lady had to put on her sunglasses before she tasted it and agreed with me," said Mr. Campbell, who has been a naturalist at Long Beach on the West Coast.

The new British Columbia Automobile Insurance Plan

For the first time in Canada, a new concept in compulsory automobile insurance that places the emphasis on people...pays claims quickly, regardless of fault... and provides the highest accident benefits of any Canadian province. Any questions?

Q. When does compulsory insurance become effective?
A. January 1, 1970. It will be illegal to operate a vehicle on any public road in British Columbia on or after that date without compulsory personal liability insurance to a minimum of $50,000, and accident benefits.

Q. What is the penalty if I drive without the insurance?
A. A fine of not less than $250, or imprisonment of not less than three months, or both the fine and imprisonment.

Q. Will existing insurance policies include accident benefits?
A. Yes, all liability policies will automatically be extended to include these benefits effective January 1, 1970, until the policy expires.

Q. If I do not own a car, do I need the insurance?
A. Not if you are personally driving an insured car with the consent of the owner. The owner's policy will cover you.

Q. How will I buy the insurance?
A. Through your insurance company or agent. It is the type of insurance that has changed and not the method of purchase and payment. The Government of British Columbia is not involved in the sale or administration of the insurance plan, only with the conception and enforcement of it.

Q. Can I buy more than $50,000 coverage?
A. You can buy any additional amount through your insurance company or agent.

Q. What are the benefits?
A. By using insurance dollars to compensate people the Plan provides the people of British Columbia with the highest accident benefits of any province in Canada.
- The medical and rehabilitation coverage pays medical, surgical, dental, hospital, professional nursing services over and above those you can recover under hospitalization or medical plans or laws.
- It includes ambulance, some drugs, artificial limbs and training in how to use them, dental work, speech therapy, physio-therapy and an ever-growing number of techniques becoming available to assist in rehabilitation following injury.
- The limit of the amount payable is the limit the policyholder has selected for third party liability, regardless of the number of insured persons.
- The coverage also pays $500 funeral costs.
- Death benefits are based on a capital sum of $5000 and include a number of additional payments depending on the status of the deceased and the number of dependents.
- Both the immediate death benefit and weekly benefit paid in the event of the death of the family provider, increase 20% for each dependent after the first one.

Q. As an example, what are the benefits if the 45-year-old head of a household is killed leaving a dependent widow and two children?
A. The surviving family would receive an immediate cash payment of $5000 (the basic capital sum), plus $2000 (additional capital sum) plus $70 a week for 104 weeks for a grand total of $14,280. If both father and mother are killed leaving two dependent children, the benefits would total $20,860. Your insurance company or agent can explain what the benefits would be in your own particular coverage.

Q. What happens if I am totally disabled?
A. If you are a wage-earner, (male or female), you will receive between $40 and $50 a week for 104 weeks, payable after the first week. At the end of 104 weeks, if it is established that you will remain totally disabled, the weekly benefit will continue until age 65. After age 65 the benefit will be reduced by the amount you receive from the old age pension or Canada Pension Plan.

Q. Is a housewife also covered?
A. There is a special provision for housewives with no gainful employment. They will be paid $50 a week for 26 weeks if unable to perform household duties. This is to help defray the cost of additional help in the home.

Q. What happens if the accident is my fault?
A. All accident benefits will be paid immediately no matter who is to blame. They apply to all occupants of the insured car and to the policyholder, his wife and dependents (if they are living in the same dwelling), and, with minor exceptions, will also apply while riding in other vehicles. They also apply to any pedestrian struck by the insured vehicle and to the policybolder and his family when they themselves are pedestrians.

Q. Who pays for repairs to my car?
A. There is no change from the present. If you have collision coverage, your insurance company will pay for the damage repairs less the deductible as stated in your policy. If another driver is responsible for the damage, a claim can be made against him.

Q. Will I be protected when I travel outside British Columbia?
A. British Columbia residents travelling in other areas of Canada and the United States will have full protection for claims of bodily injury or property damage. Your new policy will also protect you from injury caused by an uninsured motorist.

Q. Are tourists protected?
A. If you collide with a car belonging to a tourist, your new policy will protect the tourist vehicle and its occupants as well as yourself and your own car and occupants.

Q. Can I or my survivors recover more than $50,000 minimum personal liability?
A. If the injured person or surviving family feel they have not been adequately compensated and that the other driver was at fault, they have the right to seek further recovery from the person responsible or from that person's insurance company. It is important to remember that there is no change in the law of negligence as it is applied to bodily injury or property damage.

Q. Will the Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund go out of business?
A. It will continue to protect British Columbians, both drivers and pedestrians, up to $50,000 against hit and run drivers, the drivers of stolen cars, etc.

Q. To sum up, what are the chief advantages of the new insurance plan?
A. 1. To emphasize that the prime purpose of insurance is to take care of people.
2. To ensure that money paid in insurance premiums is available quickly when needed by those who suffer injuries (or survivors in the event of death).
3. To free the insurance industry to settle swiftly the great majority of claims without reference to law or fault, and without interfering with an individual's right to sue.

Your Insurance Company or agent will be in touch with you about your new policy, its provisions and the rates you will be required to pay. If you do not presently have insurance but plan to operate a vehicle in British Columbia you should arrange for this insurance without delay. Remember it is illegal to drive an uninsured motor vehicle. Contact your insurance company for full information.

The plan commences January 1, 1970

BRUCE LOWTHER
AbouTV

"Stay tuned for the exciting second half of today's game."

BUREAU OF USELESS INFORMATION: Friday's answer — I don't know who ordered Claude Rains' words about concentration camp ovens blipped out of Judgment at Nuremberg on Playhouse 90 in the 1950s. But I do recall that the sponsor was the American Gas Co., which may have been blameless.

Today's question, ending this week about commercials, deals with one of the most famous of all. It plugged Anacin, showed a head containing three boxes and then promised fast fast fast relief. Remember it? Then try to remember what was in each of the three boxes in that poor guy's head. Answers Tuesday.

Saturday Highlights

● C-11:00 a.m.—The debut of CBS Children's Hour, a drama series designed to improve Saturday morning viewing. First is a boy-and-cat story and, if you don't support better shows like this, you'll get Fantastic Four forever—7, 12.

● C-5:00 p.m.—Another showing of the best Peanuts special, A Charlie Brown Christmas—12.

C-5:30—Frosty the Snowman, a new Christmas cartoon—12.

C-6:00—A rerun of Portrait's Lee Marvin profile—12.

C-9:30—Hollywood Palace's king is Flip Wilson—4.

Saturday Sports

C-10:00 a.m.—The Liberty Bowl is the first of the post-season games: Alabama vs. Colorado—4.

C-12:00 noon—NFL, Baltimore at Dallas—2, 6, 7, 12.

C-1:00 p.m.—AFL, Kansas City at Oakland—5.

C-1:30—The Camellia Bowl: North Dakota State vs Montana. The two leading small colleges—4.

C-4:30—Films of the recent George Chuvalo-Jerry Quarry and Joey Durelle-Donato Paduano fights—8.

C-5:00—NHL hockey, Chicago at Montreal—2, 6.

Saturday Movies

9:00 a.m.—Trapped in Tangiers (putrid 1960 Edmund Purdom). Let's change the title: Loused Up in London, or Pinioned in Paris. And think of Victoria!—11.

10:45—Dakota Incident (fairish 1956 western), Linda Darnell, Dale Robertson. Dragooned in Dakota?—11.

2:00 p.m.—The Capture (fair 1951 adventure), Lew Ayres, Teresa Wright. The KTVW film is tired—13.

2:30—Maybe a movie, maybe Steve Allen—11.

4:00—Joe Dakota (rotten 1957 western). Joed in Dakota? —7.

C-6:00—Man Alone (1955 western, far too psychological), Ray Milland. Many dogs today—11.

C-9:00—Return from the Ashes (1965 postwar drama, good cast, poor results), Maximilian Schell, Ingrid Thulin, Samantha Eggar—5.

C-9:00—Silent Night, Lonely Night (new made-for-TV romance), Lloyd Bridges, Shirley Jones—8.

9:00—Darby's Rangers (cruddy 1958 war junk), James Garner and the entire Warners' stable—12.

C-11:15—Best of Everything (1959 soaper, worst of the day), Hope Lange, Stephen Boyd, many other victims—4.

C-11:15—Silent Night, Lonely Night (see 9:00)—6.

11:15—Wild Is the Wind (witless 1957 romantic drama), Anthony Quinn, Anna Magnani. Too much pasta—8.

C-11:30—The Plunderers (1960 western), Jeff Chandler, John Saxon. If I've seen it, I've forgotten it—7.

11:30—Devil Doll (poor 1964 horror)—11.

● 11:30—Inherit the Wind (superb 1960 Scopes trial), Fredric March, Spencer Tracy, great support—12.

C-11:35—Wheeler Dealers (nauseating 1963 romantic-comedy), James Garner, Lee Remick. Watch her if you must, but turn down the sound—2.

1:00 a.m.—Dear Murderer (fairish 1947 English perfect crime), Eric Portman, Dennis Price. It isn't—4.

1:05—Saturday's Millions (1933 football foney), Robert Young and the unforgettable Johnny Mack Brown—5.

1:30—Just Across the Street (dumb 1952 romance)—7.

1:30—Glory Alley (barely bearable 1952 boxing), Leslie Carson, Ralph Meeker. How about Gonged in Glory Alley? —12.

1:30—Race for Life (terrible 1955 automobobble)—13.

3:00—Saint in New York (1938 bore). Haloed in Harlem?—7.

4:30—Magnificent Ambersons (good 1942 Orson Welles). It's late, but as long as you're up—7.

Saturday Radio

1:00 p.m.—The Metopera series, which returned last week, involves recordings from past seasons until the orchestra strike ends. Today: Mozart's Cosi Fan Tutte—CBU (690).

2:00—A profile of ballet's Serge Diaghilev—CBU-FM (105.7).

3:30—Silence, a Harold Pinter play—CBU-FM.

8:00—The CBC marks the 50th anniversary of the CNR with some railroad folk songs—CBU.

8:05—Gala Performance includes the voice of Lawrence Tibbett. It's been many years—CFMS (98.5).

Sunday Highlights

WARNING: NET's Forsyte Saga may not be seen tonight due to Channel 11's SuperSonics game. If so, the missing episode will be on next Sunday.

C-6:00 p.m.—David Frost has an hour special showcasing English comic Tommy Cooper—11.

C-7:00—Second run in this area of a new version of Hans Brinker, with Richard Basehart, Eleanor Parker, John Gregson, Cyril Ritchard—5.

C-7:30—First run this season of the fair Christmas cartoon How the Grinch Stole Christmas—8.

● C-9:00—Wayne and Shuster's second special this season. If you saw the first, you'll remember Goodbye Columbus. Hilarious—2, 6.

● 9:00—The Toy That Grew Up features three Mack Sennett comedies from 1915 and 1916—9.

Sunday Sports

C-10:00 a.m.—NFL football, LA at Detroit—7, 12.
C-10:30—AFL, New York at Miami—5.
C-11:00—NFL, teams not reported—2, 6.
C-1:00 p.m.—AFL, Buffalo at San Diego—5.
C-1:00—NFL, San Francisco at Minnesota—7, 12.
C-7:00—Pro basketball, Seattle at LA—11.

Sunday Movies

C-10:00 a.m.—Zarak (1957 Victor Mature loves Anita Ekberg). We have here the sourest lemon, ripest turkey and snarliest dog of all time—11.

2:00 p.m.—Ma and Pa Kettle (1949 Percy Kilbride loves Marjorie Main). Y'know, I'm getting old enough so Marj looks as good as Ekberg. Sometimes—2.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Skill at cards does not depend on some innate gift, as some people think. Many players who are now experts began as quite poor performers and have improved by attending to certain principles which have stood the test of time.

One of these principles is that if you have two possible lines of play, you should try to assess which line offers the better percentage chance.

In this deal you are at three no trump and a spade is led. You can count on three tricks in hearts and two in spades, and you therefore have to develop four tricks in clubs or diamonds.

You can afford to lose the lead only once, for then the opponents' spades will become established. Accordingly, you have to decide which minor suit to tackle—you do not have time to go for both suits.

You cannot make four tricks in clubs unless the queen is in West's hand, a straight 50 per cent chance. On the other hand, to make four tricks in diamonds you will need a 3-2 break of the outstanding cards.

It is a mathematical fact that, in the absence of any special circumstances, five cards in the defenders' hands are likely to divide 3-2 about 68 per cent of the time. So the best chance, undoubtedly, is to force out the ace of diamonds.

Not all percentage plays are as simple as that—but a good many of them are. Incidentally, you should memorize the 68 per cent figure: you really do need to know it.

WE MANAGE PROPERTY
A NEW DEPARTMENT AT ROYAL OAK PROPERTIES
Yes we are trying to set the world on fire! In the last year, we accomplished:
1. New larger premises
2. Doubled the sales staff
3. Tripled insurance sales.
If you have need of conscientious property managers, we'll collect your rent, look after maintenance service—keep the tenants away from you — get you wholesale replacements — etc. etc. We'll be glad to come to see you and discuss your property management problems. Apartments, duplexes, homes.
Service is our motto

SOUTH OAK BAY FULL PRICE $27,900

Most houses consist of this, that and the other, period. This South Oak Bay house is different, because it consists of whatever YOU want. Its adaptability makes it unique. As it stands, it has charm, elegance and individuality. In addition to practicability, including a work-free garden with raised beds, pools and waterfalls. It also has wall-to-wall carpets, bookshelves, place to sleep, eat and wash. Work-shy people will love it. BUT if you want a house to play with — if you want to change things, like pinching the den-library for another bedroom, the house is designed to be rearranged. It's adaptable, remember? This is getting complicated, I think you better see the place — by appointment only, of course.

BORDER!
The plan of this attractive home is a little different and the result is very pleasant. A large and very bright side by side kitchen and dining area is separated completely from the comfortable living room where an attractive fireplace with brick from wall-to-wall, warming you while you relax in complete seclusion from the working areas of the home. Essentially a 2 bedroom home, there is a large room that can either be a large utility room or a small bedroom. 2 more rooms are in the full basement. The property is in an excellent location and nicely landscaped. Asking $25,950.

Campbell River Probe

Economic Picture Drawn by Survey

CAMPBELL RIVER — Campbell River municipal council has been told about the third phase of an economic development study which a management consultant team has been preparing for the municipality and surrounding areas.

Barry McDougall and Donald Murray of P. S. Ross and Partners of Vancouver said that the initial impetus for the study came from the provincial government which would share its costs with the municipality.

Mr. McDougall said that Campbell River was the first municipality in B.C. to take advantage of the proposal, and Comox-Strathcona was among the leaders in regional districts requesting such a study.

FIRST PHASES

The first two phases of the survey are concerned mainly with the local regional district and were discussed with a study committee Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Murray explained to council that the study presented an outline of the economic picture for the district and the prospects for expansion. The collection of facts contained in the study was primarily for information of industries interested in locating in the district.

The outline contains the text of a promotional brochure for Campbell River.

Purpose of the study is to assist in implementing a workable economic development program and offer recommendations.

It was emphasized that real implementation of the study lay with the people of Campbell River, its elected leaders, businessmen and representatives of industries already located in the area.

The study calls for expansion of existing industry, new industrial promotion, development of tourism, development of commercial and service industries, and community development.

He recommended to council that an industrial development committee be established, composed of aldermen, businessmen and individuals. There should be an elected chairman, and appointment of committees and sub-committees to deal with the various facets of a nine-point program.

Mr. McDougall said that a full community program was essential to get results. He suggested, as a start, a committee of four council members and three citizens. To keep costs at a minimum the committee could make use of the municipal offices for meetings, with clerical assistance from municipal staff members.

CHAMBER GRANT

Estimated costs of the program would be approximately $13,000 a year, which included a $3,000 grant allotted to the chamber of commerce for that purpose.

Ald. Wallace Baikie deplored lack of interest by local businessmen in the chamber of commerce.

He said: "The merchants don't seem to be interested in the chamber. How are we going to interest them in anything else?"

Mayor Kenneth McDonald said: "I don't think we will have any difficulty in getting committee members, particularly from local industry. They have shown a keen interest and desire to see this project work.

"I believe we have an obligation to serve the north end of Vancouver Island," he went on, "and we should be prepared to do this."

Ald. Sandra Baikie felt that the municipality should make its own plans for development of the district without outside help from strangers.

Won't it develop by itself anyway?" she asked.

Mr. McDougall said: "Every industry that locates has been wooed in a dozen different ways. People really have to get out and hustle for industries. The field is highly competitive and unless you get out and go after it you won't get the industries. You have to be on the list of places to locate. Until they know about you, you won't get on their list of prospective sites."

Mayor McDonald felt that Campbell River was losing opportunities for development through lack of such a program.

Constitution Study Due

SPEC Link Suggestion Tabled at Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — When members of Campbell River Pollution Society met recently, they decided to table a motion that the group should join the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control until their January meeting.

Chairman David Brown said that was done primarily to give members an opportunity to thoroughly study the constitution and provincial set-up of SPEC.

Following the decision Herbert Power, an executive member of SPEC said that he regretted deferment of the issue because he felt that time was of the essence.

Mr. Power, who has circulated a statement stressing the accelerating pace of contamination and calling for support of a pollution and environmental control organization, said that it had been signed by all practising physicians in Campbell River and a large number of teachers and educators.

Conservationist Roderick Haig-Brown stressed the importance of not becoming static through one provincial organization in case that type of body failed to accomplish its objectives.

Mr. Haig-Brown said that the present generation was a differently oriented type of generation. It was not so concerned with conquering the forests and wild lands of North America as its forefathers but was concerned about preserving a quality environment.

He said that the society must be careful in its approach to pollution problems and not waste time on things that were not yet established as being of major detriment to the environment.

Fifteen directors, including four high school students, were elected. A chairman and executive officers will be chosen later.

Company Fined $750 In River Debris Case

GOLD RIVER — Tahsis Co. was fined $750 in Gold River Provincial Court Wednesday.

The company pleaded guilty to a charge, brought by the B.C. Wildlife branch, that it caused debris to be placed into the Oktwanch River.

The river is a salmon-feeding stream which flows into Muchalet Lake.

Giving judgment, Judge E. R. Haig-Brown said it would be advisable to keep such areas clean in the future and not wait for the wildlife branch to lay charges.

War Against Pollution

'Political Pledge Needed'

DUNCAN —Unless political candidates in all levels of government were forced by millions of people to make the fight against pollution their prime concern, pollution of land, sea and air would continue.

That was what Duncan newspaper publisher Andy Bigg told members of Duncan branch of the Society of Pollution and Environmental Control during a meeting Thursday night.

He said: "Connected with pollution is power and a lot of power is the power of industry which is the power behind the country. People can shake this power if every man and woman will pledge never to vote for a political candidate who does not make pollution a very strong plank in his platform."

Mr. Bigg suggested that to make that pledge meaningful, future political candidates would have to give their pledge against pollution in writing.

Mr. Bigg stated that governments may ignore individual attempts to get rid of pollution but it would be impossible to ignore millions of people because politicians were very concerned with people.

He felt Duncan SPEC should aim to start a campaign to collect 17,000,000 names of people who will pledge never to vote for a candidate not concerned with pollution and "then no government would ignore you."

★ ★ ★

Mr. Bigg outlined his single handed campaign against MacMillan Bloedel in the Alberni Valley at the beginning of 1966.

He said: "If you take on the battle against pollution you will find that it is a most soul-rendering battle."

Mr. Bigg said that he amassed material and facts in the Alberni Valley campaign, organized a silent protest march of 400 people, arranged various events to raise money and finally, with a delegation of 28 people, went to Victoria to present a brief to three cabinet ministers.

"After we had spoken to the ministers, I was convinced they would do nothing."

Following the first public meeting in the Alberni Valley, the company announced it would spend $1,000,000 to battle pollution.

Mr. Bigg stated that, considering the large profits of the company, the proposed amount was negligible and pointed out that it would cost $17,000,000 to correct the smoke and smell in the valley.

He said Canada needed industry but no industry should be allowed to operate unless a pollution-free operation was guaranteed.

"Don't let any company tell you it cannot be done."

In Mexico, he said, a pulp mill was forced by the president to check smell and smoke. At a California pulp mill, the effluent was filtered through ponds the last of which was life-sustaining for salmon fry.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Bigg suggested the government should employ a pollution warden who would shut down every operation which did not meet strict pollution control regulations.

"Nobody, for instance, would dare to question the authority of a game warden and this type of authority should also be applied to a pollution warden.

"If I burned old tires in my backyard, creating an offensive smell, I can guarantee you I would be told to stop it immediately by the city inspector. I cannot see that there should be two different laws — one for the wealthy industry and one for the ordinary Joe," he said.

Mt. Douglas Drops Opener

VANCOUVER — Vancouver College Irish defeated Mt. Douglas Rams, 70-53, Friday in the opening game of the four-team, high school boys' basketball tournament at Burnaby Central High School.

Nick Gallagher led the winners with 21 points and Jim MacKay was the Rams' top scorer with 19. Jim Hunter added 15 to the Mt. Douglas total.

Mt. Douglas meets the loser of a Burnaby Central—North Burnaby game in the consolation final tonight.

Giants Busy With Two Trades

(SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— San Francisco Giants unloaded two veteran pitchers and a utility outfielder in two trades Friday.

The Giants sent Bob Bolin to Seattle Pilots and got outfielders Steve Whitaker and Dick Simpson in return. Then they traded Ray Sadecki and outfielder Dave Marshall to New York Mets for two other utility players, infielder Bob Heise and outfielder Jim Gosger.

Footballers Get Awards

Six members of the K.C.'s, Vancouver Island bantam football champions this year, received special awards at the annual Knights of Columbus football banquet Friday in Columbus Hall, 734 Fort.

The six are Sean Flynn, best all-around player; Lawrie Garrett, most valuable; Mike Shannon, leading offence player; Mike Baier, leading defence player; Doug Shea, most improved, and Jim McCreesh, sportsmanship.

Brothers Hold Whales

PENDER HARBOUR — Three fishermen reported Friday they had captured nine, possibly 10 killer whales, in the waters of Pender Harbor.

Brothers Cecil and Darby Reid said they cornered four of the whales Thursday and five or six more were caught Friday morning by colleague Bill Cameron. They were unable to count the swimming whales.

What the men intend to do with the whales hasn't been made clear. The Vancouver Aquarium already has two, but officials said aquariums elsewhere have expressed interest in acquiring specimens.

No. 3—112th YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1969 — 10 CENTS DAILY 15 CENTS SUNDAY

Ottawa Austerity Hits Ruthlessly

By DIANE JANOWSKI

The federal government wrote an obituary Friday on more than 68 years of service when it told six research scientists at the Forest Research Laboratory here their services now were considered "surplus."

"I would have been retiring a year from today," said 64-year old Vernon Phelps, a research director who has been with the department of fisheries and forestry since 1936.

"Now, not only am I going to have a pension that's 21 per cent smaller than I'd been counting on, but I'll have almost a year's less wages."

Dr. Joe Baker lost his right eye, most of the sight in his left and most of the hearing in his left ear when an experiement at the lab blew up two years ago and the emergency shower that might have saved his left eye didn't work. He thought then things were as bad as they could ever be.

"This is as bad as the people who fought in the war and got all broken up and then came home and everyone told them they didn't want anything to do with them," he said.

Dr. G. P. Thomas, director of the B.C. Forestry Region, said he sympathized with those who had been declared "surplus," but stressed they had not actually been laid off yet.

"Their names will now be put on a public service list and and if any vacancies occure in the next two months for which they are qualified, they'll have first chance at them," he said. "If they haven't been placed at the end of that time, they'll be given 30 day's notice."

Dr. Thomas admitted there were few opportunities for forestry professionals, especially at this time of year, but still noted that "an awful lot can happen in 90 days."

Knowing that his name will be kept on a list that might find him another position isn't cheering Joe Baker very much, but it means even less to Dr. Phelps.

Forest Lab Largest In Canada

A national revamping of the Canadian Forestry Service will turn the Forest Research Laboratory on West Burnside Road into the largest in Canada within three months, it was announced Friday.

"The Victoria laboratory has been allocated the largest manpower in Canada," said Dr. G. P. Thomas, director of the British Columbia region of the Canadian Forestry Service.

"If you add the staff from the forest products research lab in Vancouver to the Victoria manpower, it means that 20 per cent of the total in federal forestry will be in B.C. now."

OF TOTAL

Eleven professionals and 11 non-professionals currently employed in other Canadian forestry regions will be moved to the Burnside lab, beginning early next month when the first scientist arrives here.

"Some will, of course, be coming from the Winnipeg lab whose staff is being cut to six," Dr. Thomas said, "but the rest will be coming from elsewhere in the country.

"Quite a few of these are very well-qualified, productive, young scientists, among the best in the country, and they'll just be transferring their energies to British Columbia."

NEW WING

A new wing on the existing main building which was to have been built in the 1970-71 fiscal year but was postponed indefinitely when a federal curb on capital expenses was announced in September, will still not go ahead, but Dr. Thomas said he felt the present facilities would be adequate for now.

"We'll be bulging at the seams, but we can make immediate arrangements to accommodate everyone," he said. "We'll have to make more provision for expansion, maybe

Big Tanker Torn Open By Blast

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The 207,000-ton Dutch Shell super-tanker Marpessa was torn by an explosion and swept by fire Friday in the Atlantic on her maiden voyage.

Capt. E. J. Stapper ordered his crew to abandon ship shortly after the decks were torn open by the explosion as the Marpessa sailed about 170 miles northwest of Dakar, Senegal.

TWO MISSING

The captain and six officers stayed aboard but two Chinese officers were missing, messages reaching here said.

Those who abandoned ship were taken aboard the 42,082-ton British Shell tanker Serenia and the tug Alcyon.

A spokesman said the tanker later signalled that the fire had died down, but the deck was split in several places.

The Marpessa, one of the latest additions to the Shell Oil fleet, was sailing in ballast from Rotterdam to the Persian Gulf. She was built in Japan only three months ago and had a crew of 42.

Five Children Die in Blaze

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Five children, four of them from the same family, died in a fire which swept a third floor tenement in the city's Fairmount section.

Air Controllers Seek A Mandate to Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — The national council of the 1,000-member Canadian Air Traffic Control Association has unanimously rejected a conciliation board report and is seeking a strike mandate from the membership.

William Hill, association first vice-president, announced the decision in an interview Fridy.

"The board's recommendations have been unanimously rejected by the national council and we are now going to the membership requesting a strike mandate."

NOON MONDAY

Details of the board report will not be made public until noon Monday. However, it is known there were about 50 outstanding items left with the board.

Hill referred to "eight or 10 gut issues" separating union and government treasury board negotiators. The strike recommendation means union officials feel the issues were not resolved by the conciliation report.

Hill said that, despite the council bid for strike authorization, the membership could choose to accept the board report.

The 11 national councillors would be spreading out across Canada almost at once to call meetings of the association's 22 branches, he said.

The board report, other items on which tentative agreement had been reached and the council recommendation would be presented to the membership. Votes would then be taken.

Hill estimated results would be returned here by late Monday or Tuesday at the latest.

STILL POSSIBLE

Should the membership reject the report and grant strike authority, national officers would be under no obligation to call a strike. However, they would be in a legal position to do so as of next Friday afternoon, Dec. 19.

There remains a possibility that the disputants or Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board which oversees federal-employee bargaining, might seek post-conciliation mediation.

Spokesmen for the treasury board and transport department declined to comment on either the conciliation report or the association's rejection of it. Both said the noon Monday embargo had been accepted by government negotiators and comment might infringe this.

High-Flying Snooper Nets Two

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Two men were arrested after a truck firm operator spotted a strange car on one of his work sites from the air.

Peter Heppner of Chilliwack, checking work sites, turned his plane around, landed at Chilliwack airport, drove to the police station, then accompanied a policeman to the scene.

Benjamin James, 38, of Chilliwack, and his brother Richard, 24, Friday pleaded guilty in Provincial Court to theft.

Admiration Shown In Glance

Detective Invaded Privacy

By NANCY BROWN

Possession of a private investigators' licence does not make the invasion of a person's property lawful, nor does it make invasion of a person's privacy justifiable, according to a precedent-setting judgment handed down Friday in B.C. Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice P. D. Seaton awarded $1,000 damages to school custodian John George Davis, 1138 Oxford, who had filed suit under the new provincial Privacy Act against John M. McArthur of Can-Am Investigations, a private detective agency at 483 Burnside.

It was the first action taken under the act.

DIVORCE EVIDENCE

Mr. McArthur had been hired by Mrs. Davis to investigate the conduct of her husband in the hope of obtaining divorce evidence.

The case was heard Nov. 20 in Victoria and judgment was reserved at that time.

Defence counsel Edmund Jorre de St. Jorre said Friday an appeal is being considered.

PRIVACY ACT

The Privacy Act was introduced into the B.C. Legislature in January, 1968, by former attorney-general Robert Bonner who at that time said the act represented a first in Canada, and perhaps a first in the Western world. The act was passed later in the session.

Mr. Justice Seaton dismissed a claim by J. S. deVilliers, counsel for Mr. Davis, that a "bumber beeper" attached to the car Davis was driving constituted eavesdropping.

BY PERSON

"If the device transmitted or recorded voices so that they could have been heard by the person alleged to be invading privacy, I have no doubt that would come within the term 'eavesdropping.'

"This device merely identified the location of the car, and I

Hijackers Killed By Guards

ATHENS (Reuters) — Airline security guards early today shot and killed two young men who tried to hijack an Ethiopian Boeing 707 jetliner while it was flying to Addis Ababa from Madrid.

A Greek police spokesman in Athens said the two were a 19-year-old student from Yemen and a 24-year-old businessman from Senegal. He did not name them.

First reports said the men were slain before entering the cockpit after they said they wanted the pilot to take them to Aden.

BODIES ABOARD

When the plane landed at Athens Airport, the remaining 15 passengers were taken to a hotel. Besides the passengers, there were three security men and seven crew aboard the Boeing.

The bodies of the two hijackers were still aboard the aircraft.

"The airline refuses permission to the police to take the bodies," the police spokesmn said.

It was believed to be the first time hijackers had been killed while attempting to seize an airliner in mid-flight.

HEARD TWO SHOTS

The pilot of the plane said he heard two pistol shots and was told by a stewardess that two men had attempted to hijack the plane but the security guards aboard had killed them.

Airline officials told police they wanted to continue the flight to Addis Ababa with the bodies on the grounds that Greek authorities have no jurisdiction in the case.

KILLED ON SPOT

He said the plane's security men saw the two would-be hijackers standing up and trying to make their way to the cockpit.

"They attacked them and killed them on the spot," he added.

Only the Angels Know If Santa Will Pay Visit

SCENE: A shabby midtown flat; a tiny boy in patched coveralls plays with a broken top as his mother leafs through some unpaid bills.

Boy: "Mama . . . how come the angels do that?"

Mother: "Do what, dear?"

Boy: "Take my daddy away like that."

★ ★ ★

Mother (trying to hide her feelings): "I don't know, dear. It is something only the angels can answer. There is supposed to be an answer for everything."

Boy: "The angels won't take Santa Claus away, will they?"

(The mother remains silent. This might be the time to say maybe the angels would do that. It would be a way of explaining things if Santa didn't show up. Trying to provide for herself and her son since the death of her husband had proved difficult. But she knew her son would see the Christmas presents of other children.)

The "500" Fund

Mother: "I think Santa will come, all right. But don't expect him to bring too much. There isn't so much to go around to all the little children this year."

At this time of year Santa gets a little help for cases like this from the Colonist 500 Fund. This is the 13th year Colonist readers have contributed through the fund to brighten the Christmas of 500 Greater Victoria families selected by the Christmas Bureau, a Community Chest agency.

Four Bombs Explode in Milan, Rome

By CHARLES W. BELL

ROME (UPI) — Four bombs exploded in central areas of Milan and Rome at the height of the evening rush hour Friday, killing 13 persons and injuring 108 others in Italy's worst terrorist attack since the Second World War.

The most devastating blast occurred in a crowded, third-floor waiting room of Milan's national bank of agriculture, where the 13 were killed and 90 others injured. A bomb in a bank in Rome injured 14 persons, and two bombs that exploded almost simultaneously at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Rome injured four persons.

Police said another bomb was discovered before it exploded in a second bank in Milan. It was in a handbag left near an elevator.

There was no indication of the motive for the bombings or of the persons or groups responsible, but Italy has been shaken for months by labor strikes and violence. Police in Milan reported rounding up 150 persons for questioning. A police spokesman said they were extremists "of all ideologies."

Shortly after the series of blasts, which were almost simultaneous, Premier Mariano Rumor appeared on television to appeal for calm and order. Pope Paul issued a statement describing the explosion in Milan as a "horrendous massacre."

Police said the Milan explosion was caused by a bomb of approximately 13 pounds of explosives that had been placed under a table in a waiting room of the bank.

In Milan, people thought the

Jerry Quarry reels across ring from force of Chuvalo blow

Chuvalo Topples Quarry

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Chuvalo, his right eye grotesquely closed for most of the fight and blood streaming down his body, unleashed a desperation punch in the seventh round to knock out Jerry Quarry Friday night when the unsteady Californian was unable to hear the count.

The doctor was ready to stop the bout at the end of the round but Chuvalo, 32, fighting strictly on courage after being blinded in one eye in the fourth round, threw the punch that knocked Quarry across the ring and to the canvas.

Zach Clayton started the count, and Quarry squatted ready to arise on any signal from the referee. But the count reached nine and then 10 with Quarry still on one knee, and Clayton waved that it was a knockout.

The ending of the scheduled 10-rounder was one of the most dramatic and confused in years at Madison Square Garden, and the crowd surged to ringside to cheer, jeer and try to find out what had happened.

★ ★ ★

Quarry stormed around in protest, and Garden officials said they would try to rematch the two as early as possible with all thoughts of a title bout with Joe Frazier wiped out by the drama.

It was the 48th knockout of Chuvalo's career and ran his record to 56-15-2 over a 13-year career. Quarry, 24, had his record drop to 33-4-4. Chuvalo weighed 217 pounds compared to 201½ for Quarry.

The fight was brutal and bloody until the knockout with a second left in round seven with Chuvalo and Quarry both using street tactics, butting, hitting on the break, using elbows and low blows.

Several times Clayton warned them, and Chuvalo once clutched his groin after a low punch. But no points were deducted.

Quarry got a slight nick by his right eye in the second round, but he opened a bloody gash under Chuvalo's right eye at the bell in the fourth round and went to work on the wound to close it early in the fifth.

★ ★ ★

It became obvious that it was only a matter of time before the bout would be stopped after Dr. Harry Kleiman conferred with Clayton at the end of the sixth round.

With blood streaming, Chuvalo did a weird dance at the finish while his manager, Irving Ungerman, hugged him. Quarry's cornermen stormed into the ring to protest.

Next games: Tonight — VICTORIA at Kelowna; Kamloops at Penticton.

PENTICTON—A strategic move by coach Doug Anderson in the second period paid off later in the winning goal as Victoria Cougars took a hard-fought 7-6 victory from Penticton Broncos to open a B.C. Junior Hockey League road trip.

The win enabled Cougars to hold their five-point edge over second-place Vancouver Centennials, who scored a 5-1 decision over Vernon Essos at Vancouver.

At the seven-minute mark of the second period, Anderson benched defencemen Laurie Moore and Dale Pennock because of inadequate play. He went the rest of the game with three defencemen — regulars Randy Bock and Gerry Bond, plus Murray Kennett, moved back from a forward spot.

BOCK GETS WINNER

And each of the three scored a goal while playing extra time, Bock getting the winner at 17:35 of the third period to cap an exciting seesaw contest.

Anderson had to go with 16 players. Pat Askew was forced to stay in Victoria due to university exams and Ted Plowe worked all day. Plowe flew to Penticton, reaching the arena at 9 p.m., but Anderson had to go without him because he wasn't sure the plane would be on time.

TOPS IN LEAGUE

Penticton got the first goal but Victoria led 3-1 after the first period thanks to Bruce Cowick, Moore and Scott Munro. The third goal came on a power play and was Munro's 18th, high in the league.

In the six-goal second period, Penticton tied it at 3-3 before Kennett got his goal at 7:22, after the double benching. Broncos got two more and Cougars one, by Lon Miles, making it 5-5 going into the final period.

ON POWER PLAY

Bond scored unassisted at 2:04 on a power play before Kerry Moss of Penticton got his second goal of the night while Cougars were short a man. Victoria killed a two-man-short situation later, and then came the winner.

Bond and Chris Riddell brought the puck up the ice, Riddell passing to Bock as the latter burst through a hole in the Bronco defence. Bock got around the last defenceman and hit the lower left-hand corner from close in.

Penticton outshot Victoria, 43-27.

In Vancouver, Ray Todd had two goals and two assists for Centennials. Other Vancouver scorers were Larry Simons, Neil Murphy and Alex Dick while Wayne Dye replied for Vernon.

Decision on Protests Promised by Dec. 20

PENTICTON (CP) — The president of the British Columbia Junior Hockey League will announce a decision Dec. 20 concerning four games involving Kamloops Rockets protested by different league clubs.

Rockets won games with Victoria Cougars, Vancouver Centennials, Vernon Essos and tied with Kelowna Buckaroos from Nov. 1 to 11. Each club protested that Kamloops used ineligible players.

League president Howie Hamilton said delay in announcing a decision was "mostly my fault."

"I've been busy but we'll clear the whole thing up at a league meeting here Dec. 20."

Players considered ineligible were Wayne Gibbs, Ernie Wurmlinger and Andy Laramie, who joined Rockets from Calgary Centennials of the outlaw Canadian Hockey Association. Opposing clubs contended they were not duly registered for Kamloops at the time the four games were played.

The three were later registered and have continued to play for Kamloops.

Life No Cherry Bowl — Rarely Injury-Free

Star Smiles Through Rain

Jean Beliveau

MONTREAL (CP) — To the average fan or young hockey hopeful, life has been a bowl of cherries for big Jean Beliveau.

Beliveau himself, now 38 and in his 17th season with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, has helped create that image with a fluid style of play and an easy off-ice affability.

A casual check of NHL records shows the many honors he has won over the years.

CRACKED BONE

But look again. The games-played column also shows that pro hockey can be an injury-filled career.

Beliveau found out Thursday that what was first diagnosed as a sprain was in fact a cracked ankle bone—an injury that will force him out of action for nearly three weeks.

The Canadiens' captain was injured last Saturday night when Barry Gibbs, Minnesota North Stars defenceman, fell on Beliveau's left leg after a routine collision along the boards. Beliveau was rushed to hospital for x-rays, but was released when no bone break showed.

He missed Sunday and Wednesday games, tried to practise Thursday and could not skate. Then he went back to hospital for more x-rays. The second trip showed the break and he now has the ankle in a cast.

SET PATTERN

Beliveau broke into the league in the 1953-54 season as one of the most heralded rookies of all time. He had become a legend in Quebec amateur hockey circles before the Canadiens finally lured him to the pro fold.

In his first season with the NHL club he suffered a broken leg and a broken jaw that forced him to sit out 26 games. The first season apparently set a pattern.

Only twice since then has he played a full season free of serious injury: in the 1954-55 season and again the next year when the full schedule was 70 games.

ASSORTED ILLS

In 1956 57 Beliveau missed one game, but the next year he sat out 15 with fractured ribs. He missed six games with assorted ailments in 1958-59 and then for the 1959-60 season was on the sidelines for 10 more with pulled groin and stomach muscles.

The 1960-61 schedule saw the 10-time all-star miss one game, but he was off to a bad start the next season when he injured his knee in training camp and missed 27 games.

BRUISED BONE

He missed one game the next season and two in 1963-64 when he again won the Hart Trophy.

A knee injury knocked the six-foot, three-inch centre out for 12 games in 1964-65. He missed three the next year, and then the 1966-67 schedule saw him displaced for 13 games by an eye injury and four more by a groin pull.

During regular 1967-68 play a knee injury knocked him out for 15 games and in the Stanley Cup against St. Louis Blues he suffered the same kind of ankle problem he is nursing today.

Last season Beliveau sat out one game with a bruised bone in the hand and six more with a groin injury.

This season he has been well below par—although he missed only one game prior to the ankle injury—with a condition which was described as weariness.

He played only briefly in several games on the way to working back into a fairly full measure of health before the latest mishap.

Oakland Seals defenceman Carol Vadnais, whose 115 penalty minutes are far ahead of his nearest competitor in the National Hockey League this season, drew a major and a minor Friday — plus two goals and one assist.

His three points led Seals to a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh Penguins at Oakland in the league's only Friday game. Vadnais scored in the first and third periods, and kept busy in the second by getting into a fight with Pittsburgh's Tracy Pratt as the period ended.

Gary Jarrett, on a power play, and Billy Hicke also scored for Seals as they won the game with three first-period goals. The result put Oakland only two points behind fourth-place Philadelphia.

Campbell Decrees Auditorium

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League said Friday night the new Buffalo entry must play in Memorial Auditorium.

Campbell ruled out Erie County's proposed new domed stadium as a playing site for the team.

Increased attendance capacity, better lighting and other improvements in the Auditorium were among the conditions on which award of an NHL franchise to Buffalo were hinged.

Summonses Issued Now

OTTAWA (CP) — Summonses have been issued by provincial court for hockey players Ted Green and Wayne Maki to appear Dec. 18 to answer charges of assault causing bodily harm, court clerk Dal Dupuis said Friday.

The two National Hockey League players were charged after a Sept. 21 exhibition game here between Boston and St. Louis in which Green of Boston Bruins suffered a depressed skull fracture requiring emergency surgery. Green is still recuperating.

Dupuis said the summonses have been sent to U.S. police agencies but he could not say whether they have been served on the two players.

Olivares Retains Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World bantamweight champion Ruben Olivares of Mexico City blasted Alan Rudkin, the British Empire champion from England, into submission in two minutes, 30 seconds of the second round Friday night to retain the crown of the 118-pound division.

The sensational 21-year-old titleholder, who weighed 117½, signaled the quick end when he floored the 28-year-old challenger for the first time in his seven-year career in the first round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

Olivares, scoring his 28th straight knockout and 52nd in 54 fights, polished off the game Briton with a succession of lethal lefts and rights, starting the bombardment almost as soon as the second round began.

Defensive Star for Texas Loses Leg Week After Game

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fred Steinmark, a punt return specialist who helped lead Texas to its epic 15-14 win over Arkansas a week ago, lost his left leg Friday in a battle to save his life threatened by cancer.

Doctors said the cancer in Steinmark's ailing leg was a socoma tumor, the fastest spreading type, and the defensive back had no chance to live without the amputation.

A spokesman for the hospital said there was no guarantee that all the cancerous tissue was removed, but that doctors were hopeful.

"The boy is in great spirits," the spokesman said. "He is a fine boy — real inspiration."

Steinmark's teammates sent carnations in the form of "No. 1."

"It is a shock to all of us," said Coach Darrell Royal. "It's just hard to believe that it happened but it is one of those things that you have to accept, that you have to try to understand.

"It is unbelievable that a boy who played starting safety last week could have this happen to him so soon," Royal said.

DISCOVERED MONDAY

Steinmark complained of pain in his leg after the Arkansas game and the tumor was discovered Monday when an x-ray of his leg was taken at the school clinic in Austin.

The doctors told the 20-year-old junior his leg might be amputated if a malignant tumor was found.

Steinmark came to Texas from Denver, and started last year in the Longhorn defensive backfield. He picked off five passes during the season.

He also was a punt return specialist and last year led the Southwest Conference in punt returns, bringing back 25 punts for 177 yards.

Comox Players Capture Titles

Canadian Forces Base Comox players took the open titles and CFB Esquimalt players won the veterans championships in the two-day Canadian Armed Forces Zone 1 badminton championships completed Friday at CFB Esquimalt.

Tom Barnes defeated Al Simmons of CFB Holberg, 18-15, 15-13, to take the open singles title and combined with Wayne Green to win the doubles title over Bill King and Norm Lucas of CFB Chilliwack, 18-15, 17-16.

Merv Hunter of Esquimalt took the veterans singles championship, defeating CFB Comox's Bob Greenlaw, 15-1, 15-6. The veterans doubles title was won by Esquimalt's Ken Mitchell and Jack Strachan, who downed Carl Hiesinger and Bill Branch of Chilliwack, 15-10, 15-13.

Representing Zone 1 (British Columbia) at the national finals at CFB Shearwater, Nova Scotia, January 29 to 31, are the five champions, King, Simmons, Branch and George Seakins of Chilliwack.

Opening Descent Clinches Victory

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — Michele Jacot of France made two almost flawless descents down the tricky slopes Friday and beat out America's Barbara Cochran for the women's special slalom title in the Criterium of the First Snow ski competition.

The event counts in the Alpine World Cup standings.

The 17-year-old French girl clinched the victory with her brilliant opening run, clocking 33.58 seconds. Her combined time was 1 minute, 12.88 seconds.

Miss Cochran, from Richmond, Vt., clocked 1:13.10 for second place with Florence Steurer of France third in 1:13.25.

That performance placed the American girl in a tie with Miss Jacot in the individual ladies' World Cup standings, each with 40 points. Miss Cochran had finished third in the ladies' giant slalom Wednesday.

Betsy Clifford of Canada placed ninth in 1:16.84.

Nanaimo Committee Entertains Businessmen, Clubs

Young People Seek Aid in Firehall Plan

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — A dinner at Nanaimo Vocational Training School Thursday night was possibly unique in Canada, guest were told by Mladen Zorkin, an adult director of the Committee for the Advancement of Youth.

The committee had invited about 50 people to a dinner which was cooked by the school's culinary arts class.

"Where else would you find a group of young people, 18 years mostly, who invited the leading businessmen and service club representatives out to dinner," asked Mr. Zorkin.

After the dinner and some songs by members, who turned away from traditional dinner clothes for bell-bottom trousers, and bright, modern colors, guests received a brochure which showed the preliminary estimates put the cost of renovating the old Nanaimio fire hall at $15,000.

The committee proposed that the Greater Nanaimo area help by providing $10,000 and that its members would find the balance, mostly through volunteer work.

Ed McGougan, another adult advisor, traced the nine-month history of the committee's attempts to obtain the firehall and build the organization into one which would benefit both young people and adults.

★ ★ ★

He admitted there had been difficulties and internal fighting.

He and Glynn Davies, also an adult advisor, submitted letters of resignation three days before Halloween because of alleged misconduct by committee president Jim Morgan.

Later they decided to remain after Mr. Morgan, junior members and adult advisors had discussed problems.

Mr. McGougan said the difficulties had arisen because of poor communications.

★ ★ ★

"I think they (CAY members) really put in a tremendous effort trying to communicate with the adult world. They got involved with society — so much so that I'm sad to say that the adult world let them down to the tune of $450," Mr. McGougan said.

He said CAY was formed, not to be just an organization to which young people could belong, but one that would benefit all young people. He said there had been various problems discussed from drugs, drinking, sex and family to fears of nuclear warfare.

★ ★ ★

"We have to trust our children. At the same time, we have responsibilities to feed them the data for decision-making," he said.

He added that the use to which the committee hoped to put the old firehall was "a resource that is much needed in this community."

"The Canadian Council of Youth and Children is watching this group because it is the first entirely youth-sponsored society. If successful, it will be another first for Nanaimo," he said.

★ ★ ★

Mr. McGougan, senior probation officer for Nanaimo, said that there had been 42 young men sent to jail last year at a cost of $5,500, compared annually with the $15,000 needed by the committee.

He said the old firehall would not keep all young men from going to jail in the future but that it would do a vital part in reducing the number.

★ ★ ★

Architect Jim White told members that he had offered to help them but they had not shown up at his office.

He said he suspected their $15,000 estimate was too high because they were not expert at getting the best prices for materials and would not know how to pare their budget down to necessities.

He referred specifically to the fact that they had estimated the total conversion costs when the money-making area was the ground floor.

He suggested they meet with him to plan how to make the old hall usable without violating conditions imposed by Nanaimo city council.

Provincial Court Judge William Philpot answered those who had asked what the committee had done so far.

"It was my duty to be on the bench the Saturday following Halloween. I was apprehensive, knowing what had happened the year before," he said.

The 1968 Halloween produced a near-riot at Northbrook Mall when more than 12 young people faced charges of being members of an unlawful assembly and assault charges. Many more were picked up and held in custody until parents arrived.

"There was not one juvenile the following day this year. I asked the officers who had been on duty and they told me it was not what the police or adults had done but what the youth did themselves," he said.

Students Stage Gym Protest

Education Minister Donald Brothers was confronted with student picket line Friday when he went to open Wellington junior high school. Pupils were campaigning for gymnasium. There were about 25 signs and about 50 children picketing. Mr. Brothers also opened two elementary schools in the city. He said he was seeking more co-operation from school boards on efficient use of schools. He also gave the students in three schools Monday off. — (Klaus Muenter)

Campbell River Probe

Economic Picture Drawn by Survey

CAMPBELL RIVER — Campbell River municipal council has been told about the third phase of an economic development study which a management consultant team has been preparing for the municipality and surrounding areas.

Barry McDougall and Donald Murray of P. S. Ross and Partners of Vancouver said that the initial impetus for the study came from the provincial government which would share its costs with the municipality.

Mr. McDougall said that Campbell River was the first municipality in B.C. to take advantage of the proposal, and Comox-Strathcona was among the leaders in regional districts requesting such a study.

FIRST PHASES

The first two phases of the survey are concerned mainly with the local regional district and were discussed with a study committee Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Murray explained to council that the study presented an outline of the economic picture for the district and the prospects for expansion. The collection of facts contained in the study was primarily for information of industries interested in locating in the district.

The outline contains the text of a promotional brochure for Campbell River.

Purpose of the study is to assist in implementing a workable economic development program and offer recommendations.

It was emphasized that real implementation of the study lay with the people of Campbell River, its elected leaders, businessmen and representatives of industries already located in the area.

The study calls for expansion of existing industry, new industrial promotion, development of tourism, development of commercial and service industries, and community development.

He recommended to council that an industrial development committee be established, composed of aldermen, businessmen and individuals. There should be an elected chairman, and appointment of committees and sub-committees to deal with the various facets of a nine-point program.

Mr. McDougall said that a full community program was essential to get results. He suggested, as a start, a committee of four council members and three citizens. To keep costs at a minimum the committee could make use of the municipal offices for meetings, with clerical assistance from municipal staff members.

CHAMBER GRANT

Estimated costs of the program would be approximately $13,000 a year, which included a $3,000 grant allotted to the chamber of commerce for that purpose.

Ald. Wallace Baikie deplored lack of interest by local businessmen in the chamber of commerce.

He said: "The merchants don't seem to be interested in the chamber. How are we going to interest them in anything else?"

Mayor Kenneth McDonald said: "I don't think we will have any difficulty in getting committee members, particularly from local industry. They have shown a keen interest and desire to see this project work.

'OUR OBLIGATION'

"I believe we have an obligation to serve the north end of Vancouver Island," he went on, "and we should be prepared to do this."

Ald. Sandra Baikie felt that the municipality should make its own plans for development of the district without outside help from strangers.

Won't it develop by itself anyway?" she asked.

Mr. McDougall said: "Every industry that locates has been wooed in a dozen different ways. People really have to get out and hustle for industries. The field is highly competitive and unless you get out and go after it you won't get the industries. You have to be on the list of places to locate. Until they know about you, you won't get on their list of prospective sites."

Mayor McDonald felt that Campbell River was losing opportunities for development through lack of such a program.

Wildlife Expert Named

Ian Smith, who has served for 1½ years as special projects biologist for the fish and wildlife branch of the recreation department in Victoria, has been appointed regional wildlife biologist for the Vancouver Island region.

Mr. Smith will be responsible for wildlife management and research programs on the Island and the Queen Charlotte Islands. He will be located in Nanaimo.

War Against Pollution

'Political Pledge Needed'

DUNCAN —Unless political candidates in all levels of government were forced by millions of people to make the fight against pollution their prime concern, pollution of land, sea and air would continue.

That was what Duncan newspaper publisher Andy Bigg told members of Duncan branch of the Society of Pollution and Environmental Control during a meeting Thursday night.

He said: "Connected with pollution is power and a lot of power is the power of industry which is the power behind the country. People can shake this power if every man and woman will pledge never to vote for a political candidate who does not make pollution a very strong plank in his platform."

Mr. Bigg suggested that to make that pledge meaningful, future political candidates would have to give their pledge against pollution in writing.

Mr. Bigg stated that governments may ignore individual attempts to get rid of pollution but it would be impossible to ignore millions of people because politicians were very concerned with people.

He felt Duncan SPEC should aim to start a campaign to collect 17,000,000 names of people who will pledge never to vote for a candidate not concerned with pollution and "then no government would ignore you."

★ ★ ★

Mr. Bigg outlined his single handed campaign against MacMillan Bloedel in the Alberni Valley at the beginning of 1966.

He said: "If you take on the battle against pollution you will find that it is a most soul-rendering battle."

Mr. Bigg said that he amassed material and facts in the Alberni Valley campaign, organized a silent protest march of 400 people, arranged various events to raise money and finally, with a delegation of 28 people, went to Victoria to present a brief to three cabinet ministers.

"After we had spoken to the ministers, I was convinced they would do nothing."

Following the first public meeting in the Alberni Valley, the company announced it would spend $1,000,000 to battle pollution.

Mr. Bigg stated that, considering the large profits of the company, the proposed amount was negligible and pointed out that it would cost $17,000,000 to correct the smoke and smell in the valley.

He said Canada needed industry but no industry should be allowed to operate unless a pollution-free operation was guaranteed.

"Don't let any company tell you it cannot be done."

★ ★ ★

In Mexico, he said, a pulp mill was forced by the president to check smell and smoke. At a California pulp mill, the effluent was filtered through ponds the last of which was life-sustaining for salmon fry.

Mr. Bigg suggested the government should employ a pollution warden who would shut down every operation which did not meet strict pollution control regulations.

"Nobody, for instance, would dare to question the authority of a game warden and this type of authority should also be applied to a pollution warden.

"If I burned old tires in my backyard, creating an offensive smell, I can guarantee you I would be told to stop it immediately by the city inspector. I cannot see that there should be two different laws — one for the wealthy industry and one for the ordinary Joe," he said.

Constitution Study Due

SPEC Link Suggestion Tabled at Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — When members of Campbell River Pollution Society met recently, they decided to table a motion that the group should join the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control until their January meeting.

Chairman David Brown said that was done primarily to give members an opportunity to thoroughly study the constitution and provincial set-up of SPEC.

Following the decision Herbert Power, an executive member of SPEC said that he regretted deferment of the issue because he felt that time was of the essence.

Mr. Power, who has circulated a statement stressing the accelerating pace of contamination and calling for support of a pollution and environmental control organization, said that it had been signed by all practising physicians in Campbell River and a large number of teachers and educators.

Conservationist Roderick Haig-Brown stressed the importance of not becoming static through one provincial organization in case that type of body failed to accomplish its objectives.

Mr. Haig-Brown said that the present generation was a differently oriented type of generation. It was not so concerned with conquering the forests and wild lands of North America as its forefathers but was concerned about preserving a quality environment.

He said that the society must be careful in its approach to pollution problems and not waste time on things that were not yet established as being of major detriment to the environment.

Fifteen directors, including four high school students, were elected. A chairman and executive officers will be chosen later.

Brothers Hold Whales

PENDER HARBOUR — Three fishermen reported Friday they had captured nine, possibly 10 killer whales, in the waters of Pender Harbor.

Brothers Cecil and Darby Reid said they cornered four of the whales Thursday and five or six more were caught Friday morning by colleague Bill Cameron. They were unable to count the swimming whales.

What the men intend to do with the whales hasn't been made clear. The Vancouver Aquarium already has two, but officials said aquariums elsewhere have expressed interest in acquiring specimens.

Cement Strike Called For Monday

BAMBERTON — Employees at the Bamberton plant of Ocean Cement Ltd. will join workers at a Burnaby cement plant in a strike on Monday.

The Burnaby plant is owned by Lafarge Canada Ltd. Alex Derry, vice-president and general manager of the company's western region, said strike notice had been served on the company and Ocean Cement by the United Cement, Lime, and Gypsum Workers International Union.

About 223 employees are involved in both areas.

Mr. Derry said it was believed to be the first strike in the B.C cement industry since its inception in 1912.

The company had offered the workers an increase of 72 cents an hour, or 20 per cent, spread over two years. The union sought a 24-per-cent increase or 87 cents.

In a statement Friday, Bruno Schachel, president of Local 277, at Bamberton, said about 150 workers would go on strike there at 6:30 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Schachel said the union had been negotiating for a new contract for some time prior to the expiry date of the old contract on Oct. 31. A company offer was rejected by the membership before that date.

Members had voted 70 per cent in favor of a strike.

Mr. Schachel said the offer on wages and fringe benefits made by the company was not satisfactory. Clauses for provision regarding working conditions were not resolved, to the point where "our members were not convinced that the company intended to live up to its declared intent."

Union demands besides wages and working conditions also concerned vacations and one additional statutory holiday, he said.

Company Fined $750 In River Debris Case

GOLD RIVER — Tahsis Co. was fined $750 in Gold River Provincial Court Wednesday.

The company pleaded guilty to a charge, brought by the B.C. Wildlife branch, that it caused debris to be placed into the Oktwanch River.

The river is a salmon-feeding stream which flows into Muchalet Lake.

Giving judgment, Judge R. R. Haig-Brown said it would be advisable to keep such areas clean in the future and not wait for the wildlife branch to lay charges.

Drought Fight Begins

Well goes in at Marchmont Road area, North Cowichan, helped by Tom Stallybrass and Knud Anderson, standing, both of Drillwell Enterprise, Cowichan Station. Seventy-foot well is part of plan by municipal officials to avert a water shortage in the district next summer. Municipal engineer John Sansom said earlier this week that B.C. water expert had assured him that it would not be dangerous to use water although Duncan sewage lagoon was 500 to 600 feet away. — (Klaus Muenter)

Service Rates Increase

NANAIMO — Harewood district trustees announced this week that service rates are to increase by 70 cents a month.

Starting in January, garbage rates will go up by 10 cents to $1.25, water rates will increase by 35 cents to $5 and sewer rates will go up by 25 cents to $2.75.

A board statement said: "They reflect a wage increase Jan. 1 to our employees who are under union contract, plus increased charges for garbage dumping by the Nanaimo Disposal Service — operators of the city dump — for water supplied to us by Greater Nanaimo Water District and for sewerage disposal facilities supplied by Greater Nanaimo Sewerage District.

Sewer district charges have not increased. Water rates have increased because charges will be $10,000 higher than in 1969 due to a planned water district expansion.

Summer Subjects

UBC Awards Announced

COURTENAY — The University of B.C. senate has approved the award of academic degrees to 1,047 students, including eight from the Comox Valley.

The degrees were awarded to students who completed requirements over the summer months or at UBC's annual summer session.

Each recipient has the option of receiving the degree now or appearing at UBC's 1970 congregation in the spring for the formal conferring ceremony.

About half the fall graduating class choose the latter, according to UBC's registrar, J. E. A. Parnall.

Courtenay graduating students are: (previous degrees attained shown in brackets), Alexander, John Whiteford, B.Ed (secondary), Hartley Rollins, B.Ed (elementary), Dennis Raymond Crawford, B.Ed (secondary), Dilwyn Leighton, (B.Ed) M.Ed, Donald Barry Lockhood, (B.Com), MBA, Anssi Kalervo Rantamao (B.Sc) M.Sc, Henry Edward Schellinck, (BA, B.Ed) M.Ev, Pamela Kirk, BA.

Canyon Crash Kills Four

LYTTON (CP)—Three Calgary teenagers and one of two Ontario hitchhikers died Thursday in the Fraser Canyon when their car rolled over a 10-foot bank after skidding on ice.

Killed were Erland Danyluk, 18, Kenneth D. Robertson 19, and Catherine Marget Jones, 17.

Names of the hitchhikers were withheld. The survivor was in satisfactory condition Thursday night in hospital here.

The new British Columbia Automobile Insurance Plan

For the first time in Canada, a new concept in compulsory automobile insurance that places the emphasis on people...pays claims quickly, regardless of fault... and provides the highest accident benefits of any Canadian province. Any questions?

Q. When does compulsory insurance become effective?
A. January 1, 1970. It will be illegal to operate a vehicle on any public road in British Columbia on or after that date without compulsory personal liability insurance to a minimum of $50,000, and accident benefits.

Q. What is the penalty if I drive without the insurance?
A. A fine of not less than $250, or imprisonment of not less than three months, or both the fine and imprisonment.

Q. Will existing insurance policies include accident benefits?
A. Yes, all liability policies will automatically be extended to include these benefits effective January 1, 1970, until the policy expires.

Q. If I do not own a car, do I need the insurance?
A. Not if you are personally driving an insured car with the consent of the owner. The owner's policy will cover you.

Q. How will I buy the insurance?
A. Through your insurance company or agent. It is the type of insurance that has changed and not the method of purchase and payment. The Government of British Columbia is not involved in the sale or administration of the insurance plan, only with the conception and enforcement of it.

Q. Can I buy more than $50,000 coverage?
A. You can buy any additional amount through your insurance company or agent.

Q. What are the benefits?
A. By using insurance dollars to compensate people the Plan provides the people of British Columbia with the highest accident benefits of any province in Canada.
- The medical and rehabilitation coverage pays medical, surgical, dental, hospital, professional nursing services over and above those you can recover under hospitalization or medical plans or laws.
- It includes ambulance, some drugs, artificial limbs and training in how to use them, dental work, speech therapy, physio-therapy and an ever-growing number of techniques becoming available to assist in rehabilitation following injury.
- The limit of the amount payable is the limit the policyholder has selected for third party liability, regardless of the number of insured persons.
- The coverage also pays $500 funeral costs.
- Death benefits are based on a capital sum of $5000 and include a number of additional payments depending on the status of the deceased and the number of dependents.
- Both the immediate death benefit and weekly benefit paid in the event of the death of the family provider, increase 20% for each dependent after the first one.

Q. As an example, what are the benefits if the 45-year-old head of a household is killed leaving a dependent widow and two children?
A. The surviving family would receive an immediate cash payment of $5000 (the basic capital sum), plus $2000 (additional capital sum) plus $70 a week for 104 weeks for a grand total of $14,280. If both father and mother are killed leaving two dependent children, the benefits would total $20,860. Your insurance company or agent can explain what the benefits would be in your own particular coverage.

Q. What happens if I am totally disabled?
A. If you are a wage-earner, (male or female), you will receive between $40 and $50 a week for 104 weeks, payable after the first week. At the end of 104 weeks, if it is established that you will remain totally disabled, the weekly benefit will continue until age 65. After age 65 the benefit will be reduced by the amount you receive from the old age pension or Canada Pension Plan.

Q. Is a housewife also covered?
A. There is a special provision for housewives with no gainful employment. They will be paid $50 a week for 26 weeks if unable to perform household duties. This is to help defray the cost of additional help in the home.

Q. What happens if the accident is my fault?
A. All accident benefits will be paid immediately no matter who is to blame. They apply to all occupants of the insured car and to the policyholder, his wife and dependents (if they are living in the same dwelling), and, with minor exceptions, will also apply while riding in other vehicles. They also apply to any pedestrian struck by the insured vehicle and to the policyholder and his family when they themselves are pedestrians.

Q. Who pays for repairs to my car?
A. There is no change from the present. If you have collision coverage, your insurance company will pay for the damage repairs less the deductible as stated in your policy. If another driver is responsible for the damage, a claim can be made against him.

Q. Will I be protected when I travel outside British Columbia?
A. British Columbia residents travelling in other areas of Canada and the United States will have full protection for claims of bodily injury or property damage. Your new policy will also protect you from injury caused by an uninsured motorist.

Q. Are tourists protected?
A. If you collide with a car belonging to a tourist, your new policy will protect the tourist vehicle and its occupants as well as yourself and your own car and occupants.

Q. Can I or my survivors recover more than $50,000 minimum personal liability?
A. If the injured person or surviving family feel they have not been adequately compensated and that the other driver was at fault, they have the right to seek further recovery from the person responsible or from that person's insurance company. It is important to remember that there is no change in the law of negligence as it is applied to bodily injury or property damage.

Q. Will the Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund go out of business?
A. It will continue to protect British Columbians, both drivers and pedestrians, up to $50,000 against hit and run drivers, the drivers of stolen cars, etc.

Q. To sum up, what are the chief advantages of the new insurance plan?
A. 1. To emphasize that the prime purpose of insurance is to take care of people.
2. To ensure that money paid in insurance premiums is available quickly when needed by those who suffer injuries (or survivors in the event of death).
3. To free the insurance industry to settle swiftly the great majority of claims without reference to law or fault, and without interfering with an individual's right to sue.

Your Insurance Company or agent will be in touch with you about your new policy, its provisions and the rates you will be required to pay. If you do not presently have insurance but plan to operate a vehicle in British Columbia you should arrange for this insurance without delay. Remember it is illegal to drive an uninsured motor vehicle. Contact your insurance company for full information.

The plan commences January 1, 1970

Alderman Honored For Housing Work

Fourteen-year veteran of Victoria council—Ald. Lily Wilson—will retire at the end of this year.

In appreciation of Mrs. Wilson's "tenacity" in the struggle for a family court building, the Provincial Court of British Columbia: Family Division Committee for Greater Victoria held a luncheon for her Thursday.

Oak Bay Ald. J. D. Watts presented her with a silver rose bowl enscribed to "Alderman Lily Wilson for dedicated community service."

Mrs. Wilson—the daughter of former Victoria Ald. Margaret Christie, who served 10 years on city council—was instrumental in the construction of the family court building; she has pushed for grants for handicapped children, and has also been a champion of adequate housing for Victoria's aged.

She is tied with two former aldermen for length of tenure on council. Geoffrey Edgelow, defeated at the polls in 1967, and Edward Williams, who retired from council in 1949, were the only other aldermen to serve 14 years.

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF OAK BAY
SEALED TENDERS will be received by the Corporation of the District of Oak Bay up until 12:00 NOON, Monday, January 12, 1970, at which time they will be opened in public at the Municipal Hall, for the supply of the following:
Two only variable speed centrifugal sewage pumps with a design capacity of 450 g.p.m. at 40 feet total dynamic head, complete with automatic control system and related equipment.
Copies of the specifications may be obtained from the Engineering Department. The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.
G. O. WHITE, P.Eng.,
Municipal Engineer and Planner.

Centre's Fate in Jeopardy

Low Tender for Pool Well Above Estimate

By PAT MURPHY

Lowest of five bids received Thursday for the new Central Park aquatic complex was $163,700 higher than the basic cost estimate prepared by Victoria.

The low bid submitted by Burns and Dutton Construction Ltd., was $1,454,600. The city's estimate was $1,290,900.

However, the low bid of $1,454,600 was for basic building costs only.

To be added to that was another $189,200 which included the cost of the three domes which are part of the building's roof, site development, street lighting, art work, furnishings, permits, landscaping, lockers and pool equipment.

The basic low tender figure plus the additional cost would bring the total cost to the city up to $1,643,800.

Overall construction estimate made by the city was $1,460,100.

No one at City Hall denied Thursday at the conclusion of the council meeting, that the fate of the aquatic centre was in jeopardy, however negotiations started with representatives of the low-bidding contractor.

Ald. Percy Frampton, council's swimming pool committee chairman said that it might be possible to alter specifications of the centre in such a way that the low bid could be cut by $163,700 to bring it in line with the city's basic estimate.

Whether this could be done without reducing the quality of materials which went into the building was another question.

One city hall observer said: "It's a lot of money to cut out of a building."

Other bidders were, Bird Construction Ltd., $1,485,000; Farmer Construction Ltd., $1,559,000; H. E. Fowler & Sons Ltd., $1,462,253; G. H. Wheaton Ltd., $1,521,685.

The tenders were referred to the city's recreation committee but not, as is usual, "with power to act."

An amendment was introduced by Ald. Clyde Savage which requires the committee to make a recommendation to city council. It will be council, rather than the committee, which will make the final decision.

The city has about $1,548,630 in the kitty for the new aquatic complex made up of $1,468,630 of T. S. McPherson estate money and $80,000 from the land sale fund.

★ ★ ★

First reading was given a bylaw Thursday to allocate the $80,000. This was before the contractors' tenders were opened.

Meanwhile, the city is facing a possible injunction against the use of the McPherson money in defraying the cost of the pool.

A B.C. Supreme Court writ was served on the city Wednesday on behalf of W. A. Scott, a candidate for Victoria mayor at the recent municipal elections.

The writ of summons was applied for an injunction on the grounds that the use of McPherson money is contrary to the terms of the bequest of the Victoria businessman who left the city $2,700,000 following his death in 1962.

★ ★ ★

It maintains that an aquatic complex would violate the intent of the bequest and would not be a building which would be of the "widest benefit to the metropolitan area" as contemplated by the McPherson will.

Although a hearing on a permanent injunction against the city would probably not be held until spring the plaintiff (Mr. Scott) has the right to file a detailed statement of his claim within eight days and apply for an interim injunction which, if granted, would halt construction until a hearing was held on the permanent injunction.

However, in such a case, the city would have the right to file a defence.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman from the office of Patrick J. Sinnott, who is acting for Mr. Scott in the case, said Thursday that there had been no new developments and no action had been taken toward the seeking of an interim injunction.

When the matter came up Thursday at city council City Manager Dennis Young said that the writ in no way constrained the city from acting on the tenders which, at that time, had not been opened.

It was merely notice of intention to apply for an injunction to prevent the city from using McPherson money and did not prevent the city from entering into a contract.

'Hospitals Could Learn from Schools'

Temporary Space For Patients?

Hospital planners could learn a lesson from school planners and build temporary space to meet emergencies, Oak Bay MLA Scott Wallace said Thursday night.

"Waiting lists are getting longer and longer," he said, "yet no one has even dared to suggest that these (acute care) beds will be ready in less than five years."

Dr. Wallace had just completed a tour of three schools in the Greater Victoria area as part of a Greater Victoria Teachers' Association campaign to "try to break down communication barriers" between government members and schools.

Association president Bill Broadly said neither Victoria MLA (Waldo Skillings and William Chant) had accepted the invitation.

Dr. Wallace said that "both facilities and the staffs are of a high order" in the three schools — Fairburn elementary, Willows elementary and Oak Bay junior high school — even though some of the quarters are a little "cramped."

He said the temporary classrooms at Fairburn made him think "could we not consider the same type of temporary facility for patients on waiting lists, or when they are half way through illness, or on the mend?"

"I see no reason why there should not be some immediate action taken to provide facilities of a less than permanent nature, in the same way schools have managed to fill the gap with intermediate facilities."

The present problem in acute-care bed shortage should receive the same sort of "crisis solution," Dr. Wallace said. Not all acute-care patient beds need the full service that costs $45 a day, he said, and these beds should not cost the full amount to build.

It seems, he said, that children in Greater Victoria are receiving a "damn good education," and that applies to the four Wallace children-enrolled in public schools. The quality of facilities "far excells what I was educated in."

Company Fined

NANAIMO — Jack Harris Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Ltd. was fined $50 in Nanaimo provincial court Friday for contravening the Lord's Day Act by allowing employees to conduct business on a Sunday.

RCMP Corporal Ed Malanowski told the court he visited the car lot Sept. 28, a Sunday. He signed forms dated Sept. 27 and a cheque was submitted Sept. 29.

Defence counsel George Henderson said no actual sale was made Sept. 28 as a company officer did not ratify it on the date. Company president Jack Harris said he would appeal the conviction.

Driver Charged

CROFTON — Kenneth MacLean, 30, of Duncan, was charged with driving without due care and attention by Chemainus RCMP after the Arrow Bulk Carriers chip truck he was driving Wednesday morning overturned at the junction of Westholme Road and Crofton Road.

Mt. Douglas Drops Opener

VANCOUVER — Vancouver College Irish defeated Mt. Douglas Rams, 70-53, Friday in the opening game of the four-team, high school boys' basketball tournament at Burnaby Central High School.

Nick Gallagher led the winners with 21 points and Jim MacKay was the Rams' top scorer with 19. Jim Hunter added 15 to the Mt. Douglas total.

Mt. Douglas meets the loser of a Burnaby Central—North Burnaby game in the consolation final tonight.

Giants Busy With Two Trades

(SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— San Francisco Giants unloaded two veteran pitchers and a utility outfielder in two trades Friday.

The Giants sent Bob Bolin to Seattle Pilots and got outfielders Steve Whitaker and Dick Simpson in return. Then they traded Ray Sadecki and outfielder Dave Marshall to New York Mets for two other utility players, infielder Bob Heise and outfielder Jim Gosger.

Footballers Get Awards

Six members of the K.C.'s, Vancouver Island bantam football champions this year, received special awards at the annual Knights of Columbus football banquet Friday in Columbus Hall, 734 Fort.

The six are Sean Flynn, beat all-around player; Lawrie Garrett, most valuable; Mike Shannon, leading offence player; Mike Baier, leading defence player; Doug Shea, most improved, and Jim McCreesh, sportsmanship.

Six City Scientists Ruled 'Surplus'

By DIANE JANOWSKI

The federal government wrote an obituary Friday on more than 68 years of service when it told six research scientists at the Forest Research Laboratory here their services now were considered "surplus."

"I would have been retiring a year from today," said 64-year old Vernon Phelps, a research director who has been with the department of fisheries and forestry since 1936.

"Now, not only am I going to have a pension that's 21 per cent smaller than I'd been counting on, but I'll have almost a year's less wages."

Dr. Joe Baker lost his right eye, most of the sight in his left and most of the hearing in his left ear when an experiment at the lab blew up two years ago and the emergency shower that might have saved his left eye didn't work. He thought then things were as bad as they could ever be.

"This is as bad as the people who fought in the war and got all broken up and then came home and everyone told them they didn't want anything to do with them," he said.

Dr. G. P. Thomas, director of the B.C. Forestry Region, said he sympathized with those who had been declared "surplus," but stressed they had not actually been laid off yet.

"Their names will now be put on a public service list and and if any vacancies occur in the next two months for which they are qualified, they'll have first chance at them," he said. "If they haven't been placed at the end of that time, they'll be given 30 day's notice."

Dr. Thomas admitted there were few opportunities for forestry professionals, especially at this time of year, but still noted that "an awful lot can happen in 90 days."

Knowing that his name will be kept on a list that might find him another position isn't cheering Joe Baker very much, but it means even less to Dr. Phelps.

Forest Lab Largest In Canada

A national revamping of the Canadian Forestry Service will turn the Forest Research Laboratory on West Burnside Road into the largest in Canada within three months, it was announced Friday.

"The Victoria laboratory has been allocated the largest manpower in Canada," said Dr. G. P. Thomas, director of the British Columbia region of the Canadian Forestry Service.

"If you add the staff from the forest products research lab in Vancouver to the Victoria manpower, it means that 20 per cent of the total in federal forestry will be in B.C. now."

OF TOTAL

Eleven professionals and 11 non-professionals currently employed in other Canadian forestry regions will be moved to the Burnside lab, beginning early next month when the first scientist arrives here.

"Some will, of course, be coming from the Winnipeg lab whose staff is being cut to six," Dr. Thomas said, "but the rest will be coming from elsewhere in the country.

"Quite a few of these are very well-qualified, productive, young scientists, among the best in the country, and they'll just be transferring their energies to British Columbia."

NEW WING

A new wing on the existing main building which was to have been built in the 1970-71 fiscal year but was postponed indefinitely when a federal curb on capital expenses was announced in September, will still not go ahead, but Dr. Thomas said he felt the present facilities would be adequate for now.

"We'll be bulging at the seams, but we can make immediate arrangements to accommodate everyone," he said. "We'll have to make more provision for expansion, maybe

Big Tanker Torn Open By Blast

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The 207,000-ton Dutch Shell super-tanker Marpessa was torn by an explosion and swept by fire Friday in the Atlantic on her maiden voyage.

Capt. E. J. Stapper ordered his crew to abandon ship shortly after the decks were torn open by the explosion as the Marpessa sailed about 170 miles northwest of Dakar, Senegal.

TWO MISSING

The captain and six officers stayed aboard but two Chinese officers were missing, messages reaching here said.

Those who abandoned ship were taken aboard the 42,082-ton British Shell tanker Serenia and the tug Alcyon.

A spokesman said the tanker later signalled that the fire had died down, but the deck was split in several places.

The Marpessa, one of the latest additions to the Shell Oil fleet, was sailing in ballast from Rotterdam to the Persian Gulf. She was built in Japan only three months ago and had a crew of 42.

Five Children Die in Blaze

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Five children, four of them from the same family, died in a fire which swept a third floor tenement in the city's Fairmount section.

Air Controllers Seek A Mandate to Strike

High-Flying Snooper Nets Two

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Two men were arrested after a truck firm operator spotted a strange car on one of his work sites from the air.

Peter Heppner of Chilliwack, checking work sites, turned his plane around, landed at Chilliwack airport, drove to the police station, then accompanied a policeman to the scene.

Benjamin James, 38, of Chilliwack, and his brother Richard, 24, Friday pleaded guilty in Provincial Court to theft.

OTTAWA (CP) — The national council of the 1,000-member Canadian Air Traffic Control Association has unanimously rejected a conciliation board report and is seeking a strike mandate from the membership.

William Hill, association first vice-president, announced the decision in an interview Friday.

"The board's recommendations have been unanimously rejected by the national council and we are now going to the membership requesting a strike mandate."

NOON MONDAY

Details of the board report will not be made public until noon Monday. However, it is known there were about 50 outstanding items left with the board.

Hill referred to "eight or 10 gut issues" separating union and government treasury board negotiators. The strike recommendation means union officials feel the issues were not resolved by the conciliation report.

Hill said that, despite the council bid for strike authorization, the membership could choose to accept the board report.

The 11 national councillors would be spreading out across Canada almost at once to call meetings of the association's 22 branches, he said.

The board report, other items on which tentative agreement had been reached and the council recommendation would be presented to the membership. Votes would then be taken.

Hill estimated results would be returned here by late Monday or Tuesday at the latest.

STILL POSSIBLE

Should the membership reject the report and grant strike authority, national officers would be under no obligation to call a strike. However, they would be in a legal position to do so as of next Friday afternoon, Dec. 19.

There remains a possibility that the disputants or Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board which oversees federal-employee bargaining, might seek post-conciliation mediation.

Spokesmen for the treasury board and transport department declined to comment on either the conciliation report or the association's rejection of it. Both said the noon Monday embargo had been accepted by government negotiators and comment might infringe this.

PRIVACY INVADED —COURT

By NANCY BROWN

Possession of a private investigators' licence does not make the invasion of a person's property lawful, nor does it make invasion of a person's privacy justifiable, according to a precedent-setting judgment handed down Friday in B.C. Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice P. D. Seaton awarded $1,000 damages to school custodian John George Davis, 1138 Oxford, who had filed suit under the new provincial Privacy Act against John M. McArthur of Can-Am Investigations, a private detective agency at 483 Burnside.

It was the first action taken under the act.

DIVORCE EVIDENCE

Mr. McArthur had been hired by Mrs. Davis to investigate the conduct of her husband in the hope of obtaining divorce evidence.

The case was heard Nov. 20 in Victoria and judgment was reserved at that time.

Defence counsel Edmund Jorre de St. Jorre said Friday an appeal is being considered.

PRIVACY ACT

The Privacy Act was introduced into the B.C. Legislature in January, 1968, by former attorney-general Robert Bonner who at that time said the act represented a first in Canada, and perhaps a first in the Western world. The act was passed later in the session.

Mr. Justice Seaton dismissed a claim by J. S. deVilliers, counsel for Mr. Davis, that a "bumber beeper" attached to the car Davis was driving constituted eavesdropping.

BY PERSON

"If the device transmitted or recorded voices so that they could have been heard by the person alleged to be invading privacy, I have no doubt that would come within the term 'eavesdropping.'

"This device merely identified the location of the car, and I

Hijackers Killed By Guards

ATHENS (Reuters) — Airline security guards early today shot and killed two young men who tried to hijack an Ethiopian Boeing 707 jetliner while it was flying to Addis Ababa from Madrid.

A Greek police spokesman in Athens said the two were a 19-year-old student from Yemen and a 24-year-old businessman from Senegal. He did not name them.

First reports said the men were slain before entering the cockpit after they said they wanted the pilot to take them to Aden.

BODIES ABOARD

When the plane landed at Athens Airport, the remaining 15 passengers were taken to a hotel. Besides the passengers, there were three security men and seven crew aboard the Boeing.

The bodies of the two hijackers were still aboard the aircraft.

"The airline refuses permission to the police to take the bodies," the police spokesmn said.

It was believed to be the first time hijackers had been killed while attempting to seize an airliner in mid-flight.

HEARD TWO SHOTS

The pilot of the plane said he heard two pistol shots and was told by a stewardess that two men had attempted to hijack the plane but the security guards aboard had killed them.

Airline officials told police they wanted to continue the flight to Addis Ababa with the bodies on the grounds that Greek authorities have no jurisdiction in the case.

KILLED ON SPOT

He said the plane's security men saw the two would-be hijackers standing up and trying to make their way to the cockpit.

"They attacked them and killed them on the spot," he added.

Only the Angels Know If Santa Will Pay Visit

SCENE: A shabby midtown flat; a tiny boy in patched coveralls plays with a broken top as his mother leafs through some unpaid bills.

Boy: "Mama . . . how come the angels do that?"

Mother: "Do what, dear?"

Boy: "Take my daddy away like that."

* * *

Mother (trying to hide her feelings): "I don't know, dear. It is something only the angels can answer. There is supposed to be an answer for everything."

Boy: "The angels won't take Santa Claus away, will they?"

(The mother remains silent. This might be the time to say maybe the angels would do that. It would be a way of explaining things if Santa didn't show up. Trying to provide for herself and her son since the death of her husband had proved difficult. But she knew her son would see the Christmas presents of other children.)

● Today's donations are listed on Page 3

The "500" Fund

Mother: "I think Santa will come, all right. But don't expect him to bring too much. There isn't so much to go around to all the little children this year."

At this time of year Santa gets a little help for cases like this from the Colonist 500 Fund. This is the 13th year Colonist readers have contributed through the fund to brighten the Christmas of 500 Greater Victoria families selected by the Christmas Bureau, a Community Chest agency.

Four Bombs Explode in Milan, Rome

By CHARLES W. BELL

ROME (UPI) — Four bombs exploded in central areas of Milan and Rome at the height of the evening rush hour Friday, killing 13 persons and injuring 108 others in Italy's worst terrorist attack since the Second World War.

The most devastating blast occurred in a crowded, third-floor waiting room of Milan's national bank of agriculture, where the 13 were killed and 90 others injured. A bomb in a bank in Rome injured 14 persons, and two bombs that exploded almost simultaneously at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Rome injured four persons.

Police said another bomb was discovered before it exploded in a second bank in Milan. It was in a handbag left near an elevator.

There was no indication of the motive for the bombings or of the persons or groups responsible, but Italy has been shaken for months by labor strikes and violence. Police in Milan reported rounding up 150 persons for questioning. A police spokesman said they were extremists "of all ideologies."

Shortly after the series of blasts, which were almost simultaneous, Premier Mariano Rumor appeared on television to appeal for calm and order. Pope Paul issued a statement describing the explosion in Milan as a "horrendous massacre."

Police said the Milan explosion was caused by a bomb of approximately 13 pounds of explosives that had been placed under a table in a waiting room of the bank.

In Milan, people thought the
